La Salle College's All American candidate Hubie Marshall (22) scores field goal during Explorers' 94-72 triumph over Iona College, at the Palestra. Marshall, who set numerous scoring marks for the Explorers last year, was named to numerous All Star teams including ECAC All East, All Middle Atlantic Conference and All Philadelphia Big Five. He finished 13th in the nation in scoring (26.9 ppg.) and 17th in free throw percentage during the 1965-66 season.

NATION'S TOP 500 HIGH SCHOOL STARS

Here are the schoolboys throughout the nation who will bear watching this season.

By Bill Buchalter

Complete Sports' 1966-67 high school basketball squad is indeed All-American.

A cross-section of the 50 states plus the District of Columbia is included in a tall and talented unit representing five diverse areas of America.

The basketball-conscious Midwest points to 6-1 Greg Starreck from Marion, Ill.

The East looks with pride on 6-6 Ken Durrett from Schenley High School in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The South has a sleeping giant in 6-8 Howard Porter from Booker High School in Sarasota, Fla.

The Mid-Atlantic unleashes "Big Sid" Catlett, the 6-10 backboard power of DeMatha Catholic High of Hyattsville, Md., for the third straight year.

And the Far West features tiny Telvis Jones, a 5-10 scoring star from Lincoln High School in San Francisco, Calif.

Starreck, the son of former basketball coach, Wendell Starreck, is a brilliant all-round player who broke the Big 7 South scoring record and was named to the Illinois All-State team as a junior.

The "Marion Marvel" averaged 30 points per game and became the first player in the 27-year history of his league to score more than 400 points in a single season.

Durrett is one of the few juniors to make Associated Press All-State team in Pennsylvania. This lanky athlete carried a Pittsburgh team to the state finals (Class A) for the first time in 29 years. Durrett's 28 points (near his average) won the rugged Western Regional for Schenley over always powerful Uniontown.

Porter is compared favorably to Kansas' All-America Walt Wesley, also a Florida prep product. Norman Jackson, former assistant coach at St. Petersburg Junior College and the man who first discovered Wesley, said Porter is far more advanced in basic skills at this stage of development.

The shy giant averaged 28 points per game and 20 rebounds despite missing much of the early portion of the season with an infection that hospitalized him. He still managed to lead his team to the finals of the Class-A state championships.

Two years ago, when DeMatha upset Power Memorial of New York City and Lew Alcindor, the prep basketball world quickly picked up the bandwagon pace for Catlett. Now a senior, he hasn't let them down with savage backboard and defensive play. He still managed to score double figures for a team in which all starters are stars in their own right.

But it was his domination of the boards (20 per game in a tough league) that enabled DeMatha to become the No. 1 prep power in the Washington D.C. area and earned him a position on the Washington Post All-Area team.

The smallest man on the squad may be the mightiest. Tiny Telvis led Lincoln High to the San Francisco league championship, was the AAA single-game scoring record holder (45), was second in AAA season scoring and was named to both the San Francisco Chronicle and San Francisco Herald-Examiner All-City squads.

His fiery play helped Lincoln to third place in the rough Tournament of Champions, a 26-3 seasonal record and sixth-place ranking in the state prep basketball poll.

The East dominates the second team with Vinnie Costello of Boston Latin, Dean Memminger of New York City Rice and big Dana Lewis of Newark, (N.J.) Weequahic among the five. High-scoring Chuck McKenzie of Claypool, Ind., and heralded Lanny Taylor of Anderson, S.C., round out the team.

Costello, a 6-5 leaper, is considered New England's top prospect. Memminger was the 6-0 backcourt phenom for Rice who averaged around 20 points per game for New York's top prep team. The 6-1 Taylor was selected South Carolina's No. 1 prep player as a junior and sported a 28.0 per game average.

McKenzie is a 6-7 pivot man who scores points like a machine as his 35 points per game average testifies. Lewis is the giant of the team at 6-10 and is called a prime college prospect, particularly with his backboard work.

Tree-topper of the third unit is Randy Denton, a 6-9 product of Enloe High School in Raleigh, N.C., and a top choice of North Carolina State's fiery young coach Norman Sloan. Denton is joined by Plains-staters Ray Russell of Oklahoma City, Northeast and Eric Bundgaard of Northfield, Minn., plus Willie Allen of Richard Montgomery in Rockville, Md., and Paul Scheidegger of Live Oak High in San Jose, Calif.

Russell, still growing, is expected to be 6-4 and jumps like a 6-8 performer. He averaged over 20 points per game and was considered the top junior in the Oklahoma. Bundgaard is the son of Axel Bundgaard, athletic director at St. Olaf College, and has consistently broken scoring records in South Dakota and Minnesota the past two years. Allen, 6-6, guided Richard Montgomery to the Maryland state championship and was named to the Washington Post All-Area team for the second straight year.

Scheidegger was averaging 28 points per game, utilizing a long-range shot despite his 6-6 frame. He was one of California's top prep scorers.

LEW ALCINDOR: HE CASTS A GIANT SHADOW

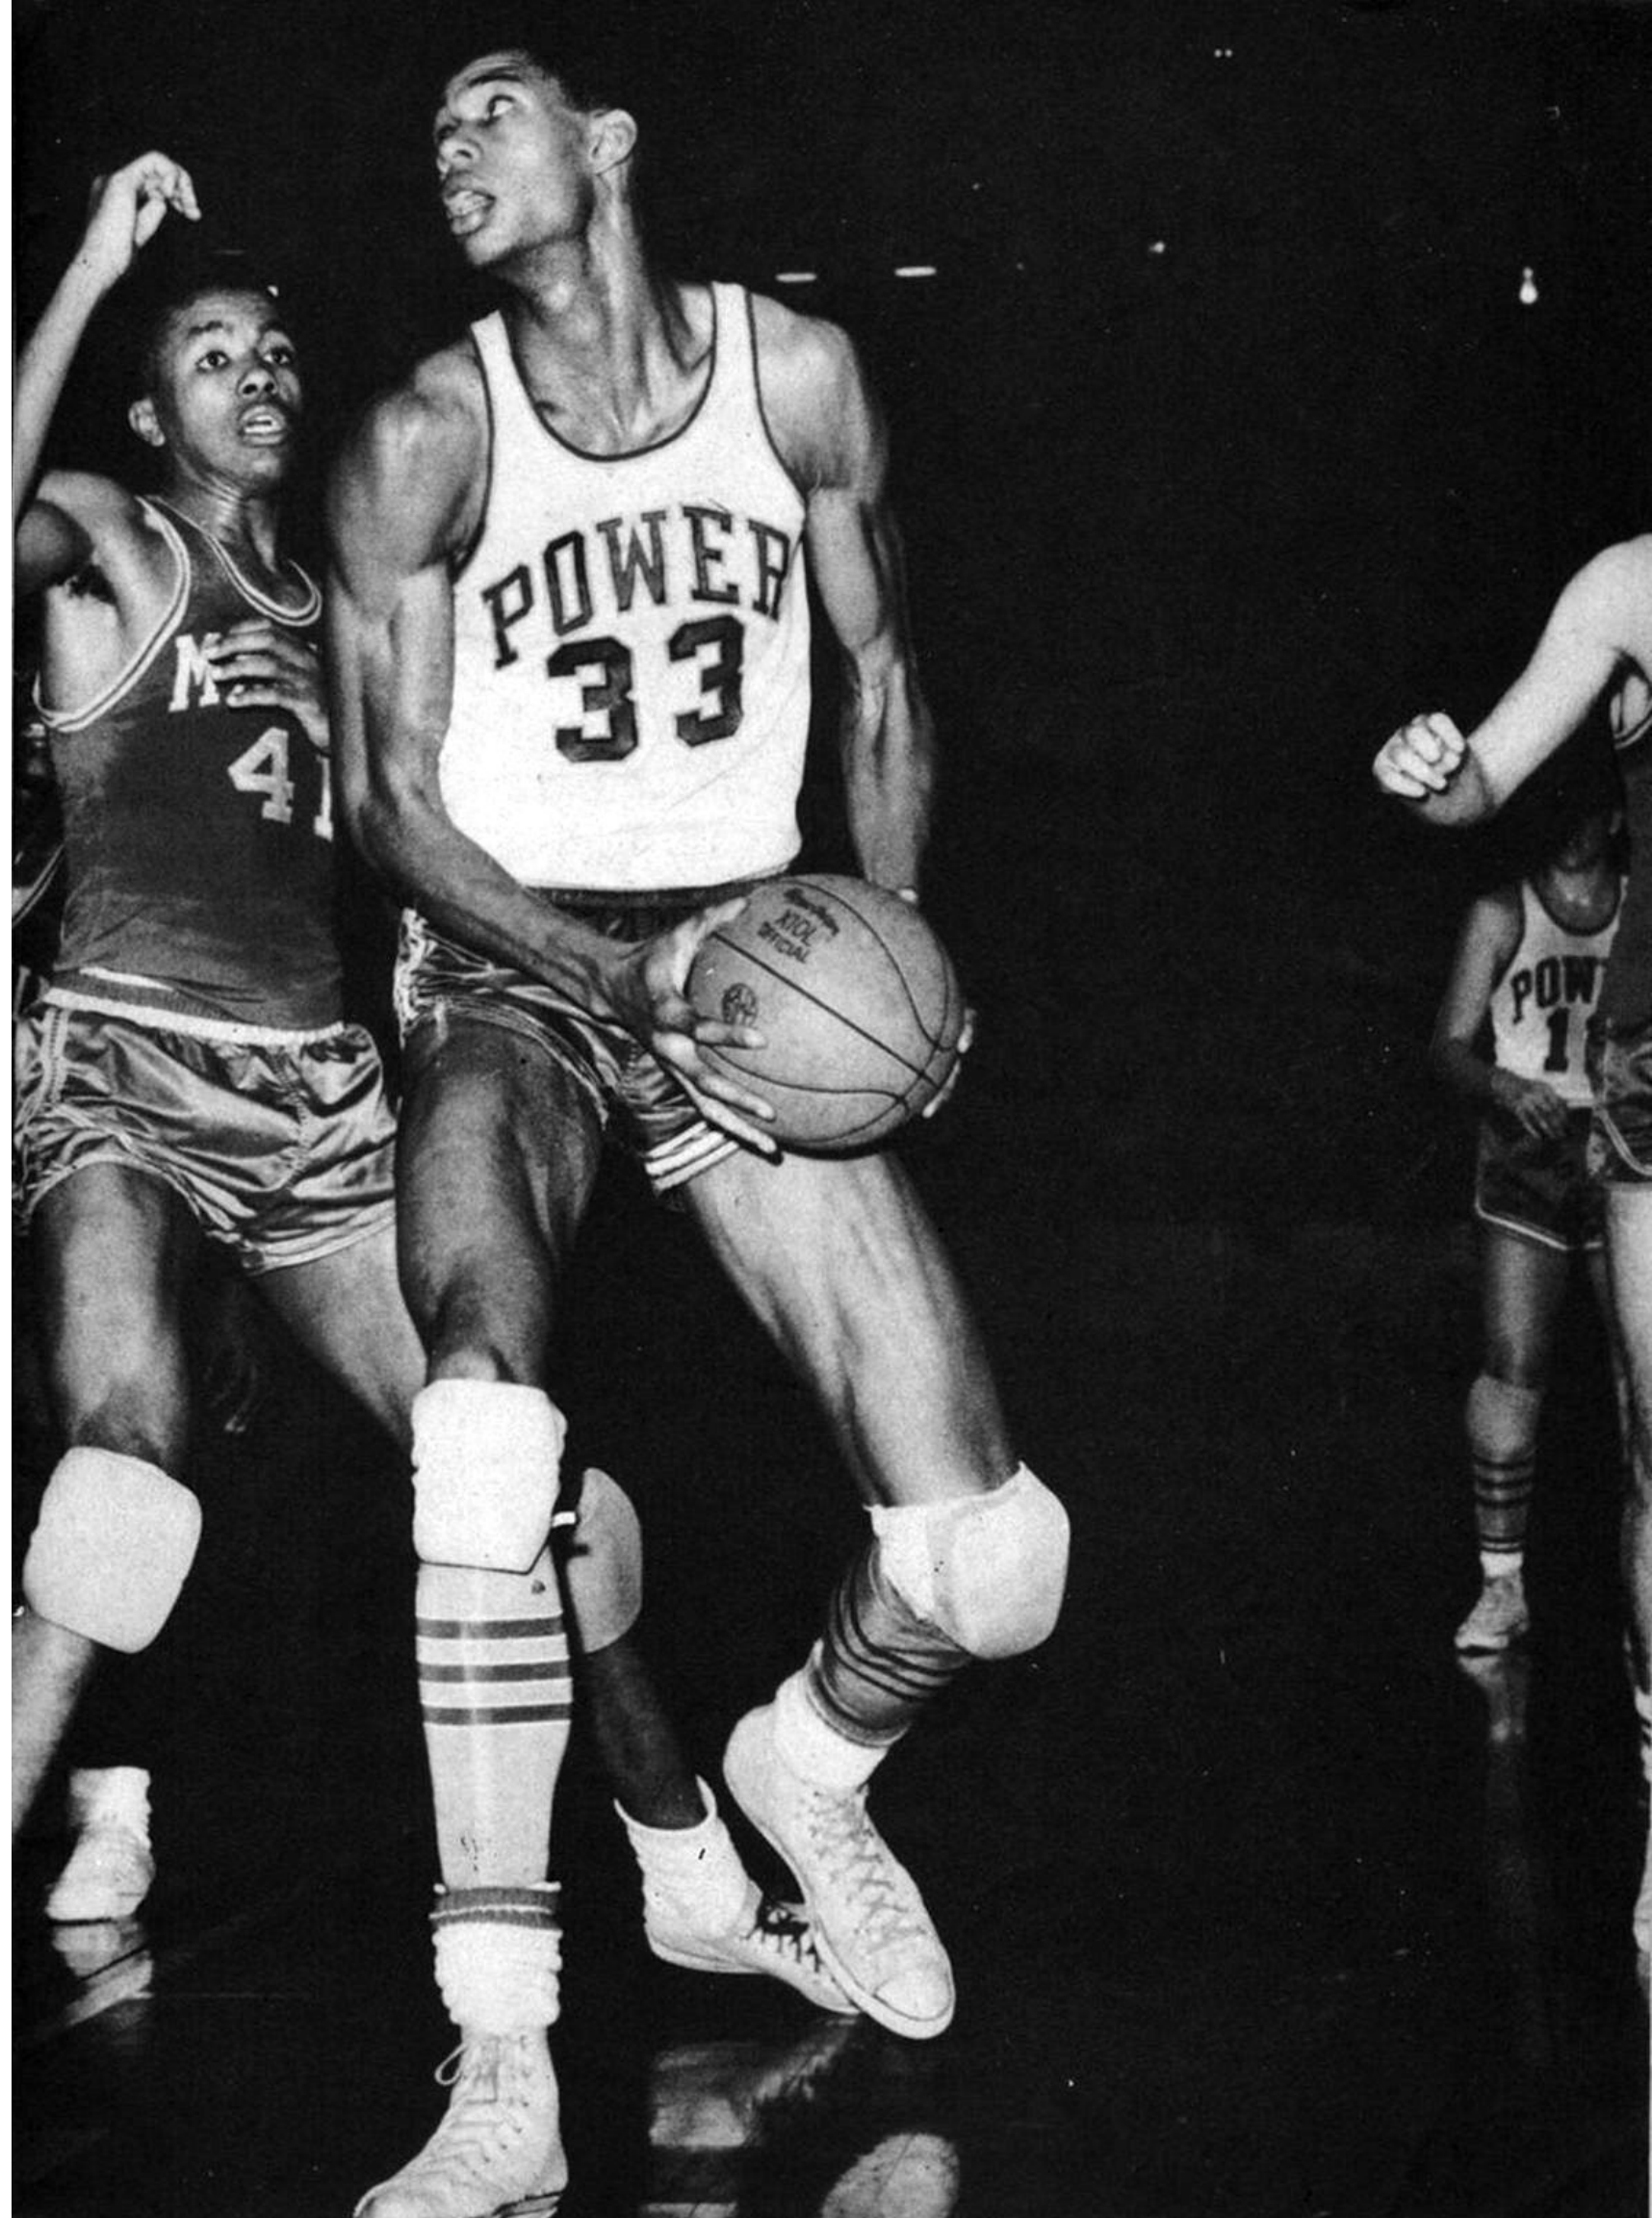

He's yet to play a minute of varsity ball, but he's the reason many experts have conceded UCLA the national title for the next three years. The 7-1½ soph is that good—and he's still improving.

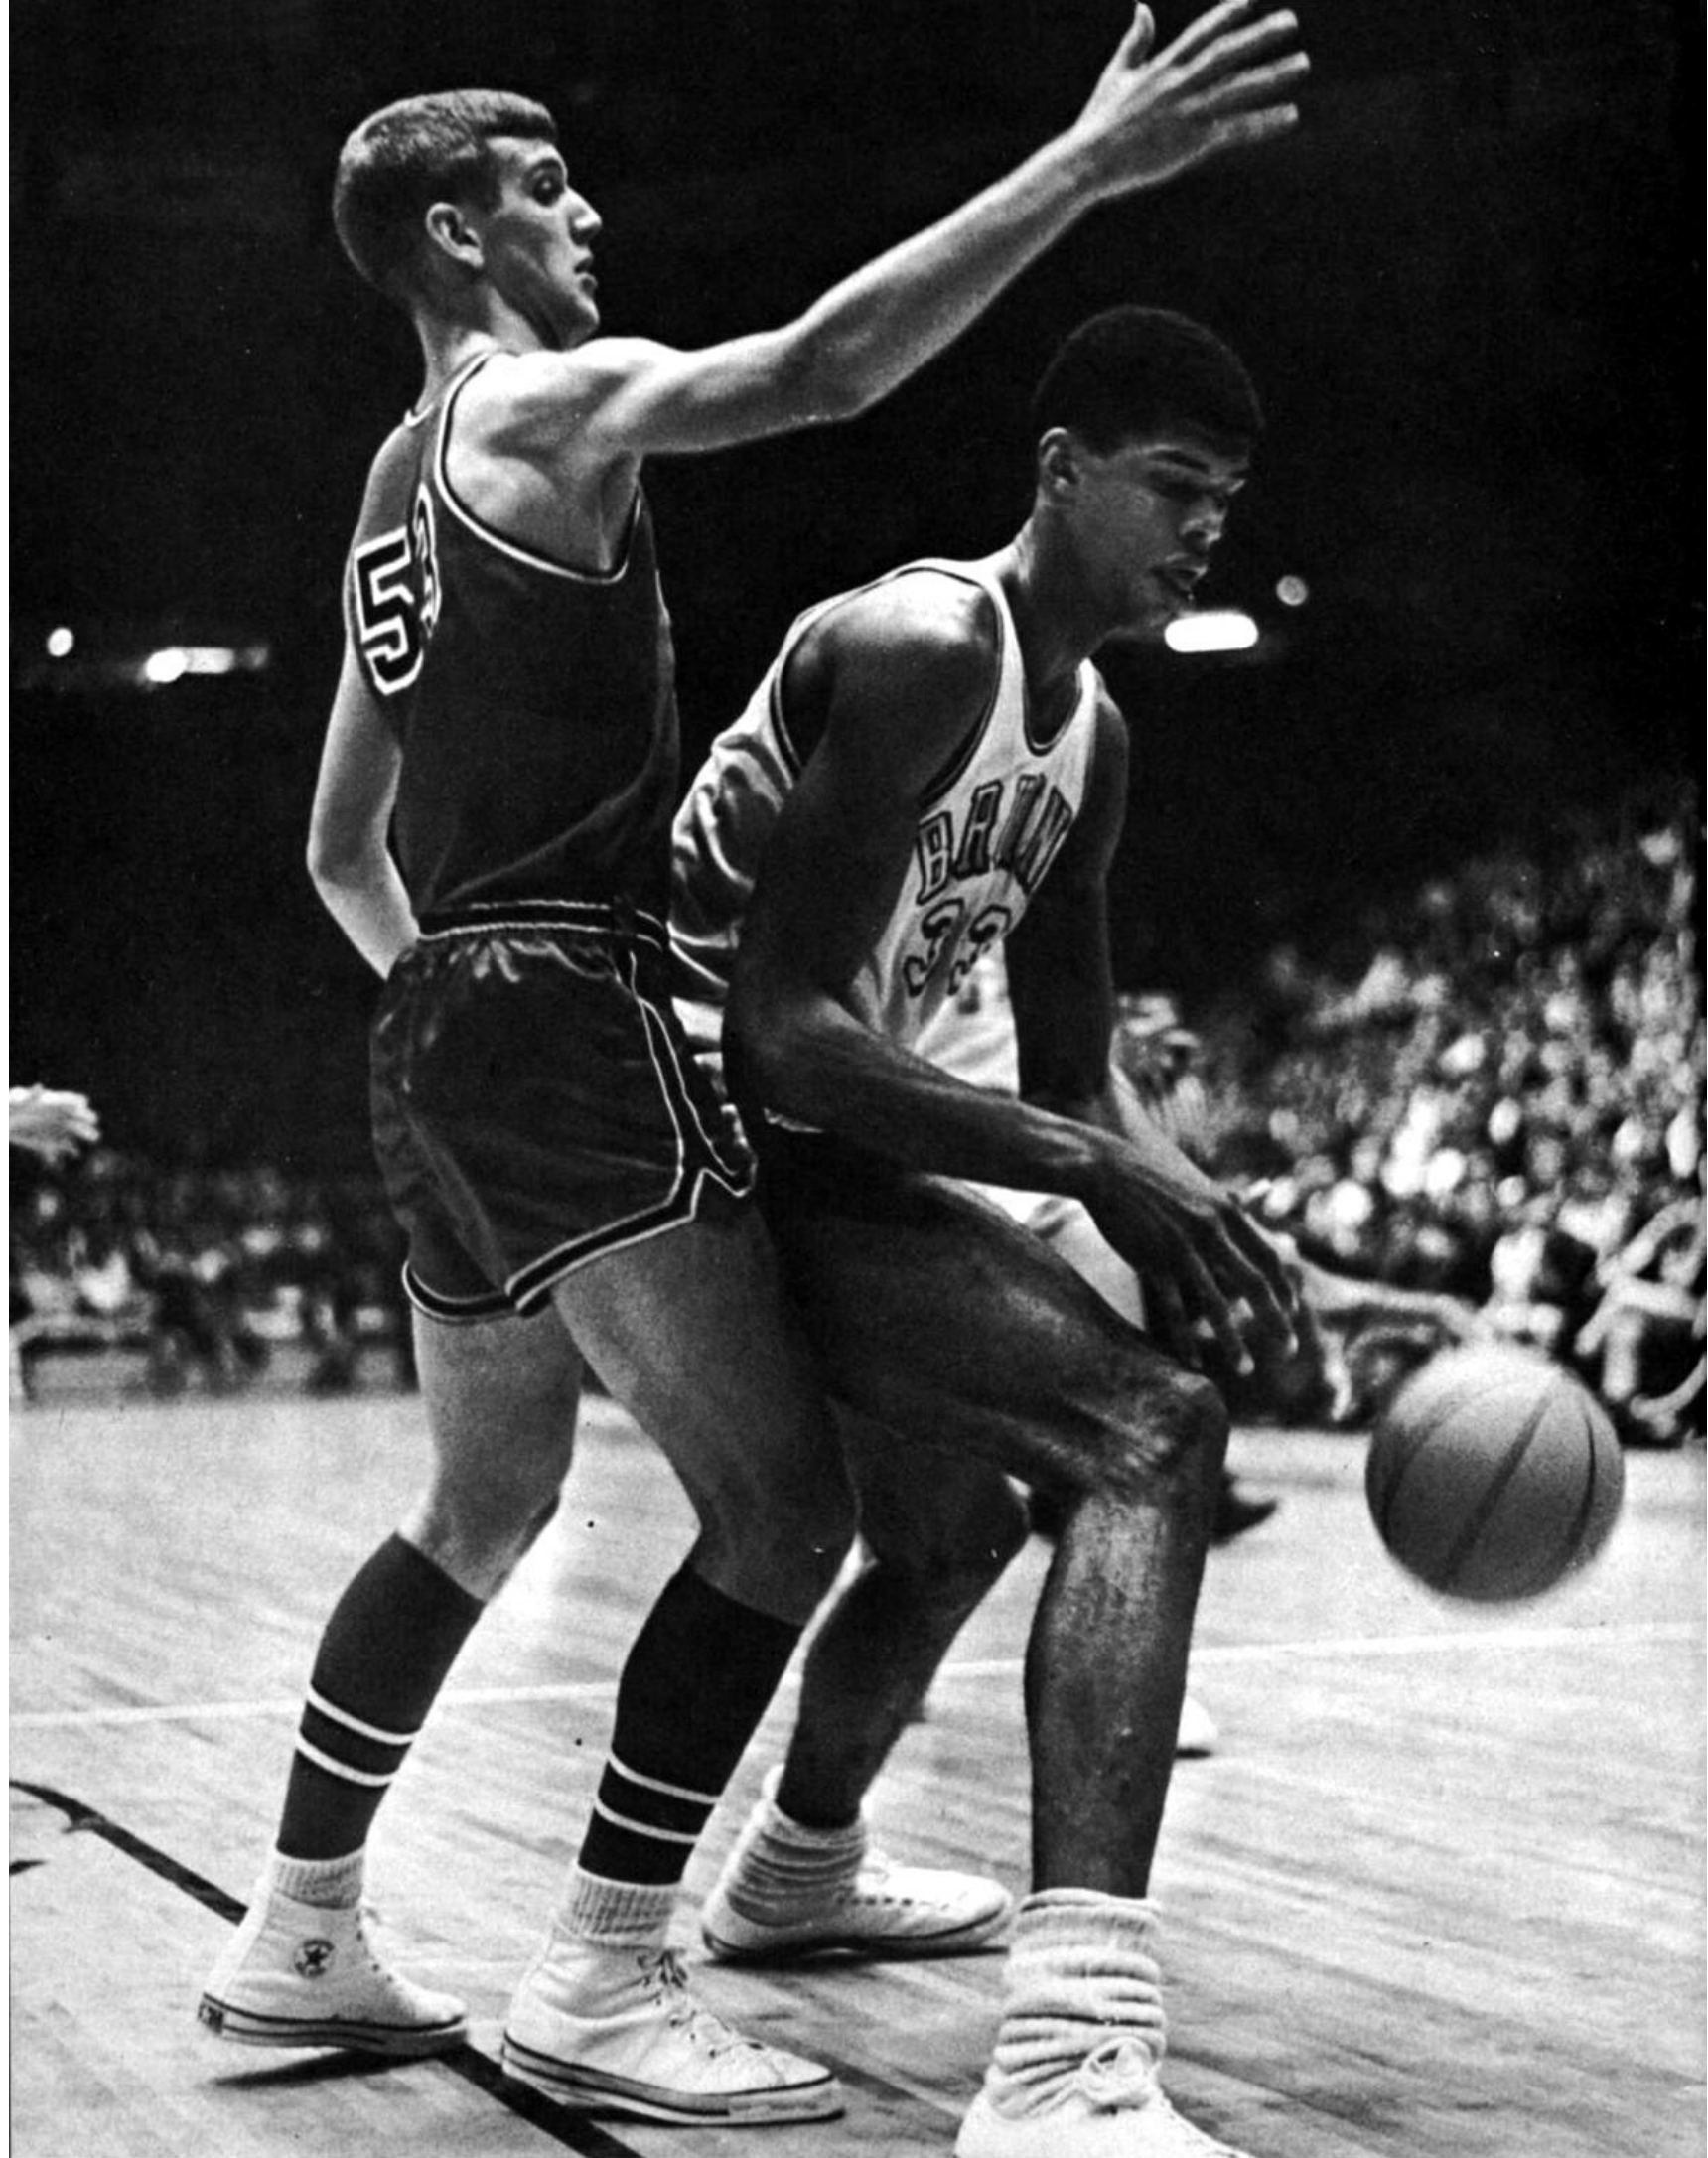

By Sam Goldaper

College Basketball is bubbling with excitement. This is the season Lew Alcindor, 7 feet 1½ inches of basketball skill and talent, starts varsity play at the University of California in Los Angeles (UCLA).

Needless to say, Alcindor, as he sprouted from a 6-9 high school freshman, is the most talked-about basketball player since Dr. James Naismith devised the game of round ball in 1891.

When Lew Alcindor was still a sophomore at New York City's Power Memorial Academy, his talents were good enough to take over the entire luncheon discussion of the Chicago Basketball Writers Association. The next year, Eddie Donovan, the Knick general manager said, "I'd take Lew Alcindor right now." (Continued on page 13)

Alcindor got plenty of help at UCLA in polishing his basketball skills. Here he shows his maneuverability in drive for basket.

Comparable excitement hadn't been generated since basketball giant, Wilt Chamberlain, prepared to graduate from Overbrook High School in Philadelphia, 11 years ago.

However, it was a different kind of excitement. Wilt Chamberlain was real, somebody who newspapermen, collegiate coaches and scouts could write about and talk to.

Not so for Lew Alcindor. Many had seen him dunk points through the hoop, block shots and overpower all the opposition. But Lew, who went on to become the greatest scorer in New York City school basketball history, was a mystery in all other respects.

"Looie" was kept behind a sound barrier by his coach and advisor, Jack Donohue. Donohue screened all Lew's mail, acted as intermediary on college offers and handled his public relations. The Alcindor phone had an unlisted number and his Bronx address was only known to a few.

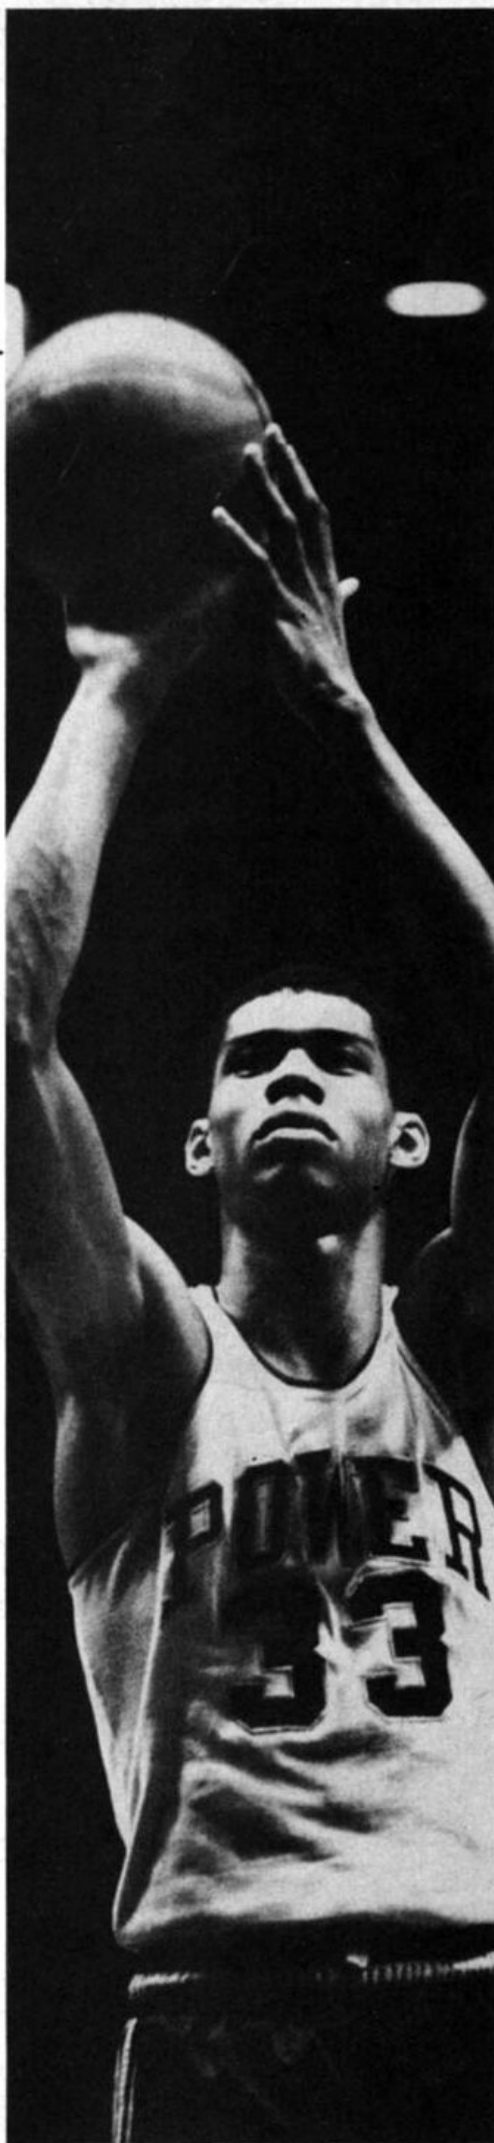

"A boy Looie's age should not be subjected to the high pressures of recruiting and the distractions from studies that result," Donohue kept repeating. It irritated some and led others to sing the praise over Jack's tactics.

Lew obeyed to the letter of the law. He spoke to no one. Even to a simple hello by a newspaperman, Lew would reply, "I'm sorry, I'm not permitted to talk to you."

The same policy was carried over during Alcindor's freshman year at UCLA. On April 24, a few days before Alcindor announced he had chosen UCLA, Milton Richman of the United Press, wrote for national consumption, "The entire world may pause for a moment of respectful silence when a 17-year-old high school boy, who's a little tall for his age, finally breaks the sound barrier and actually talks to other human beings."

Wilt created a similar stir when he shopped around for the college of his choice. Chamberlain probably received more scholarship offers than did Alcindor before he settled for Kansas. The reason was that Wilt was available to be wined, dined and spoken to. Alcindor was not. Only the nation's top-ranked colleges dared make bids to Lew. He didn't need basketball as a means of admission to some of the finest colleges. His school grades and College Boards would have opened many of the doors.

Similar heights, abilities at comparable stages of life and other factors have thrown Wilt and Lew together. At times, it appears that Wilt was starting all over again but in a different form—in the form of a quieter, more intelligent Lew Alcindor.

Lew's often compared to W. Chamberlain.

After basketball's latest Mt. Everest chose UCLA, Wilt looked back at his days of decision in choosing a college. Wilt aptly remarked, "It's like comparing the peaceful country life with life in the cold-hearted city. Lew chose the peaceful way," added Wilt. "He was sheltered, the pressures were kept away. I went more for the hard knocks. I got around more, did more and saw more of life. No one shielded me.

"It's impossible to say which is better. What works for one won't necessarily work for another. End results count. If Lew is a success, and I'm sure he will be, his way obviously was right for him. The same with me."

Chamberlain was one of the few persons outside his sphere whom Alcindor actually had contact with. "He visited me several times just to talk," said Wilt, who established himself, last February as the greatest scorer in National Basketball Association history. "I never tried to persuade him about a college or anything else. I told him what it had been like for me and let him take over from there," Chamberlain said.

What of comparisons between the two, as persons and athletes?

"Well, for one thing, Lew has more aspirations at this stage," Chamberlain answered, as he gulped down a bottle of milk after devouring three corn beef sandwiches. "For examples, he and I both are interested in music. But for me, it's strictly an avocation. For him, it might be a vocation. And he's interested in writing. When I was his age, I was interested only in athletics.

"In playing," Wilt continued, "I utilized physical attributes more . . . height, speed, strength. Lew has the physical advantages, too. He also uses his head more. The game has advanced so in 11 years, he has too.

"Lew is a wonderful player, and I'm impressed with him as an intelligent individual. He realizes his uniqueness and he's making the best of it. We're traveling different roads to get what we think we want. But who knows? We might end up with the same things."

Big "Looie" went off to UCLA and carried 13½ credits in his first semester. That included courses in English, history, anthropology, music and geography.

Then came time for Alcindor to hold his first workout with the UCLA yearlings. After freshman coach Gary Cunningham watched Alcindor run up and down the floor and score baskets he could hardly keep from drooling.

"We're going to run Lew all over the court," said Cunningham after the first practice session. "He gets tired but we hope to build up his stamina. He didn't do too much running in high school. That's one thing we'll correct this year."

U. C. L. A.'s varsity coach Johnny Wooden, whose teams have been national champions two of the last three years, stresses running and pressing opponents right out of their socks.

Cunningham, who is 6-6, also worked with Lew on his fadeaway jump shot and taught him to jump straight up for the shots. On hook shots, he was tutored to follow through toward the basket.

"Lew has several good moves," Cunningham said at the time. "But we are going to try to supplement them and teach him to shoot both ways, inside and out, on a pivot play."

In addition, Lew was urged to cover the offensive basket like a canopy. He was taught to jump for that backboard with both hands extended to cover 180 degrees.

By the end of November, Alcindor was ready to debut with the freshman team and the U.C.L.A. basketball followers were quick to show their excitement. Some 12,051 fans jammed the new $5 million Pauley Pavillion to watch Lew in action against the varsity team which won the N.C.A.A. championship the year before. Alcindor showed them why he stirred so much nationwide hoopla by leading the freshman to a 75-60 victory. Lew opened the game by stealing the ball from the varsity and racing half the court for a score. He wound up as the game's high scorer with 31 points.

When they closed the book on the U. C. L. A. freshman basketball team—perhaps the finest first-year club in the history of the game, the Alcindor-led Bruins had a perfect 21-0 season.

Alcindor, despite a cut on the left hand which required four stitches, closed out the season with 25 rebounds and 35 points in a 108-74 romp over the Southern California freshmen. It was the 17th time the U. C. L. A. yearlings had exceeded 100 points in a game. They averaged 113.5, while holding their opponents to 59.7.

Lew wound up the campaign with an average of 33 points a game. Besides Alcindor, the team had three other 1965 high school All-Americans—Lucious Allen of Kansas City; Kenny Heitz of Santa Maria, Calif., and Lynn Shackelford of Brubank, Calif.

This season the high-powered quartet will join Mike Warren, Mike Lynn and Edgar Lacey—holdovers from a varsity which posted an 18-8 record.

Cunningham, needless to say, marked Lew "A" for the season. "At first Lew had a tendency to hold the ball when he took it off the board," said Cunningham. "Now he has a quicker release. He also showed a better left-handed hook shot than when he came to us. But I think he probably improved defensively more than any other way."

More than 3,000 miles away in Worcester (Mass.), Jack Donohue, now the Holy Cross basketball coach, kept a constant eye on the UCLA freshman team and waited for the DEAR COACH letters he received regularly from "Looie."

"Looie has all that it takes to become the greatest college basketball player ever," said Donohue, who first laid eyes on Alcindor as a 6-7 eighth grader at St. Jude's Grammar School in the Bronx. "He has the size, speed, and agility. He is a great shooter, great rebounder and he has the desire to be great defensively."

"Looie has all that it takes to become the greatest college basketball player ever," says Jack Donohue, Lew's high-school coach.

If Holy Cross ever met UCLA how would he play Alcindor? Jack was asked. "I've often given that a thought," Donohue answered. "I think I would play him normally and worry about stopping the other guys. I don't think Looie can be stopped."

There is no reason why Donohue should think otherwise. Starting in Alcindor's freshman season, Power Memorial went on a 71-game winning streak that was finally stopped by DeMatha High School of Hyattsville, Md. Lew rolled up a record 2,067 points during his high-school career and pulled down 2,022 rebounds, also a record.

Lew, whose father is a transit policeman, is an only child. "Lew was a 12-pounder at birth and measured 22½ inches," recalls Mrs. Cora Alcindor, his mother. "By the time he was 3½ or 4 he was bigger than most children. He was a six-footer at 11 years old."

"He wears a 17D sneaker and when he is at home he sleeps in a 7-foot-6 inch bed," continued his proud mother. "He wears a 46 extra long suit and eats good-sized meals, especially steak, supplemented by an occasional pizza or double order of French fries."

Alcindor started playing for his grammar school team as a fourth grader. "When I first saw him," said Donohue, "he was very clumsy. His grammar school coach, Farrell Hopkins, helped by starting him on jumping rope and lifting weights and by the time he got to Power he was 6-10½," added Jack. "He was a pretty good player."

Donohue took over from there and did a outstanding job. Cunningham chipped in his bit during Lew's freshman year at UCLA. Alcindor is now Wooden's baby for the next three years.

Does Ferdinand Lewis Alcindor Jr. mean three straight golden years for UCLA.

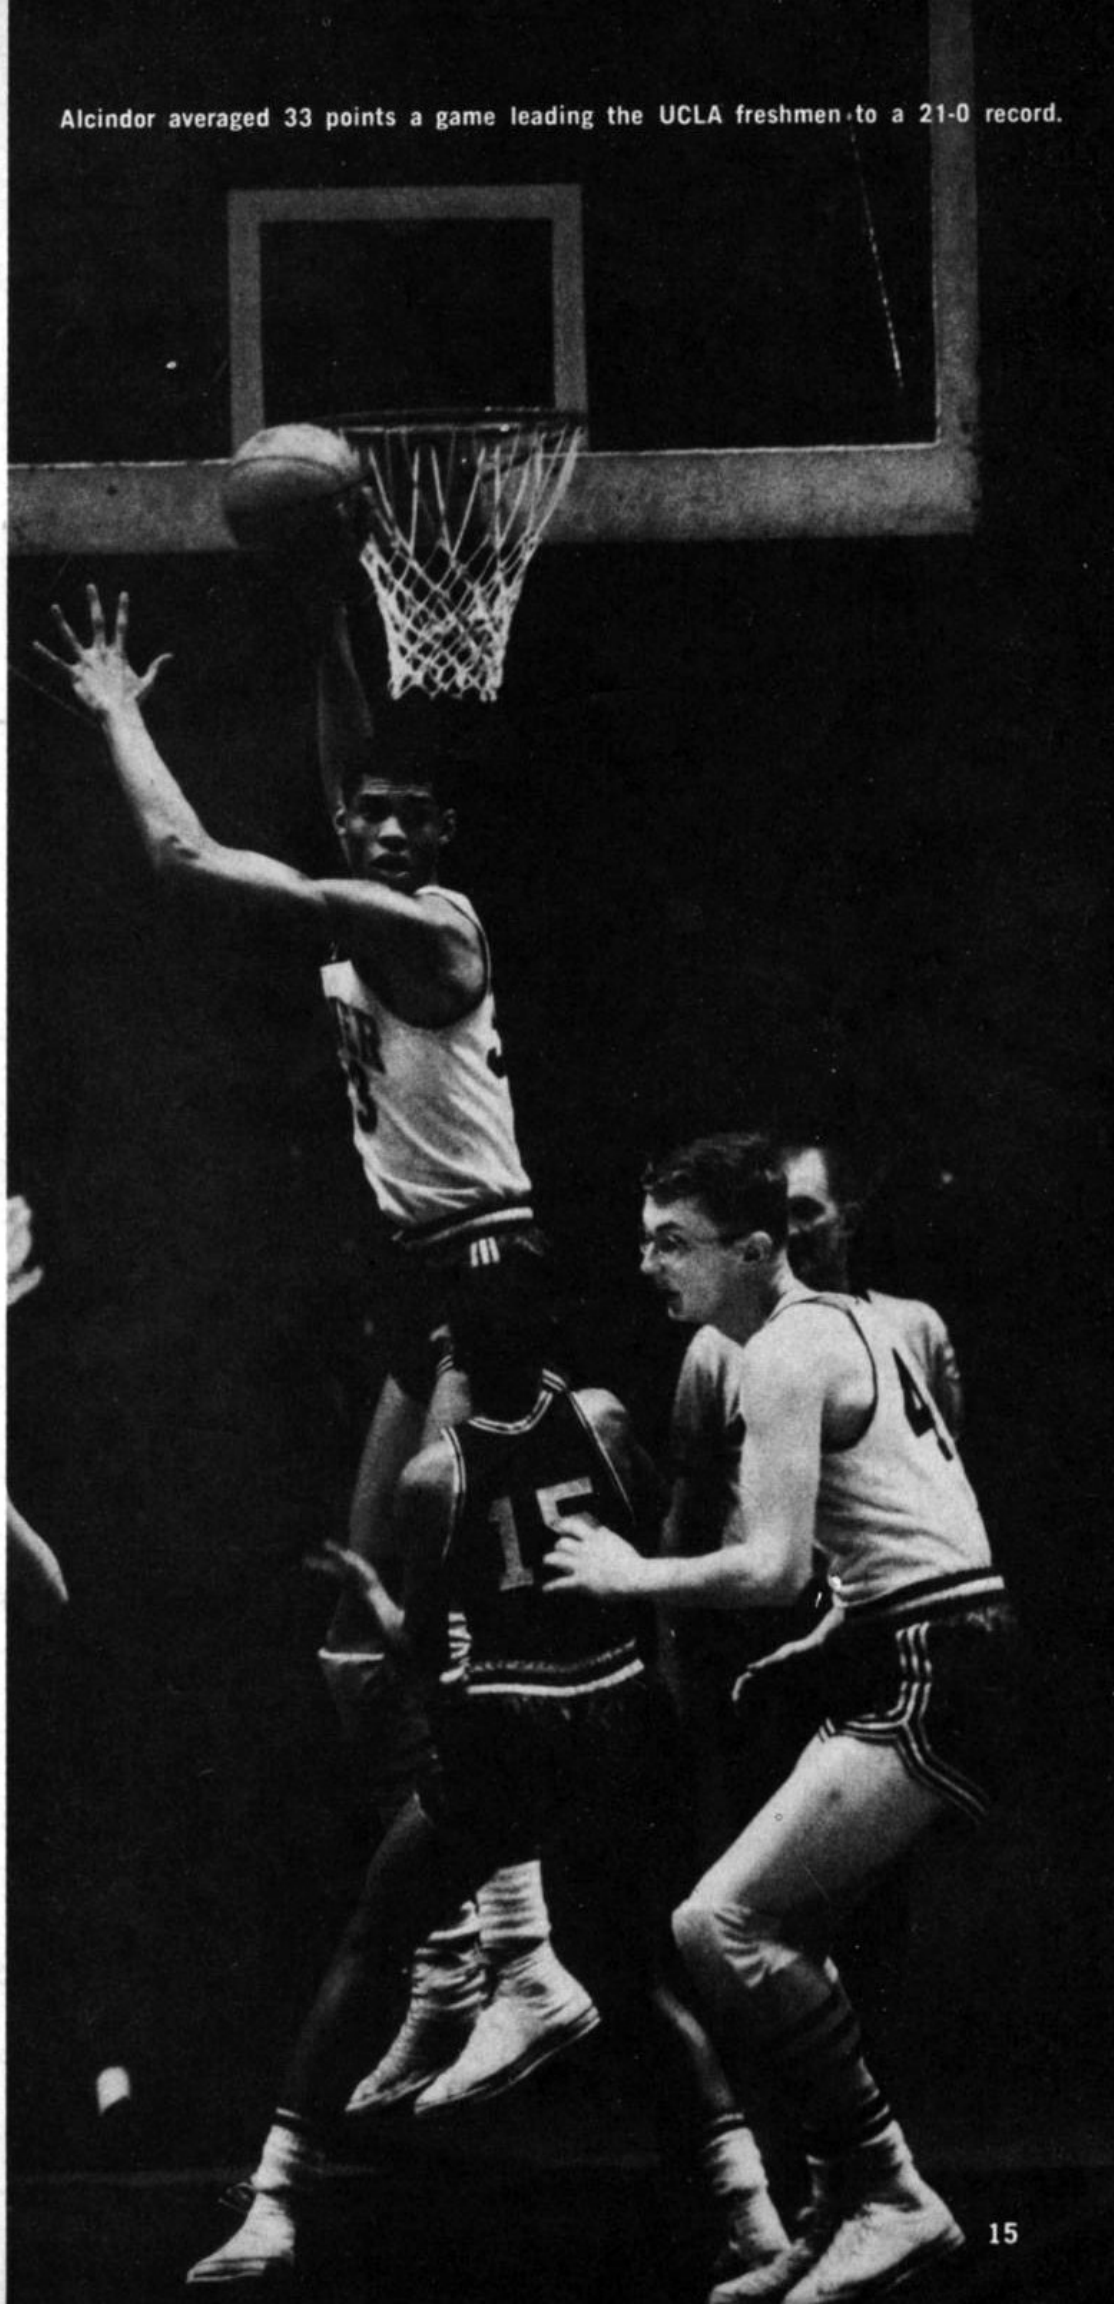

One local college coach once said that the school that gets Lew will insure winning the NCAA championship.

Adolph Rupp, whose team got to the NCAA final last season, disagreed. "It takes more than one man, no matter how big, to build a championship team," said the Kentucky baron. "Kansas couldn't do it with Wilt Chamberlain."

But, then again, Wilt has never played on a championship team, college or the pros. Lew has a good start on him. He has never been on a losing club.

The testimony of Lew Alcindor is in. Whether you ask Willis Reed, of the Knicks, or Guy Rodgers of the San Francisco Warriors, the verdict is the same—Alcindor looms tall in the future.

Alcindor averaged 33 points a game leading the UCLA freshmen to a 21-0 record.

Every year the pro basketball clan gets together in supermarket fashion to replenish its ranks from the available collegiate talent.

It was at these collegiate drafts that coaches, general managers and owners called out, "Jerry West of West Virginia; Bill Russell of San Francisco; Bob Cousy of Boston College; Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas; Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Elgin Baylor of Seattle."

These selections turned collegiate stars into National Basketball Association superstars.

Last May, Eddie Donovan, the general manager of the New York Knickerbockers, cried out, "Cazzie Russell of Michigan." Donovan had first pick since the New Yorkers finished last in the Eastern Division and won the coin toss from Detroit. The Pistons record was even worse in the Western Division.

At a nearby table, Fred Zollner, whose money has kept the Detroit franchise alive, and his coach, Dave DeBusschere, looked as if they had lost their best friend. Both expected that Cazzie would become Knick property the moment DeBusschere called "heads" and the $20 gold piece came up "tails." Still, hearing it officially hurt.

Both perennial weak sisters of the NBA needed Cazzie but for different reasons.

Even since the Knicks were organized in 1946-47, they've been searching for a superstar cut from the generous pattern of a Chamberlain, a West, a Bill Russell, a Cousy, a Baylor or an Oscar Robertson. It could very well be that they have finally found him in Cazzie. This 21-year-old basketball wizard is reputed to have all the makings of the next Oscar Robertson.

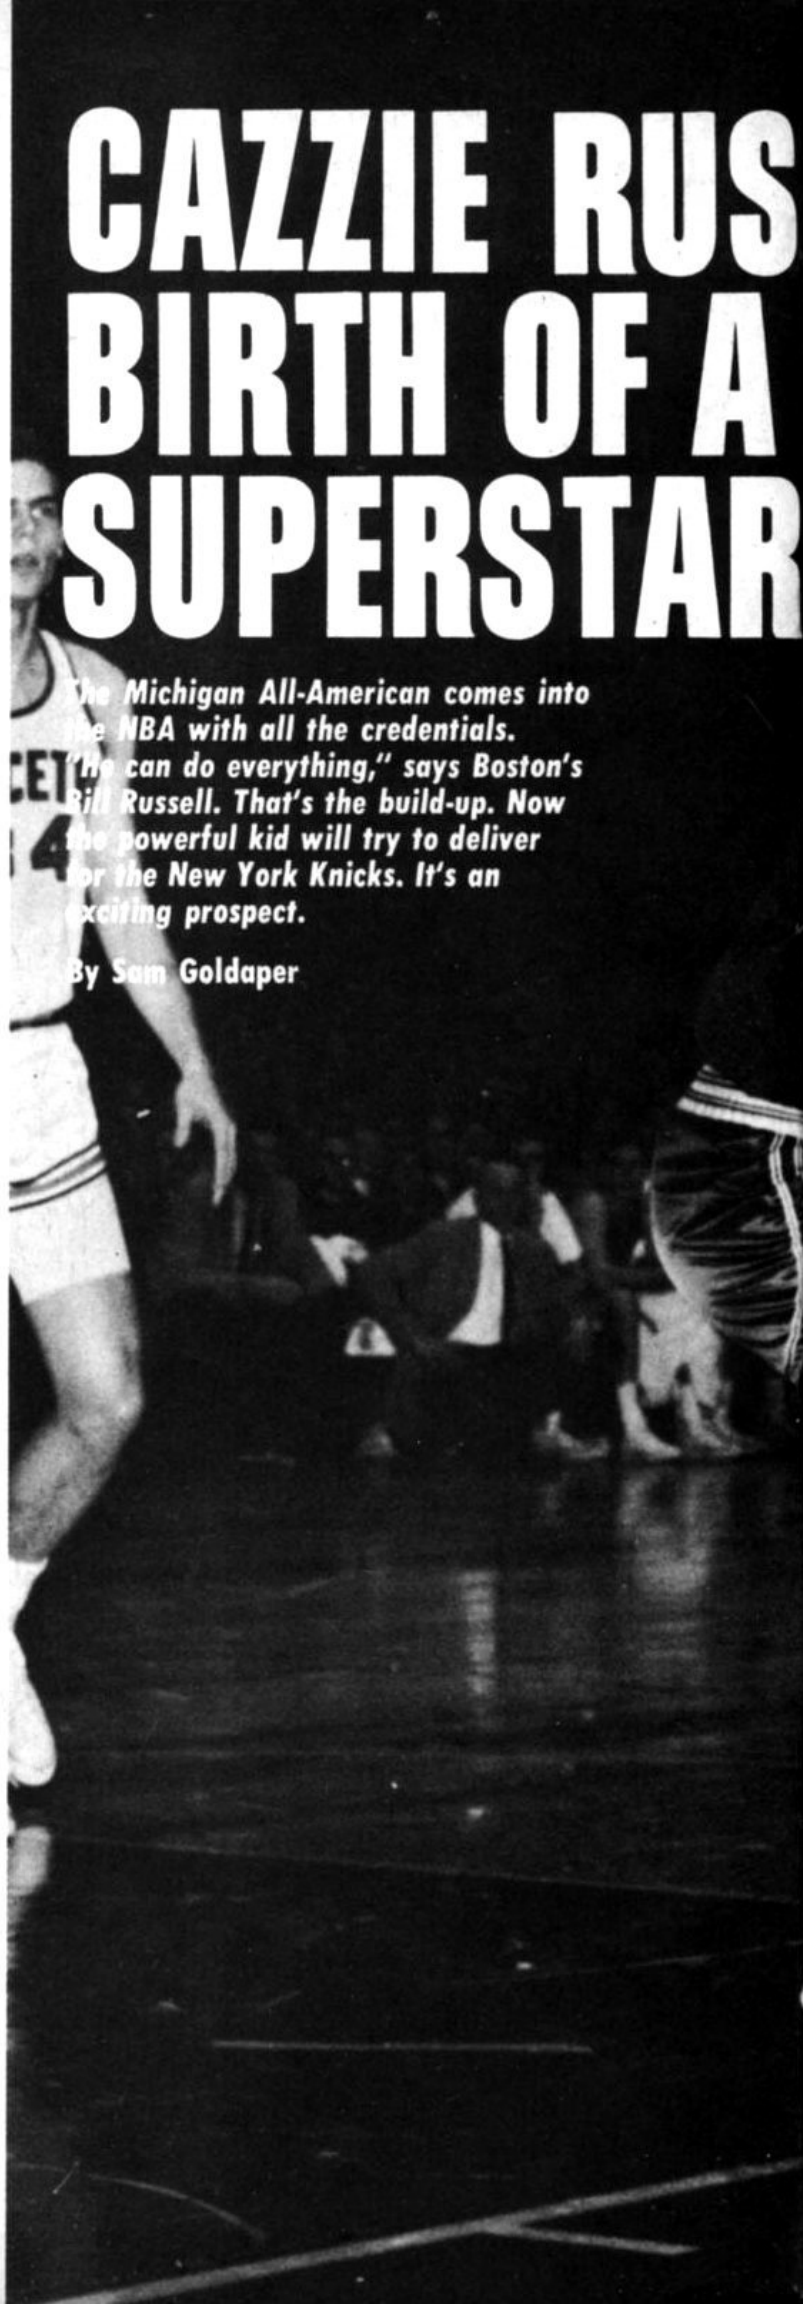

This, the basketball world interprets because Caz averaged 30 points per game, that he is also a play-maker, a dribbler, a ballhandler, a rebounder—a complete court operator. These, of course, are Robertson's traits with the (Continued on page 18)

Cincinnati Royals as they were when the Big O came out of high school, in Indianapolis to lead the University of Cincinnati to 79 victories in 87 games over a three-year span and establish 13 NCAA records.

In Detroit, Russell's talents would have helped the Pistons' bid to get out of the cellar. But that was secondary. The Detroit franchise saw $$$ signs every time it thought of Cazzie Russell.

The NBA measures its financial success by the actual money taken in at each game, rather than attendance. Last year the Pistons did a $5,000 nightly average at the gate as compared to the league tops of $31,000 by the Los Angeles Lakers and the $22,000 average by the Knickerbockers. At that, the Pistons gate was up $1,200 a night from a year ago.

Detroit, with an NBA franchise since 1957-58, has never made money. It's been common knowledge around the league that to Zollner the making of autopistons in his business and basketball his hobby.

Cazzie could have spelled out important $$$ for the sick Detroit franchise. He showed that when he pumped life into the University of Michigan's basketball program. Football was always the big sport at Ann Arbor and a money maker too. Since Russell arrived on campus, basketball bounced its way into sharing the limelight.

Caz brought out the crowds in such numbers that during his senior year, University officials made plans to build a new 15,000-seat field house. Russell's relationship with this project can be paralleled to Babe Ruth and the Yankee Stadium, often referred to as the House that Ruth built. It also recalls that Oscar Robertson started the turnstiles clicking at the University of Cincinnati and after that with the Cincinnati Royals.

While Oscar was playing for the University of Cincinnati, the Bearcats drew 805,159 to their home games. Before he donned a Royal uniform, Cincinnati drew 58,244 customers to some 30 home games. In Oscar's freshman year in the NBA, the Royals' attendance jumped to 207,020.

The 6-5½, 218-pound Russell had the All-America stamp since he graduated from Chicago's Carver High School. He was first named an All-America in his sophomore season, when he averaged 24.8 points per game. His 25.6 average earned him repeat honors the next season and as a senior, he was not only named to every All-American team but was also selected as Player of the Year. Last season, his 30.6 point average was third best in the nation.

Everytime the NBA met, the Detroit management sought to get the league rules changed and the territorial draft selection restored at least for the one season when Cazzie would be available. It was knocked down everytime and the Pistons lost the toss, so instead Russell will wear a Knicks uniform.

That was okay with Dave Strack, his Michigan coach. Soon, after the NBA draft, Strack dispelled any thoughts anyone might have had that Russell might just have been a college flash and things would be different with the big boys—the pros.

"I don't think the Knicks know what they got," said Strack. "He will amaze everyone. He hasn't even scratched the surface of his ability."

"He's a hard worker and he learns quickly," added Strack when the talk shifted to whether Cazzie will be able to play Oscar Robertson for example. "Don't forget, Oscar has to play him," interjected Strack, as a big smile broke across his face.

That was enough to conclude that Strack has great confidence in his man. "We played him at guard," said the Wolverine coach, "because he would have the ball more and we always knew something good would happen when he had it. He's tough enough, big enough, strong enough and smart enough."

Strack feels Russell might make it as big as Robertson. "They're good friends. Cazzie holds him in great esteem," added Strack. "When you speak of Oscar, you speak of a great one."

Russell has long followed Robertson's career. "I watched Oscar play when I was in high school," Cazzie told reporters when he came into Madison Square Garden for the 1964 Holiday Festival in a game which pitted him against Princeton's Bill Bradley. "Oscar has always been my idol," offered Caz. "He does more than just shoot a basketball."

Oddly enough, while the basketball world continues to debate whether Caz-zие will eventually fill Robertson's shoes, one thing is certain: Russell, at least, has worn them.

"Cazzie will amaze everyone," predicts Dave Strack about Russell's first pro year.

It was when he was a high school senior and being romanced by more than 70 colleges that Cazzie met Oscar at the University of Cincinnati. The two were having dinner together when Cazzie asked the question.

"Have you tried those low cut sneakers?" "Yes," said Oscar, "I like them. Have you tried them?"

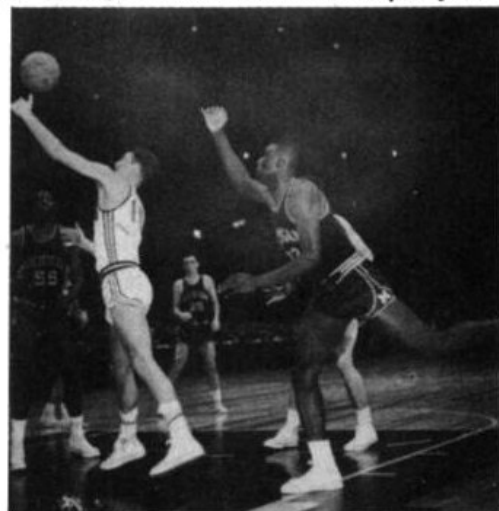

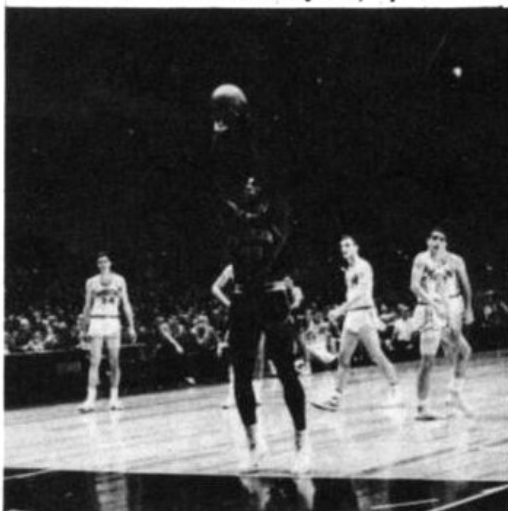

"Uh-uh," said Cazzie.

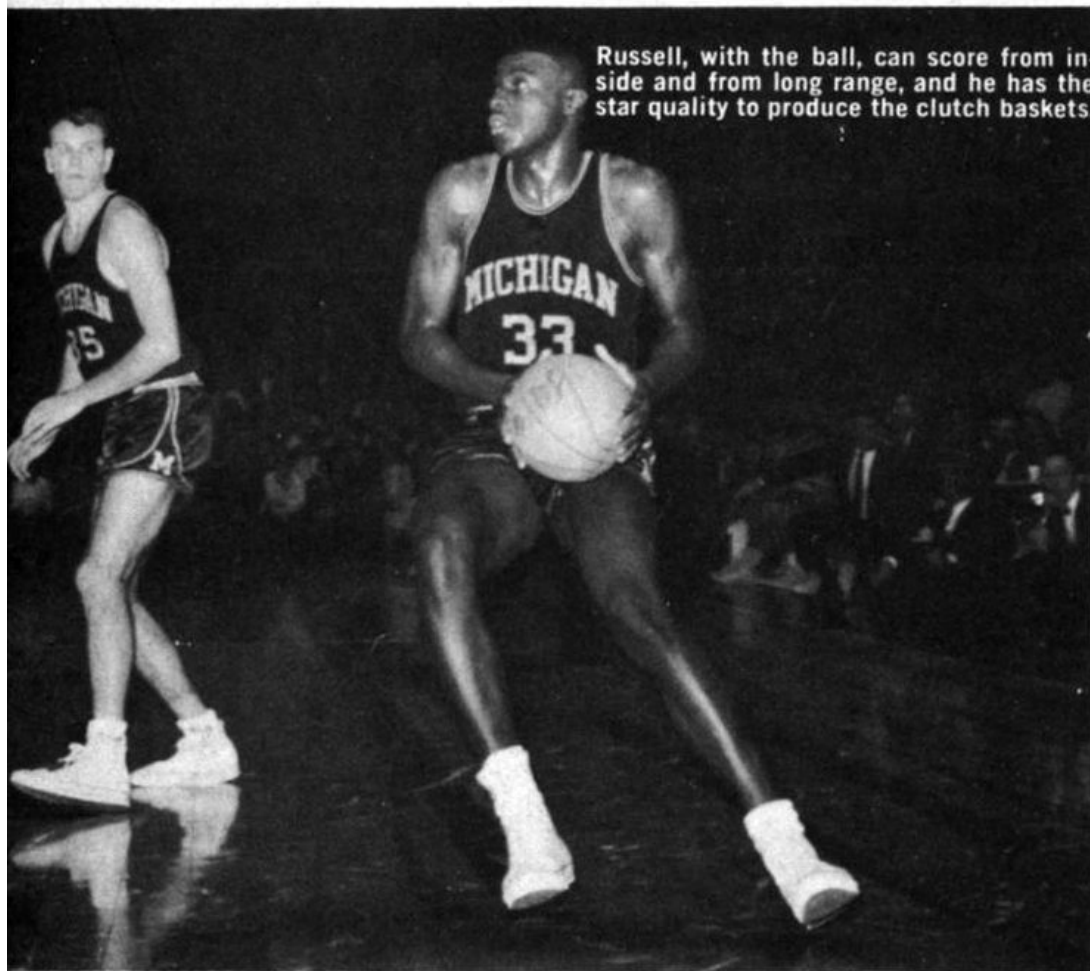

"What size do you wear?" Oscar asked.

"Fourteen," Cazzie replied.

"Same as me," said Robertson. "I got a pair you can have."

Cazzie took the sneakers and wore them with pride for more than a year. He filled them well and when they were worn he didn't discard them. He kept them with his prized possessions. Cazzie is somewhat of a hero worshipper.

When the pro scouts were out beating the collegiate paths looking over the talent before the NBA draft, one of them described Cazzie, "as just a bit behind Robertson in every category.

"His major weakness, that of so many college stars, is defense," he said. "Michigan plays a man-for-man defense, but Cazzie plays a one-man zone." He then went on to explain the reasoning behind it. "A college stand-out of his caliber can't afford to take a chance of fouling out."

Russell didn't get started playing basketball until he was 14 and that's considered a very late beginning. His strict religious parents prevented him from an earlier start because they didn't permit him to stay out late at night.

"My parents said I had to be in by 8 or 8:30 and the recreation building where the guys played, was open 7 to 10," said Cazzie explaining his late start in the game. "I never got a chance to practice. But finally I rebelled to a point where they had to let me stay out or I'd just bounce the ball in the house and drive them crazy."

It didn't take him long to catch up, partially by diligence and partially by persuading the janitors at his high school to leave the gymnasium doors open late at night so he could practice.

Caz still drives himself, almost compulsively. In a way, he's obsessed by his sport. "There were those days when Cazzie insisted on working out before every game we played," recalled Strack. "He would work out by himself and insist it would improve him. I wasn't particularly crazy about the idea but he was right. Caz felt it helped him so he did it. He fully enjoys playing and plays so well."

The Knicks made Cazzie their first pick for much of the same reason. "We came to the draft looking for the best basketball player available," said Donovan, "and since we had the first choice, it had to be Russell. He has the body, the strength and the basketball knowledge."

There was more to it than that. The Knicks had Caz well scouted for a long time. Red Holzman, New York's chief talent seeker, followed him around for a few games. Donovan and Knick coach, Dick McGuire, joined the scouting party later on.

The Knicks were impressed by Russell's manner of taking charge. He showed them that he was the type of player who wants the ball when the game was on the line. Nobody had to tell him to ask for it. The fact that he won MVP honors in the East-West All-Star Game and the AAU tournament in Denver helped too.

"Two things I especially liked about him in Lexington (East-West game)," said the Knick coach. "He gave me the impression he wants to play and at the same time appears to be enjoying himself. Also, he changes the tempo of the game. When he entered the game his team was losing, minutes later they were ahead."

At the draft meetings, each league city is assigned a table. It was easy to hop from Philadelphia to Los Angeles or from St. Louis to New York in a matter of seconds. But, whether the stopover was at the Detroit, Boston or Chicago table, the topic of conversation was —CAZZIE RUSSELL. It was as if his name was lit up on an imaginary marquee over each of the ten league cities.

Some compared him to Robertson. Others guessed that he was the Shining Knight who has come to free the Knicks from the deep, dark NBA cellar. Finally there were some who were concerned about Cazzie's role in the pros.

"It's kind of hard comparing him with Oscar," said Al Bianchi, assistant coach to Johnny Kerr at Chicago, the NBA's newest franchise. "There's no doubt that Caz was great in college, but Oscar is Oscar. When he does something, it's almost like he was demonstrating at a basketball clinic. He executes so perfectly." Bill Sharman, the new San Francisco Warriors coach, concurred and Kerr also shook his head in approval.

Bill Russell, who replaced Red Auerbach as the coach of the Boston Celtics, took a different approach. "The Knicks have improved tremendously the past few years. Cazzie will be a great help to them. Not so much because he's a great player—he's very good—but because they need just one good player to turn the corner.

"I think the Knicks will bring about a five-team race for the Eastern Division title for the first time. That's how much improved I think they will be."

A doubter echoed concern about Cazzie's role. His size makes him a middle-of-the-roader—too big for the backcourt, not big enough for the frontcourt.

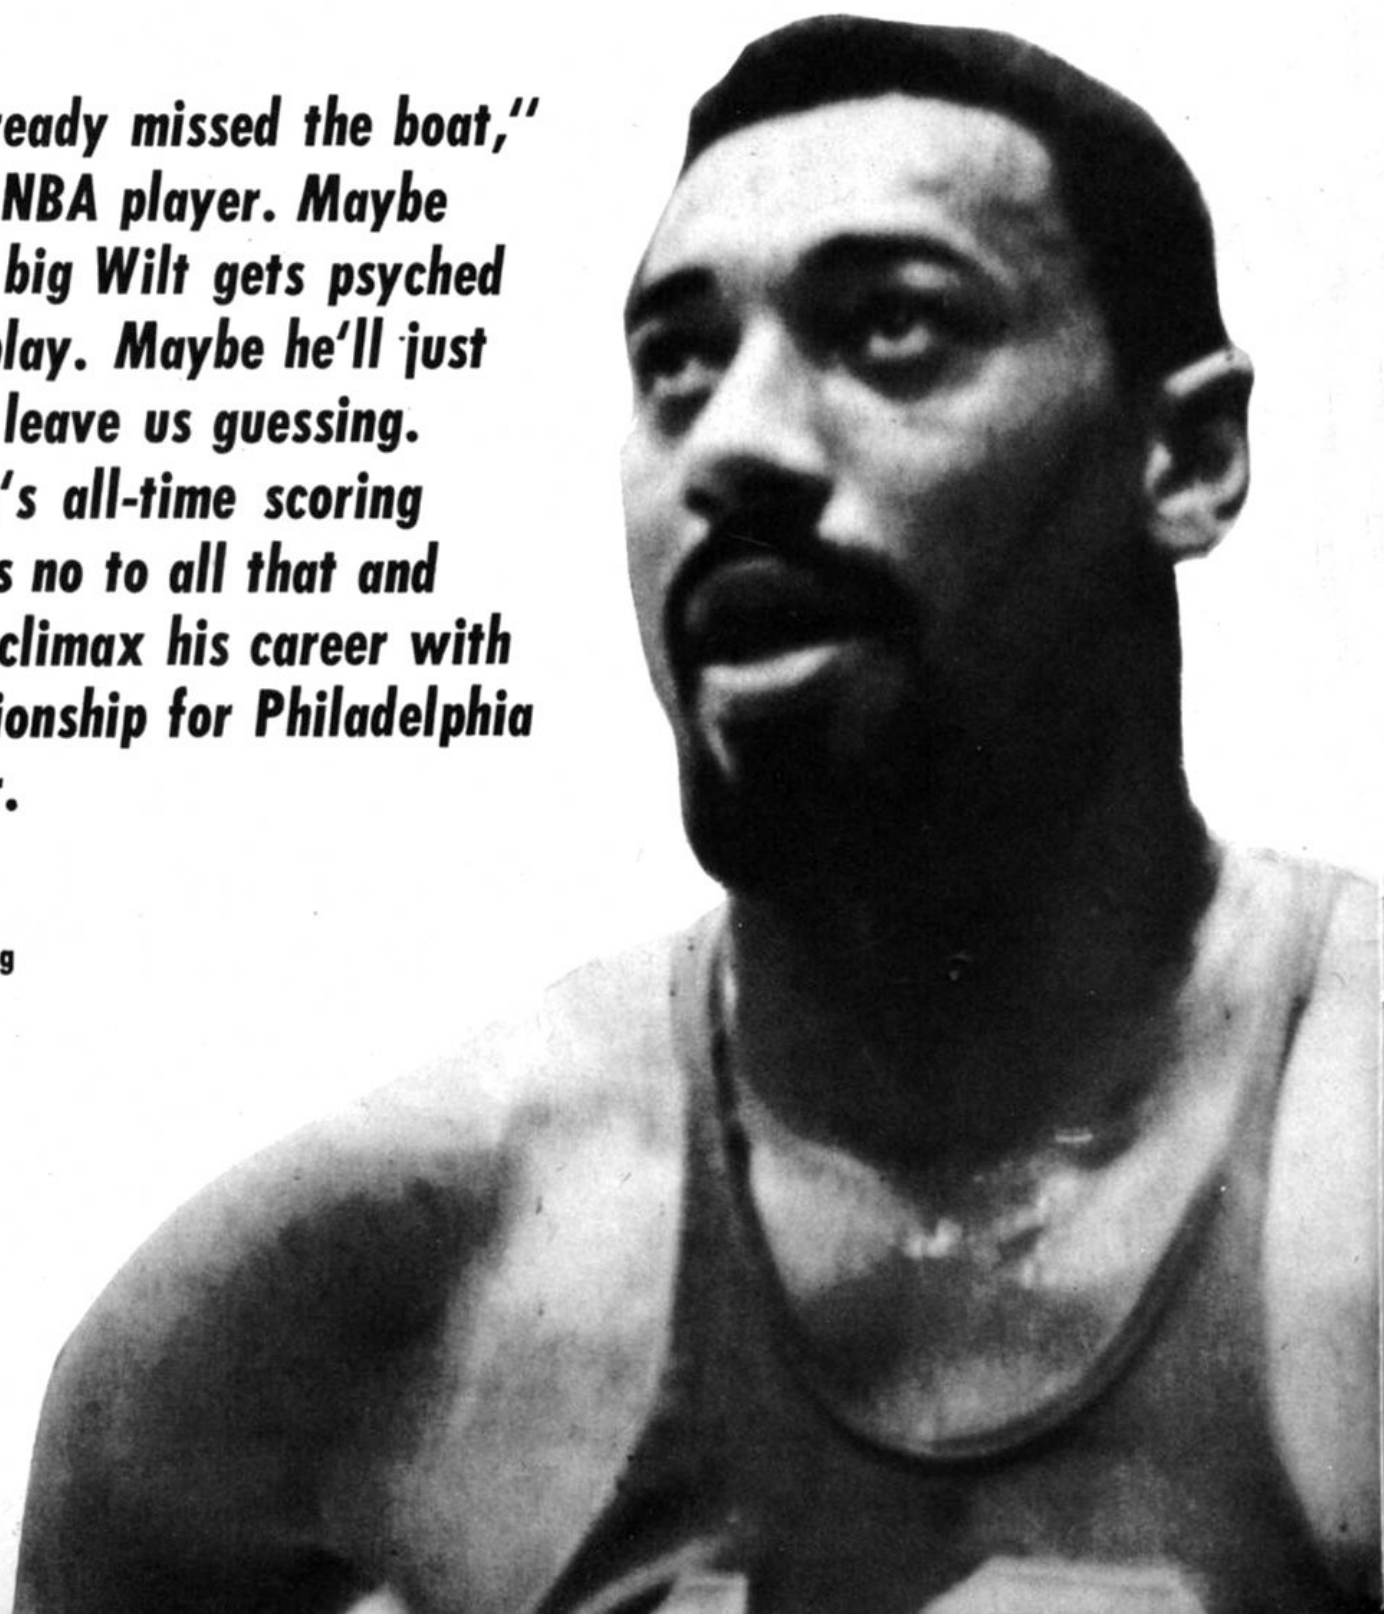

"That's what's good about him," Bill Russell said. "He can do everything so you can play him where he's needed. If the guys in the backcourt are doing well, you put him in the corner. If the big guys are hitting, you put him in the backcourt. That's what we do with John Havlicek."

The next Oscar Robertson, a John Havlicek or just plain Cazzie Russell, the Knicks got themselves a player who is strictly theatre in a basketball suit.

WILL CHAMBERLAIN EVER REALIZE A CHAMPIONSHIP?

"He's already missed the boat," says one NBA player. Maybe it's that big Wilt gets psyched in title play. Maybe he'll just quit and leave us guessing. The NBA's all-time scoring king says no to all that and vows to climax his career with a championship for Philadelphia this year.

By Bob Hoobing

Frustration, thy name is Wilt Chamberlain.

After seven pro seasons, the only goal the all-time leading scoring in the National Basketball Association wants still eludes him—to play on a championship team.

The thought keeps gnawing at the Philadelphia 76ers' giant that the best chance he has had for a title—April, 1966—ended in disaster. His aspirations foundered on the same old Bill Russell—anchored Boston rock, four games to one, in the Eastern Division playoffs.

There are other thoughts, too, concerning Wilt and a winner:

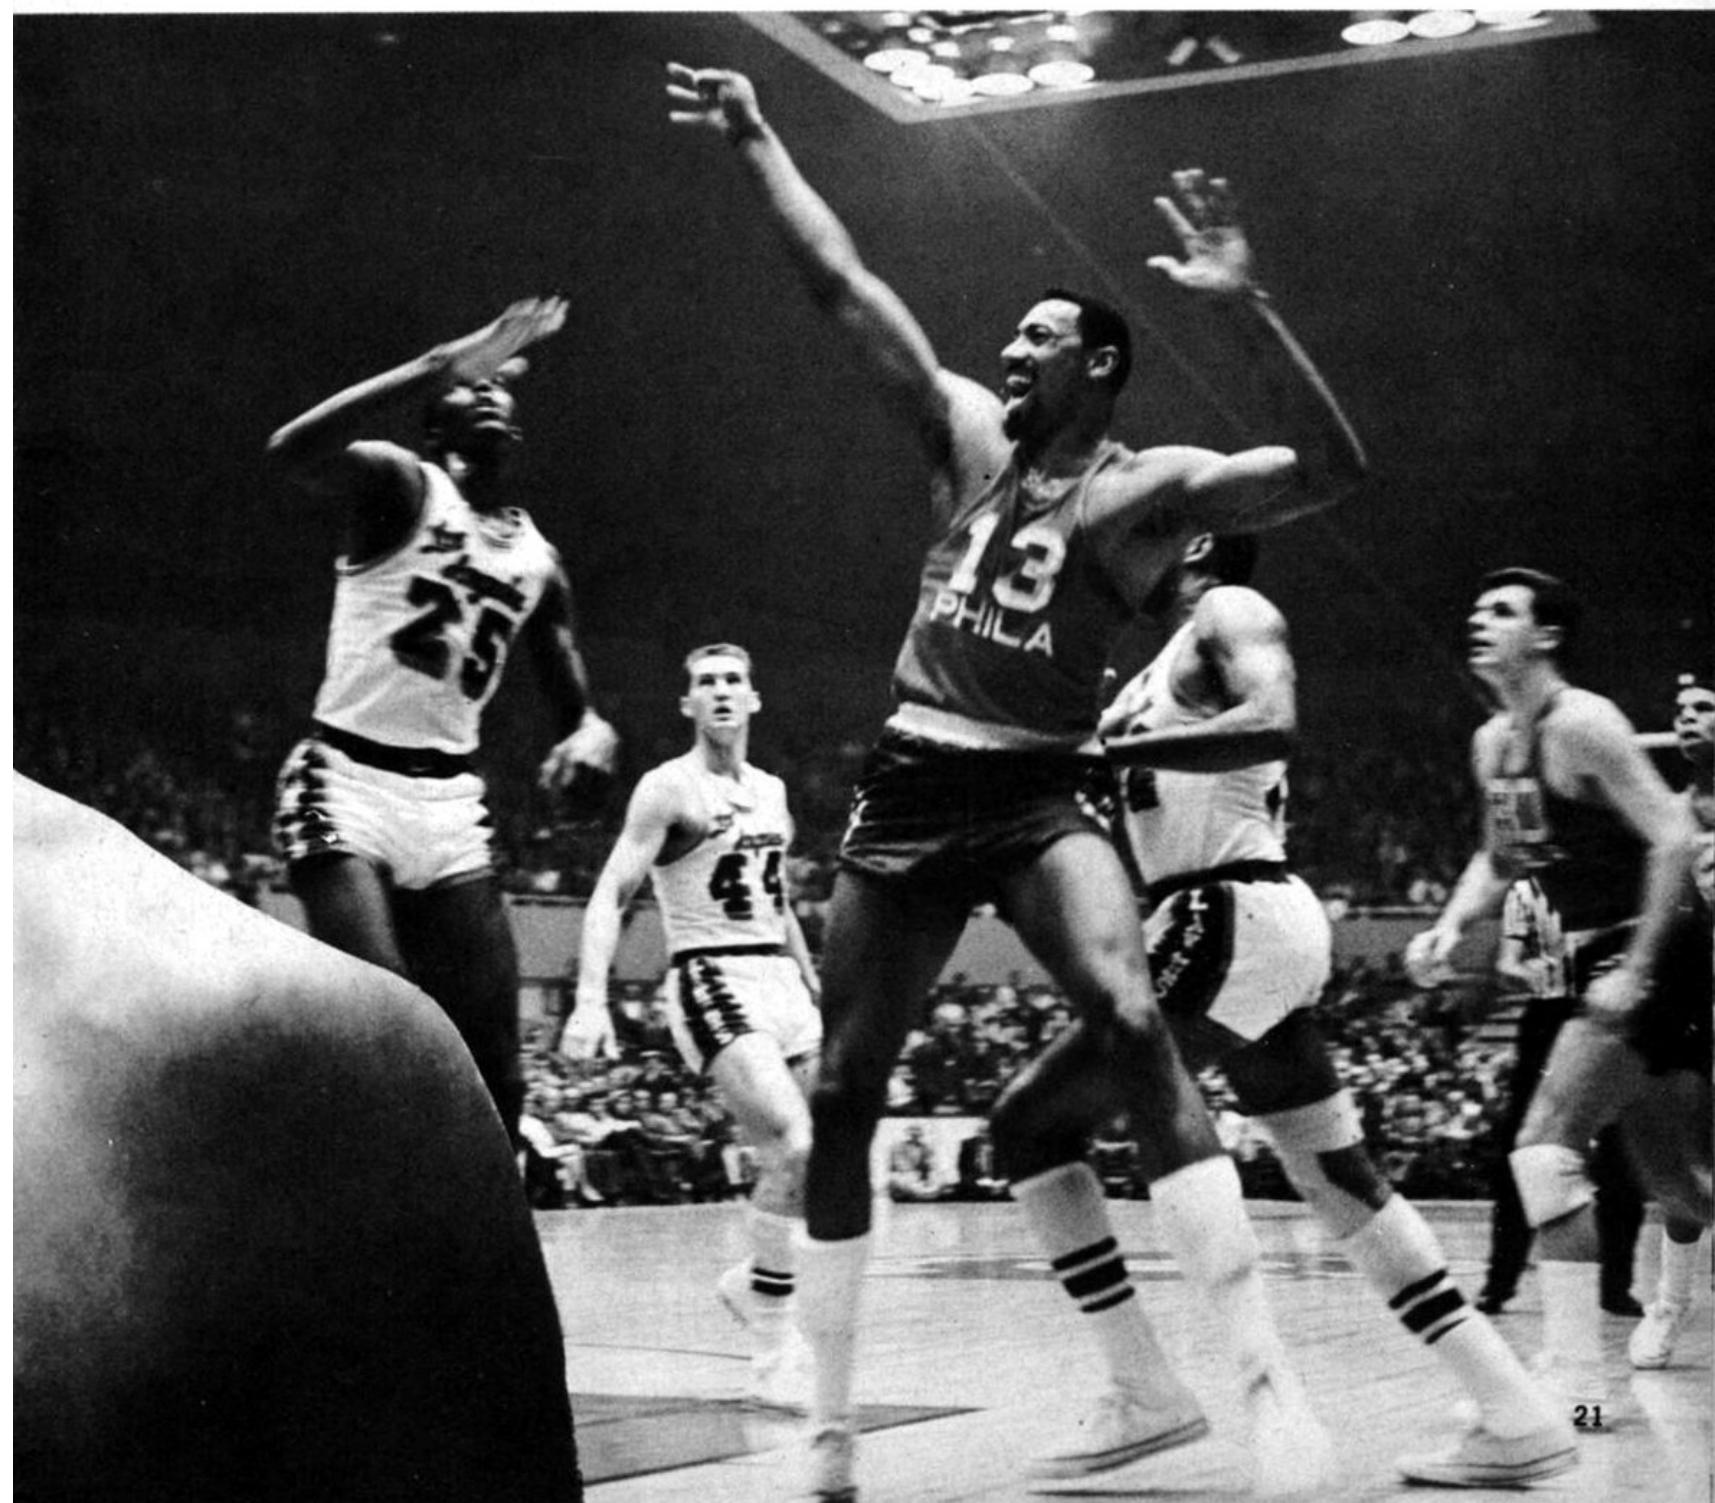

1. It may be too late.
2. If Chamberlain pulls it off now, he'll never receive the same credit or recognition he would have had he beaten the Celtics with Red Auerbach still coach and Russell at the peak of his game.
3. With all his talents, Wilt may not be constitutionally built to capture the flag. It's reaching the complex stage.

4. Almost every year Wilt talks about quitting. Sometime soon—perhaps even this season—his frustration may overcome his desire to catch that confounded brass ring.

Through it all, make no mistakes, Chamberlain has been a GREAT player. Wilt hit a personal peak in well-rounded play for the 1965-66 campaign. Although his league-leading scoring average of 33.5 points was the lowest in his career, Wilt also set the NBA pace with a record .540 field goal percentage, a harvest of 1943 rebounds (24.6 average) and was an astounding seventh in assists, sandwiched in among the game's most accomplished backcourt playmakers.

Along the way he passed Bob Pettit as the NBA's top career scorer with 21,486 points in seven seasons. By vote of his fellow (Continued on page 22) athletes, he was honored for the second time as the NBA Most Valuable Player.

What more is there for him to gain in personal glory?

And baby, this tall cat with extensive investments along with business interests in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco doesn't need the loot.

Before the last season opened, Wilt put his sentiments on the line: "I have fulfilled everything I wanted in pro basketball except winning the NBA title. And I can't do that all by myself, right? Money has nothing to do with the way I feel."

Chamberlain brought a new enthusiasm and spirit into the '65-'66 campaign. When Wilt was named MVP, his coach, Dolph Schayes, said: "He's keyed our fast break and bulwarked our defense. He had a great year and our team has responded to his leadership. This is the strongest group of boys Wilt has played with in his career. Wilt has utilized our strength and we have utilized his."

Chamberlain had a feeling of exhilaration and could sense the playoff kill as he commented on the league honor: "I feel the main difference is my teammates. With good outside shooting from fellows like Hal Greer, Chet Walker, Al Bianchi and a bunch of fine rookies, I've been able to play a different type of game. I can pass off a lot, concentrate on defense, set for picks, where as before I was forced to shoot more."

"This is definitely the greatest team I've ever played with, especially in the matter of balance. This balance makes it easier for me to be a more complete player. For the first time in my career, I'm getting a chance to diversify my talents a little."

Wilt led a great stretch run which produced 18 victories in the last 21 games and wound up in an 11-game winning streak. En route, the 76ers swept a weekend back-to-back series from Boston and it proved just enough to unseat the Celtics as regular-season division champs for the first time in a decade.

"This is just a down payment," said Wilt, recalling that Celtic John Havlicek's steal in the seventh game of the Eastern playoffs a year earlier had cost Philadelphia all the marbles. "I want the big title."

Boston had to rally from the brink of elimination, down 1-2, to get past Cincinnati in the preliminaries. Some of the 76ers would have preferred to meet the Royals. Not Wilt, though. He wanted to avenge himself on his long-time Boston tormentors.

Schayes confidently predicted victory. The St. Louis Hawks' Richie Guerin guessed out loud the Celts may have had it. The Philadelphia press began referring to Boston as "the green devils." Wilt was quoted as saying the Celtics' dynasty was about over because the defending titlists "can't turn it on or off any more."

None of this was calculated to help the 76ers' cause, even if there was a newspaper strike in Boston. The word got around and later Russell admitted: "We got the impression that the 76ers were adding up the money, figuring us as dead. This helped us get up for the series."

On the eve of joining battle, the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain stated his case: "If I play on a championship team, I'll have accomplished everything I set out to do in pro-basketball. There will be nothing more for me to do."

The title never came. Aroused Boston jumped off to a 2-0 lead and after Wilt turned in a great winning effort in No. 3, the Celts took charge again. In the all-important fourth game, Chamberlain was superb but his team wasn't. Wilt blocked a Russell dunk (!) with one second left in regulation and forced an overtime before Boston won 114-108.

Almost dazed from the turn of events, Chamberlain stalked the corridor outside the Philadelphia dressing room following the game. He shook his head, leaned against the wall, then kicked a door. "I can't believe it, man, I can't believe it," he moaned. "We had it (the game) and we gave it away. I feel satisfied with my performance . . . but what difference does it make?"

The moment of elimination really hurt. It came in front of the home folks and although Wilt scored 46 points, Boston won 120-112.

Chamberlain fended off probing questions. "It's all a disappointment," he said. "I can't measure disappointments. They (Celtics) just play sharp defense, although I don't think they could have played that kind of defense if we had been ahead. They just kept putting the ball in the basket."

Then the pressure welling inside him grew too much and he blew his stack. Joe McGinniss, a Philadelphia sportswriter, asked Wilt why he didn't report to practice the previous day "just to shoot a few fouls." Chamberlain missed 17 of 25 tries in that final game.

Wilt flared when McGinniss asked about the practice again.

"All the practice in the world ain't gonna help me at the line," he said.

"Dolph asked you to report for some foul shooting," the writer replied.

"Yeah, and I told him I didn't want to because I felt some rest would do me more good. Now you get outta here," Chamberlain said.

"It's all a disappointment," said Wilt after 76ers lost in the playoffs.

That's when the huge center had to be restrained from charging his questioner.

So now what, Uncle Wiltie?

Obviously sopping up all the individual team statistics but never finishing better than second best in team accounting bugs the big man. In his transcontinental Philadelphia - to - San Francisco - to Philadelphia travels, the teams on which he has played have been beaten playoff finalists once and have been ousted in the semifinals four times and the preliminaries once. On the other occasion, his team ran out of the money.

"It used to really burn me to hear someone say I was a born loser, that I've never played on a winning team," admits Chamberlain.

Currently he qualifies that stand by giving his definition of a winner. He feels he can only be faulted if he plays with a team of the Celtics' caliber and loses. "I can dunk baskets all night long if they'll get the ball in there to me."

But there is a flaw in the Chamberlain argument. Philadelphia WAS BETTER (one full game) than Boston over the 80 game regular schedule and boasted a 6-4 series edge. It was another story in the playoff pressure cooker.

Of course, Wilt can still get his heart's desire. A title is possible as long as he plays.

But is it too late?

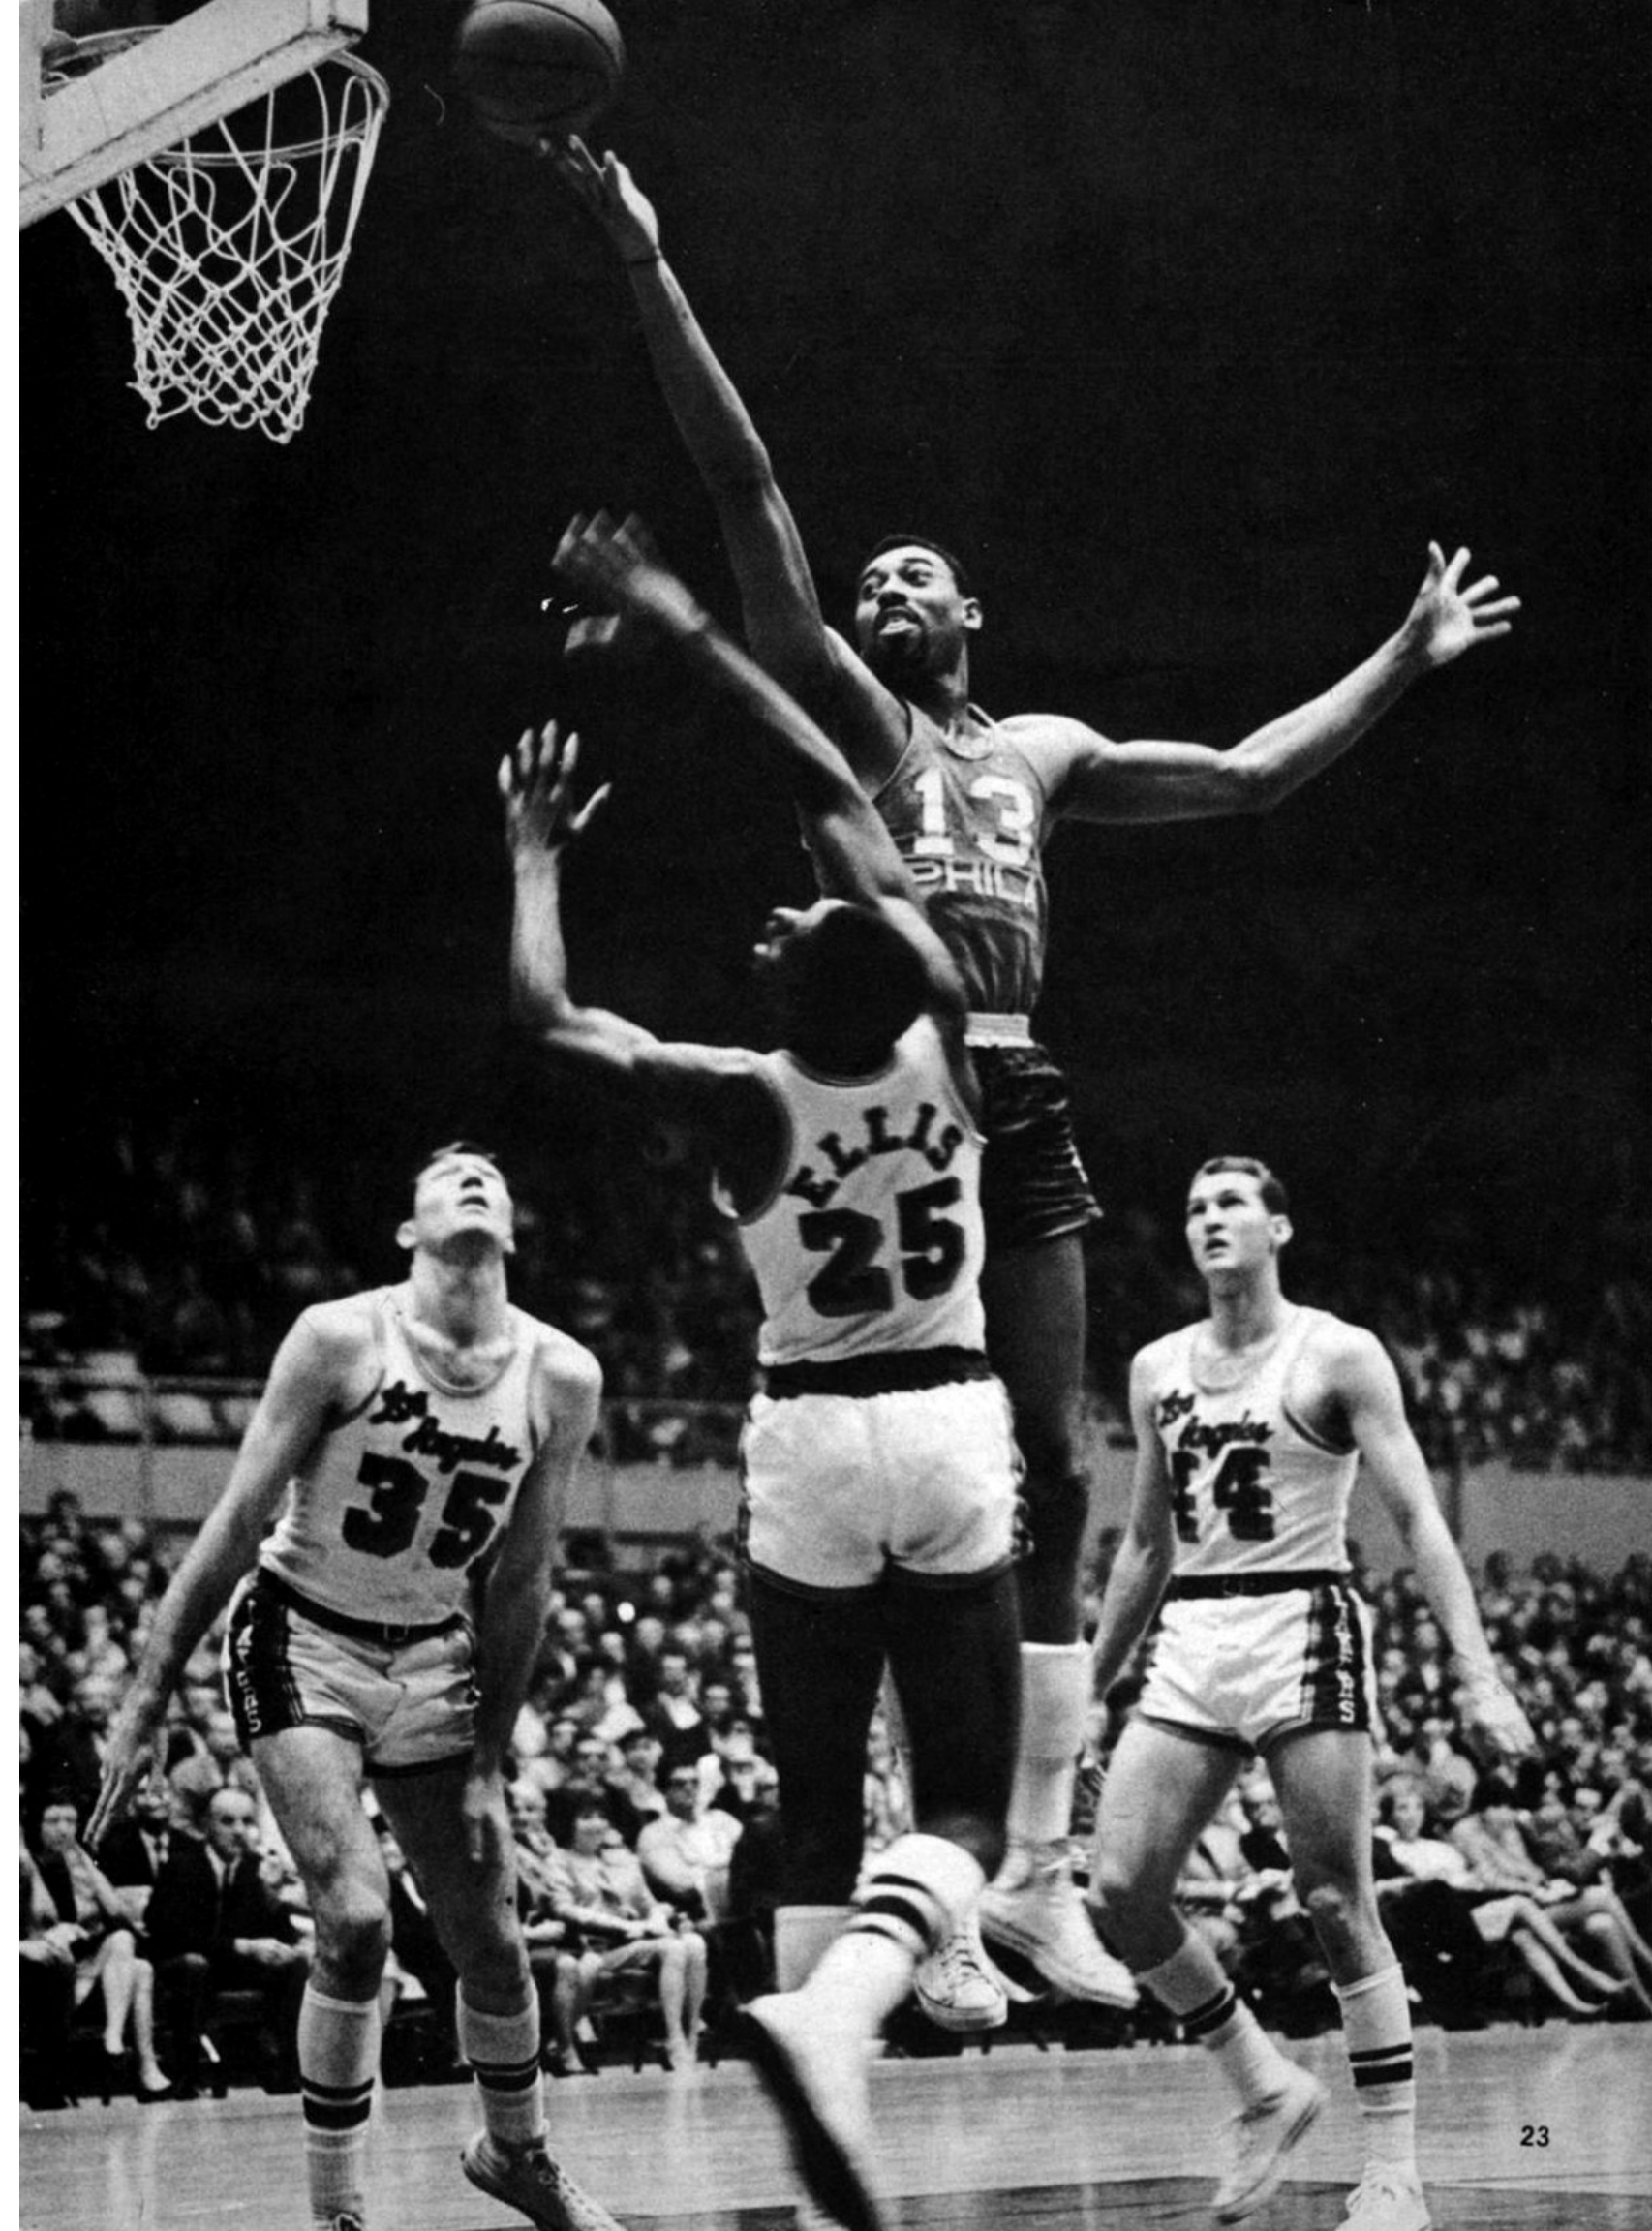

The 76ers and Wilt should never be any better than they were last season. Coach Russell and his Celtics can never be counted out in the tougher Eastern Division. And Cincinnati is coming. The Royals are younger in several positions, they have Oscar Robertson and may soon get that top center they need.

Would a Chamberlain championship be a hollow victory now?

Red Auerbach, the Boston general manager who has stepped out as coach, thinks so.

"The edge is off," says Red. "It's no longer a question of whether Wilt can win it. If he beats Russell now he'll never get the credit. This past season (1965-66) was THE TIME he had to do it. He didn't."

Red's thinking is based partly on the fact that Russell, who will have the added load of coaching to carry, will be 33 at midseason. Sam Jones will report to camp 33 and K. C. Jones at 34.

Auerbach might have added it was Wilt's last chance at the coach whose teams had foiled clubs starring Chamberlain in five out of six unsuccessful playoff bids.

Is the temperament of this proud, aloof, sometimes stubborn man suited to title winning?

The answer appeared to be a resounding "yes" heading into last season. Havlicek, who stole the ball and a possible Philadelphia championship a few months earlier, was quick to notice if after a couple of court encounters.

"The big guy is psyched right, his attitude is different," Havlicek said. "He knows this is the year he can fulfill the one ambition that has eluded him all these years. He knows the 76ers came within a shot of dethroning us last year. He's convinced the 76ers can go all the way this season. And he wants it badly. He's doing everything: rebounding and feeding as well as shooting. And he is emotional in a way that is spreading to his teammates.

Chamberlain, with ball, played the best all-round season of his illustrious career as he scored, rebounded, passed, and defended.

"Most people don't fully appreciate Wilt's talent. Some don't think he hustles, but he does and he has amazing speed even though it might not look like it. Consider this, too. His job is essentially offense, and Russell's is primarily defense. There are dozens of scorers in the league, so when Wilt scores it's not unusual. But when Russ blocks a shot, people go wild because they don't see such a maneuver often. And there's always talk Wilt's not a team man because he shoots so often. Man, that's what he's getting $100,000 to do."

"Wilt's tougher to play this year than he's ever been," chimed in New York's Walt Bellamy. "You don't know what he's going to do. Before, you knew that he would almost automatically go for the basket. But then he had to score a lot of points to keep his team in the game. Now, you've got to think about who he is going to pass to."

Yet this image began to show cracks. One reason was that he had no respect for Schayes. Wilt considered him quite likeable, but felt Dolph was too genteel in dealing with rough-and-tumble athletes. Wilt commuted from New York when the 76ers were home, lived apart on the road, sat apart in the dressing room, followed his own practice schedule and argued with his coach in public.

The mild-mannered Schayes lost the respect from some of his other players for failure to discipline Chamberlain. It was a major factor in the firing of Schayes just after he had been selected NBA Coach-of-the-Year.

Wilt made references more than once to "my game plan" during the season and offered: "If I had to, I'd be as good a defensive player as Bill Russell." It didn't ring true.

His outspoken moments did not endear him in any quarter. Just before the playoffs he stated—without penalty from NBA President Walter Kennedy—he hoped Mendy Rudolph would not officiate. "I can take anyone but him," Wilt said. "He has it in for me personally and when he takes his personal feelings onto the court he hurts my team."

Alex Hannum, the new Philadelphia coach, has had previous success with Chamberlain.

Watching the Celtics-Lakers final in Los Angeles, Chamberlain was asked if he thought he was uncoachable. "No, I don't think I'm uncoachable," he replied. "I had a very pleasant relationship with Dolph Schayes. I've always been willing to do what he wanted. That doesn't mean I'm uncoachable. It's better for the team if I do certain things."

The answer left a vague area of just who decides what.

However, a man Wilt respects very much and the one who got him to play a more rounded game now coaches the 76ers—Alex Hannum. If anyone can handle him, Hannum can.

Yet with all his added versatility, Chamberlain still was saddled with the indelible tag of Scorer. The Philadelphia club tried to work the ball more against Boston in the playoffs, but when things went bad they looked for Wilt. It was second nature.

Russell played Chamberlain better than he had all season. Auerbach recalls "Wilt played great against Russ too. What people forget is that our other players got all fired up for this series, too."

It was true particularly in the corners where Havlicek, Satch Sanders and Don Nelson forced Chet Walker, Luke Jackson, Dave Gambee and Billy Cunningham to have the worst games of their careers. Chamberlain lost his front court helpers or at least saw their effectiveness sharply curtailed.

He took up more of the scoring battle and Russell defended him so brilliantly he forced Wilt to miss his bread-and-butter shots.

When Wilt tried to step away and do some feeding TV commentator Bob Cousy felt the 76ers were lost! "Philadelphia is trained to look for Wilt at the hoop. When he's not there, the attack falls apart."

Chamberlain signed a three-year contract last summer for an estimated $100,000 a year (the Celts upstaged him by signing Russell for $100,001 per for the same span). But he is non-committal about the future.

"My playing contract doesn't run out until 1968," he says. "I don't know exactly what will happen then, any more than I know what I'm going to do next season."

One NBA player, who did not want to be identified, considered Wilt's long-time unsuccessful effort to be part of a title team, shrugged and said: "He's already missed the boat."

WHAT JERRY WEST MEANS TO THE LAKERS

By Al Goldfarb

Last season after the Los Angeles Lakers' Jerry West had suffered one of his rare off-nights when he scored only 17 points, a St. Louis player remarked: "Well, he's human after all."

West, who averages more than 30 points a game, hit only four of 20 field goals, collected three rebounds and contributed four assists in a performance that put him in the mere mortal class.

For All-Pro Jerry West, it was no laughing matter.

"The ball just wouldn't go in the hole," he said in his West Virginia twang.

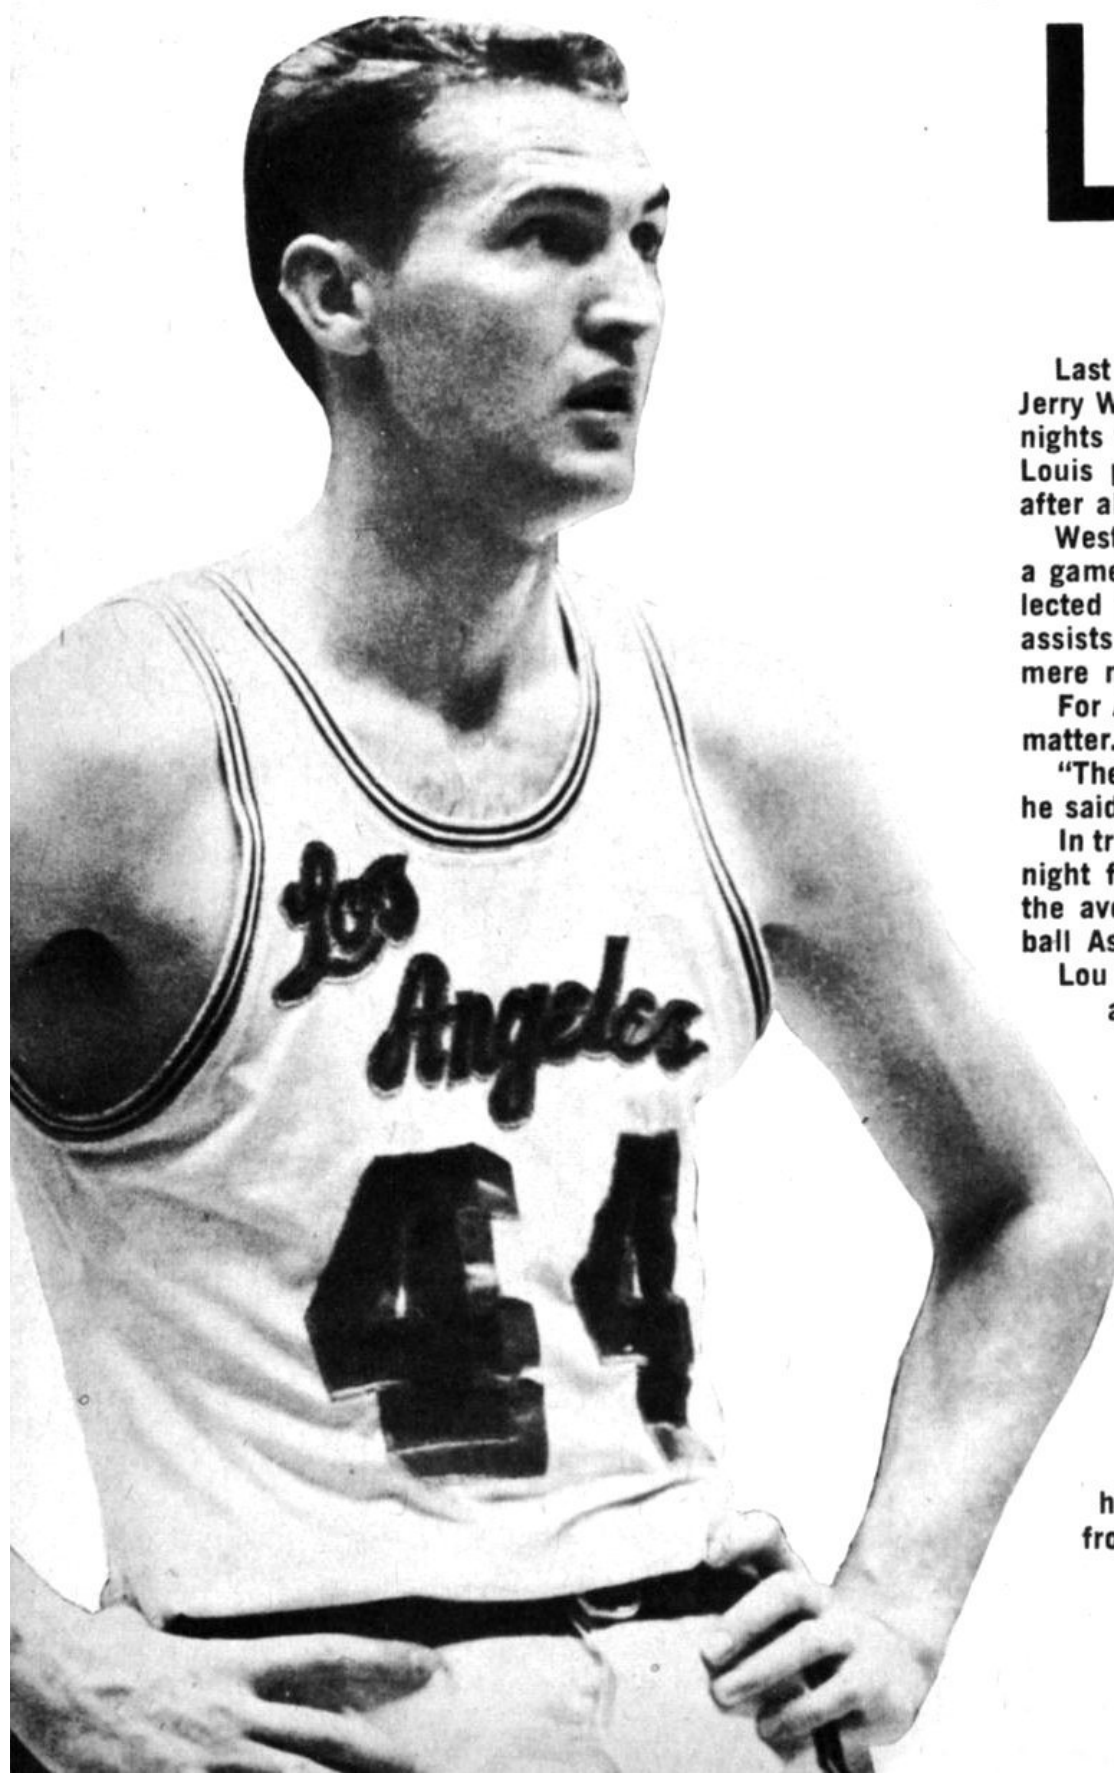

In truth, the records prove that a mediocre night for Jerry would be a good night for the average player in the National Basketball Association.

Lou Mohs, general manager of the Lakers and the man responsible for signing West, says that Jerry is a "great" player 70 per cent of the time.

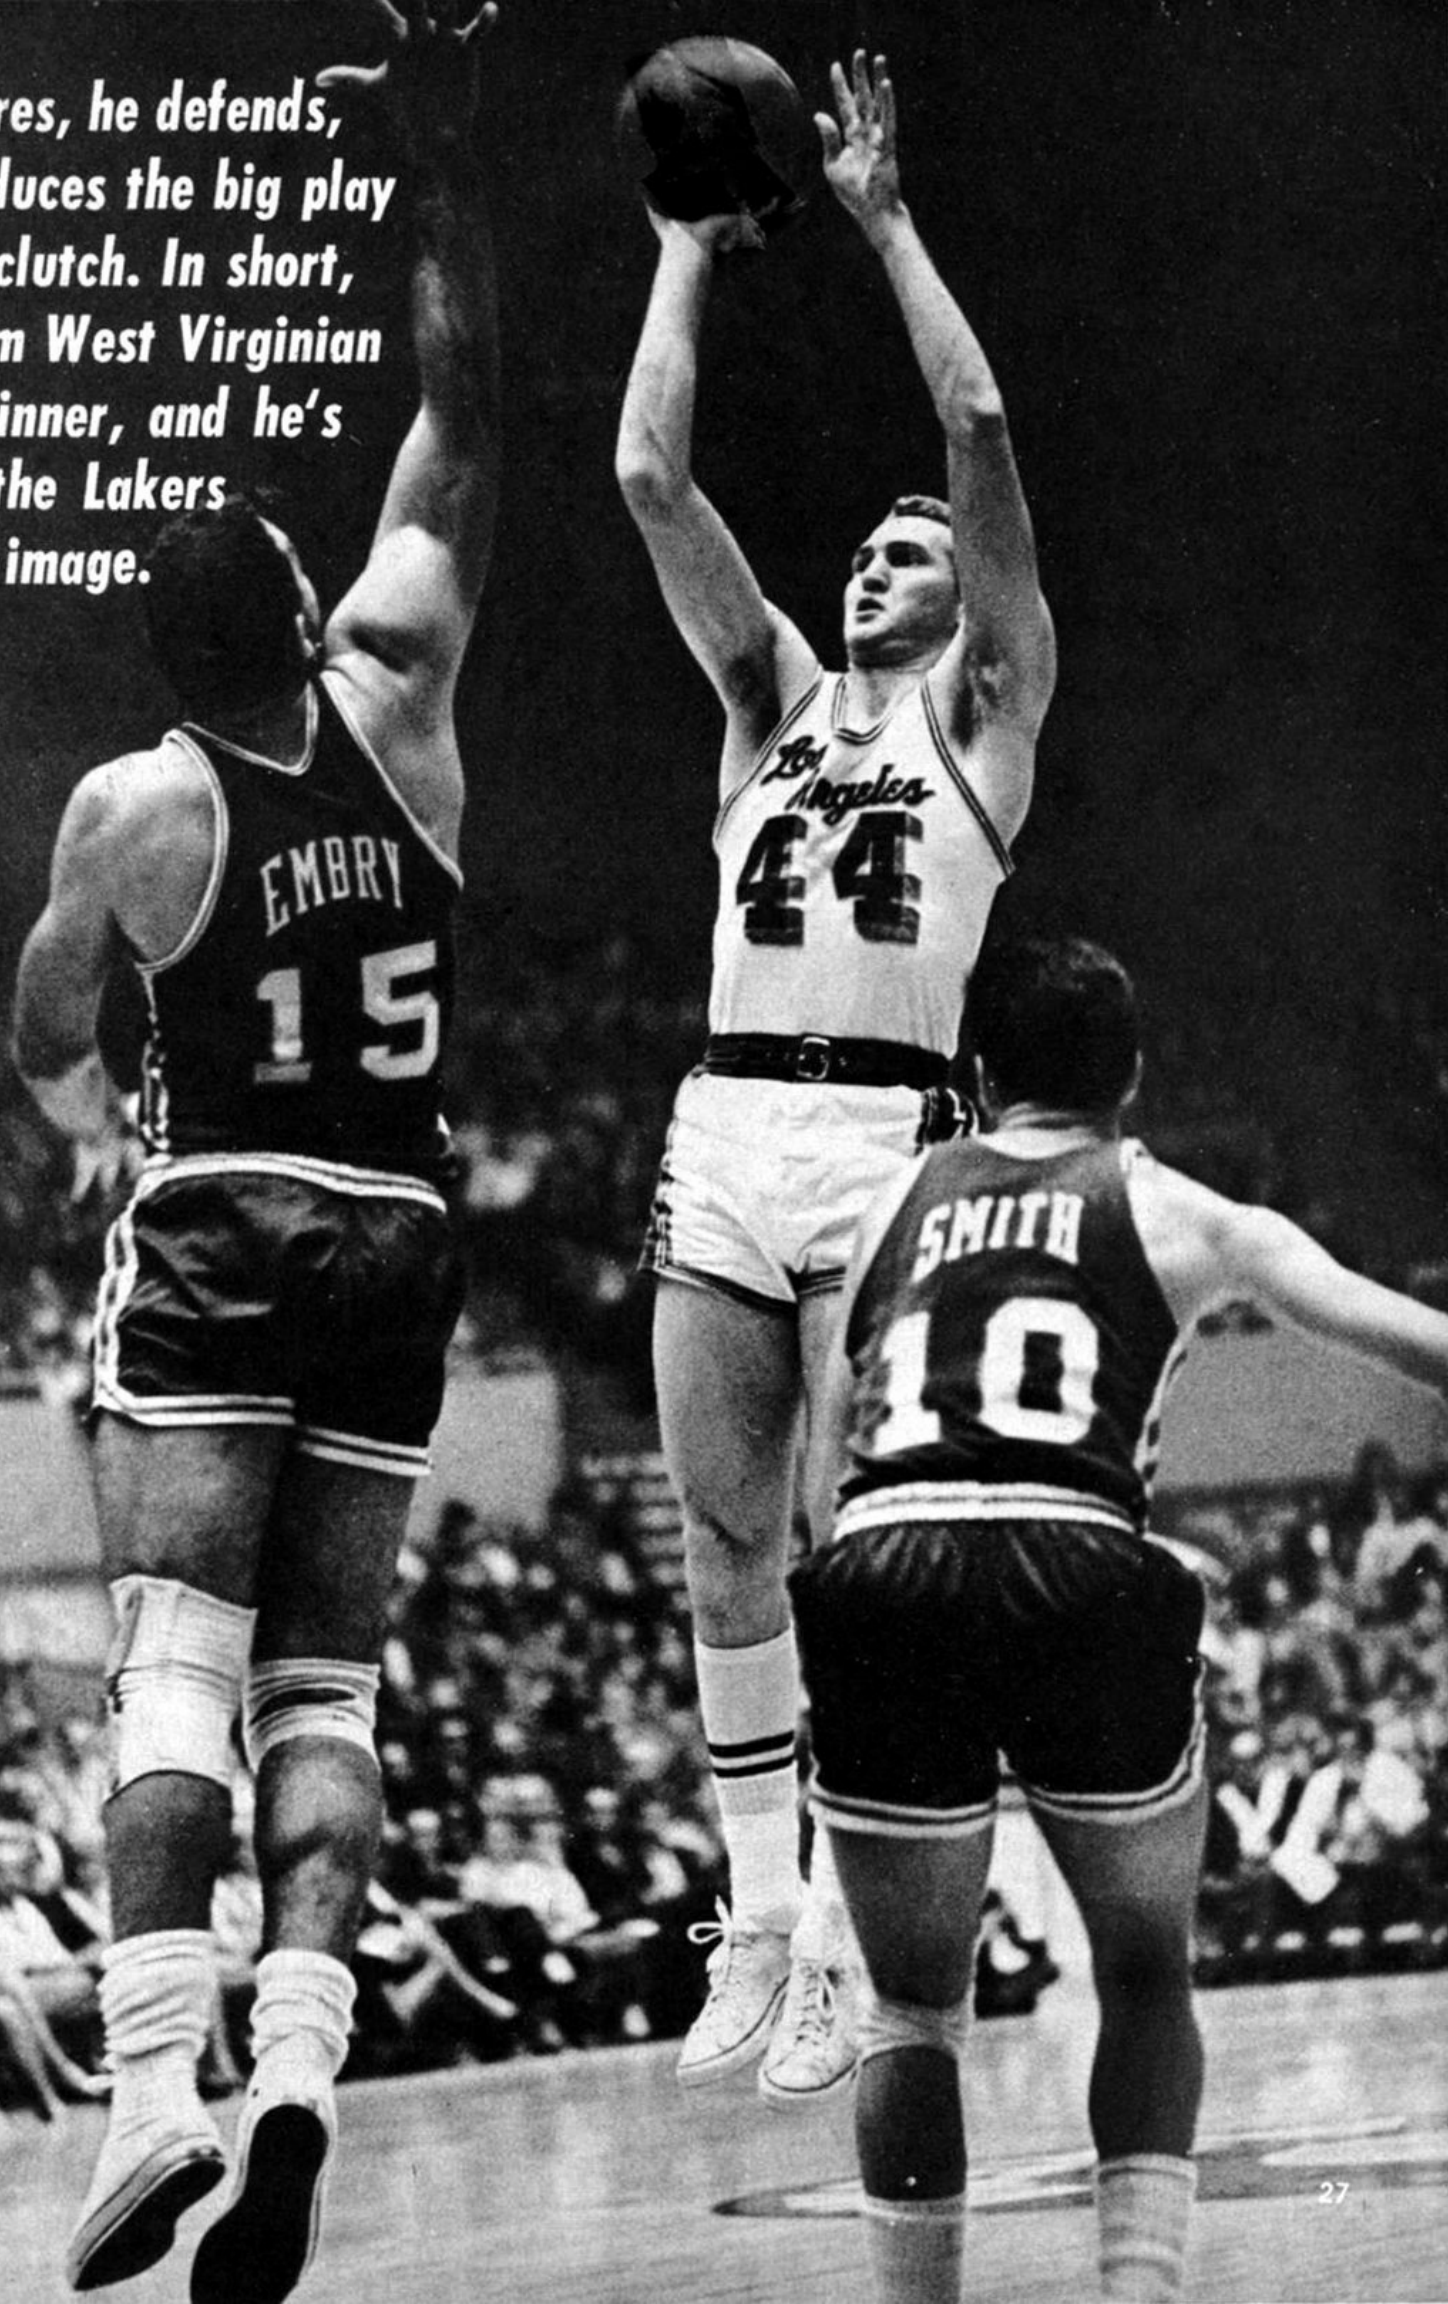

"In at least 30 ballgames," he adds, "he's terrific. And what's more, he seldom has two bad games in a row."

There are nights when Jerry's shooting may be off slightly, but he will still beat a club with his other physical tools.

In another game between the Hawks and Lakers in Memphis last year, Jerry scored only 24 points, hitting a poor (for him) 31 per cent from the floor. He was removed from action in the third quarter and did not return until less than two minutes remained in the game.

That's all the time it took for Jerry to turn defeat into a 108-100 victory. Before you could say Jerry West, he stole the ball four times with some spectacular defensive maneuvers and converted each steal into a Laker score.

One Los Angeles basketball writer, big men, or because of their outstanding reputations in college. True, West was an All-America at West Virginia, but he was only 6-3 and 175 pounds, hardly a big man by professional standards.

Yet Jerry accepted the challenge and made believers out of any who may have been skeptical. In six seasons in the Western Division, West has helped Lakers, it's difficult to list everything," he says. "But basically he's given us a winning club, a determined club and a spirited club. He has also helped make it one of the most successful franchises in the history of the NBA. Jerry, in my book, has made the Lakers an exciting club that wins."

Mohs contends that Jerry's knack of never taking an opponent for granted makes him a great player. "He goes into each game feeling he'll have a bad night," says Mohs. "As a result, he almost always has a good night. He just never underrates his opposition."

The man who knows Jerry West best is coach Fred Schaus, who has been his coach for nine years, including three at West Virginia. In discussing what makes West one of the superstars in pro ball, the husky Laker coach claims that Jerry has the greatest temperament for basketball he has ever seen.

"I think," said Schaus, "that if you sat down to build a 6-foot 3-inch basketball player, you would come up with Jerry West. He has everything. Long arms, a fine shooting touch, speed, quickness, all the physical assets. In addition, he has a tremendous dedication to the game."

"Jerry conditions himself to the game and the situation. If he has a bad game, you know he'll come back and tear you up. He's smart and has great basketball sense. He used to get mad at himself, but he's gotten over that now and his mental approach is perfect."

"The reason he is so good in the clutch is that nothing bothers him. He remains cool because he's concentrating to the utmost."

Both Schaus and Mohs agree that West's consistent greatness is what makes him so valuable to the Lakers. They claim that the Celtics Bill Russell is the only one who would be close to Jerry for consistency. Pound for pound, many NBA observers call Jerry the greatest all-round player in the game.

"Nobody I've seen or have known compares to Jerry," says Mohs, "except maybe George Mikan. But then again, in Mikan's time, there were narrow lanes which helped him because he was so big. Jerry has to do it all himself—without the big advantage of size."

Another factor often overlooked is that most teams double- and triple-team Jerry in an effort to reduce his scoring effectiveness. Last season, when Baylor was sidelined for about a month, West was carrying the entire offensive load by himself.

Jerry is so quick to fit into new situations that Schaus was able to make some important lineup changes during

"If you sat down to build a 6-3 basketball player, you would come up with Jerry West."

Merv Harris, called the performance "typical of how Jerry can completely dominate a game, offensively or defensively."

Unlike many pros in the league, Jerry had to prove himself in his first season. Oscar Robertson, Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell and Elgin Baylor, for example, were all immediate superstars—perhaps because they are all the Lakers to four first-place finishes. He has been named to the All-Star team every season, and has improved his scoring and shooting percentages every year.

Mohs hates to think of what the Lakers would have done without clutch-shooting West, whose reactions are panther-quick.

"Jerry has meant so much to the the 1965-66 season without reducing the effectiveness of the attack. In a game against San Francisco, Schaus moved West up front with Leroy Ellis and Darrall Imhoff and played Jimmy King and Gail Goodrich in the backcourt. This strategy gave the Lakers more speed, and it paid off in a 132-120 Laker victory over the Warriors.

West, adjusting easily, went on a wild scoring spree, hitting 14 of his 39 points in the final 14 minutes to trigger the Laker rally.

Following the game Warrior Coach Alex Hannum just shook his head.

"It must be wonderful to have a Jerry West," he said. "You just can't stop him."

For some strange reason, Jerry always catches fire in December. In 17 games last December, he averaged 36.2 points per night, compared to his season mark of 31.3.

At the free throw line he shot 89 per cent and from the floor he was 48.6 per cent. He had two 51-point nights and six games in which he hit over 40 points. Jerry did the same thing the previous December, which must mean either he reaches a late peak or he's a cold-weather player.

Both 51-point games came against the tough Cincinnati Royals where he was engaged in duels with Robertson, the player he is most often compared to.

On Dec. 24, Jerry hit 16 of 26 shots from the floor and 19 of 20 from the free throw line to outscore Oscar, who hit 48. But Jerry didn't get the help from his teammates, and the Royals won it. Rudy LaRusso's 22 was next highest for the Lakers, while Big O had ample support from Jack Twyman, Jerry Lucas and Happy Hairston.

In the next meeting, a week later in Cincinnati, Jerry again outscored Oscar, 51-31, as the Lakers won, 129-110. Jerry hit a sizzling 21 of 35 from the floor and nine of 11 from the line. Between those big explosions against the Royals, Jerry enjoyed a 46-point night, so all in all, the sharpshooter had himself a very merry Christmas all month.

Mohs says that Jerry and Oscar are the two greatest guards ever to play in the NBA.

"It's hard to separate them," says Mohs, "but Oscar is bigger and stronger and dribbles better. Jerry has other qualities. Jerry has built an image of being a gentleman and he'll never do anything to harm it. He's not only a great competitor, but he's also a great parent to his three sons, and a great outdoorsman.

"Jerry is the quickest jump shooter of all-time. He recoils like a snake when you least expect it, and his long arms and quickness makes it easy for him to steal the ball. Jerry reminds me of a car racing along at maximum speed from the tipoff. He never slows down until the final buzzer."

During last year's championship play-off with Boston, Schaus was forced to move West to a corner to battle John Havlicek, the Celtics' outstanding forward. Havlicek, 6-5½ and 205 pounds, has unusual speed, strength and agility for a man that size. He is considered too fast for most forwards and too big for most guards.

At any rate, Schaus sent his 6-1 guard, Goodrich, into the Laker lineup, replacing 6-7 forward LaRusso, and moved West up front. Goodrich went to the backcourt with King. In addition to West putting the clamps on Havlicek, the maneuver worked another way for Schaus. The Laker lineup could match the Boston speed and tire the Boston veterans, and then West would go back to guard, so he and Baylor could cut loose with the big guns.

Six years after coming into the league, Jerry's hat still falls down over his ears. He came into the pro game as an All-America, an Olympian, a public monument in West Virginia. The Lakers not only hired him, they hired his coach.

"When we drafted West in the spring of 1960," Mohs recalled, "we still didn't have a coach. I asked Bob Short, who was the owner at the time, if I could try to find a coach. Without Jerry, we never would have gotten Fred to leave West Virginia. This is why I claim Jerry meant a lot to the Lakers even before he ever played a game for us. He's had a tremendous influence on the team. And Fred has been a great coach in pro ball. We're extremely fortunate."

When Jerry joined the Lakers, Schaus decided to bring him along slowly, gradually letting him adjust to his new role as a pro. The Lakers were well set at guard with Frank Selvy, Rod Hundley and Bobby Leonard. But by the playoffs in 1961, Jerry had reached some measure of maturity. He averaged 22 points a game compared to his season mark of 17.6.

His second year was when he arrived as a superstar. Baylor was in the service much of the time and Jerry was forced to carry the Laker offense. He responded by hitting 30.8 points per game, nearly beating the Celtics in the playoffs and earning an All-Star berth for himself.

The big difference between Baylor and West is that Elgin arrived in pro ball as an older, stronger, bigger and more experienced player. Mohs says Elgin was a mature and finished player when he came to a Minneapolis Laker team that was a losing club. "Elg was an immediate superstar and has continued in that role for us," says Mohs. "Jerry's rise to stardom was under different circumstances."

"You just can't stop West," says a rival.

For all his success, Jerry is still a small-town boy at heart. In last season's All-Star game, he was injured when Boston's Russell accidentally poked a finger in his eye. Jerry was forced to leave the lineup and even sat out the next Laker game which was against the Celtics. That night, after the game, West revealed Russell had called him.

"He told me he was sorry it had to happen," said Jerry. "It means something when a guy like that calls you."

West gets embarrassed easily, but he has a good sense of humor. One day while sitting at home in Los Angeles with his wife, Jane, there was a knock at the door. When Jerry went to open the door, he found a small boy, about five, who smiled up at him and asked for his autograph. Jerry obliged, and returned to the TV set. A few minutes later, another knock. This time, a seven-year old boy was asking for his autograph. When Jerry opened the door a third time and found another autograph-seeker, he was convinced something was up. After some questioning, he discovered his son, David, 5, has been selling his daddy's autographs to youngsters in the neighborhood at five cents apiece. Red-faced, he laughed and then chided his son for putting such a low price tag on his dad.

Jerry is highly regarded, not only by his own coach and teammates, but around the league, as well. Bill Sharman, former great Boston guard, recently paid West some glowing compliments.

"I'm always asked to compare West and Robertson," he said, "and I say that Oscar can do more things, passing and dribbling especially. But when you get down to the other end of the court

West is something else again.

"Certainly, he blocks more shots than any other guard ever and more than most centers. Then, too, he breaks up a lot of plays. He's so quick it's amazing. Nobody ever could get away good shots as fast as he does. And in the clutch, he's just too much."

In a game last season between the Lakers and the Royals, Jerry and Oscar were matched against each other in a battle of stars and in this particular contest, Jerry came out on top. He outscored Oscar 42 to 32, but more importantly, he was a standout on defense.

With about five minutes left in the third quarter, Schaus became desperate because Robertson was so easily eluding Walt Hazzard and King, so he decided to put West on Big O.

"I sure hated to do that when Jerry had the hot hand like that," Schaus said. "I would like to have Jerry guard Oscar all the time, but it takes too much out of him."

West agreed with his coach.

"I got tired awful fast," said West, who was able to force Oscar to work harder and begin to miss shots he had made earlier. "You have to concentrate on Oscar even at the cost of less concentration on your own shooting. You try to get position on him and do your best."

West has made believers out of the Boston Celtics in the playoffs. K. C. Jones, one of the best defensive guards in the game, has been aware of Jerry's outstanding ability all along but after Jerry scored 45 points in a losing cause, he was really convinced.

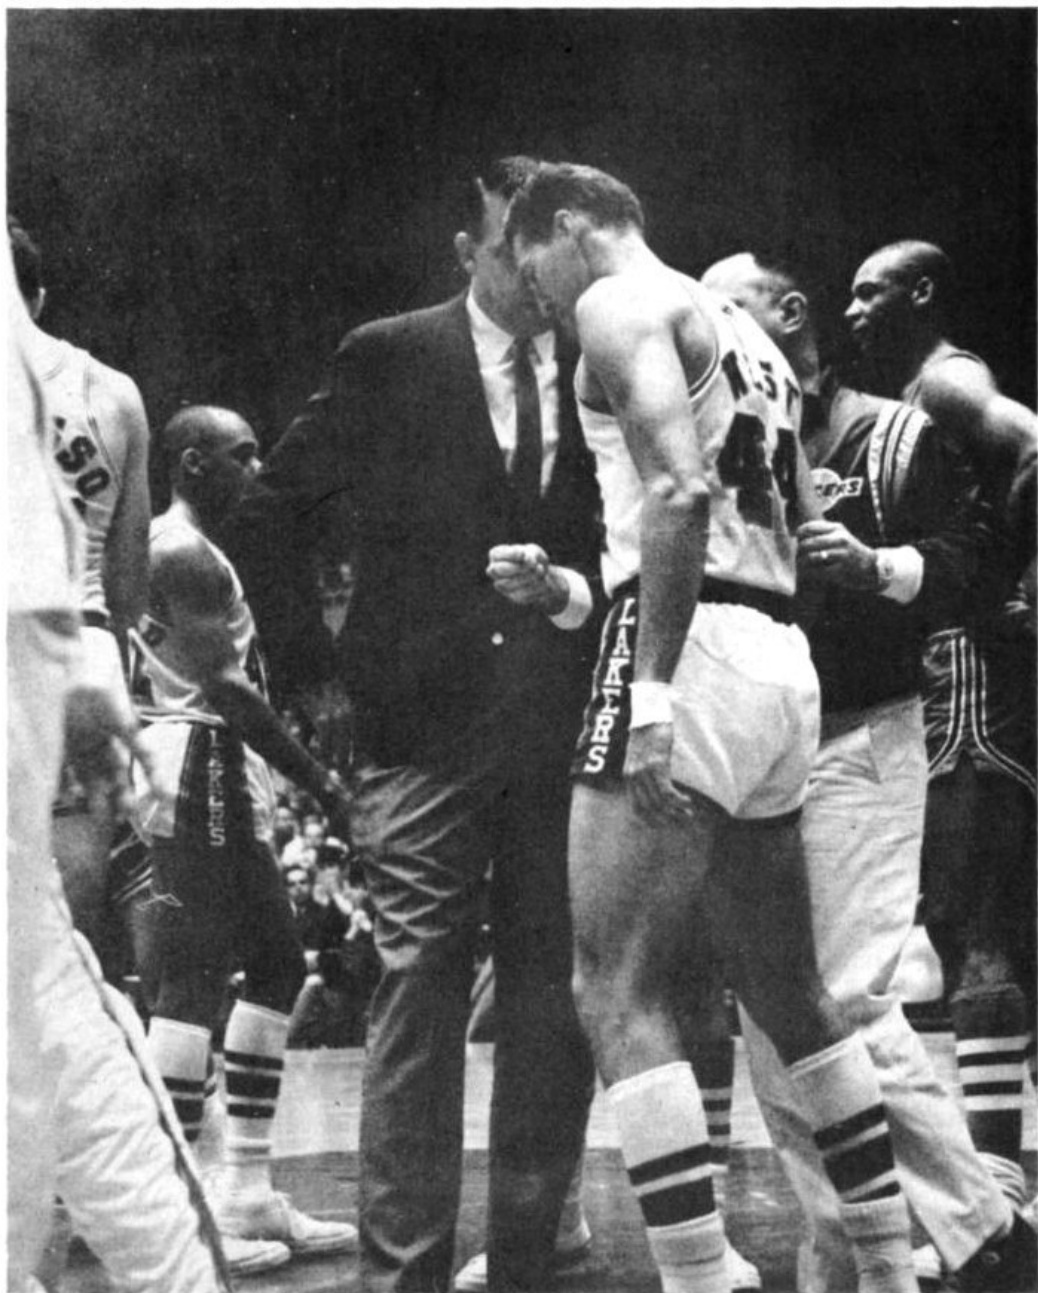

"Now I'm positive," said Jones, "you only stop Jerry when he's having an off night. On a night when he has his quickness, the only thing you can do is try to hold him under 36 points."

"Robertson is just as tough, but the problems are different. The thing that makes it rough against Jerry is that he can move so well without the ball. He scores a lot of his points because he moves so well when he doesn't control it."

Boston Coach Red Auerbach, who retired after last year's playoffs, conceded that the Laker star was "phenomenal despite the fact we did on a fine job on him. But he kept getting better. I don't know any way to stop him."

Jerry has meant a lot to the Lakers since 1960 when he came up as a skinny youngster. The Lakers know that he'll continue his greatness. Only 28, he keeps getting better from year to year. And with his help, one of these years, the Lakers will wrest the championship from the Celtics and bring it out West.

West has reputation around NBA for rising to greatest heights when going is toughest.

NBA PLAYER RATINGS

By Nat Broudy

(Editor's Note: The originator of this rating system has been a veteran basketball observer for over 25 years. He has seen all the great ones, from the birth of professional basketball until now. His observations are well respected in basketball circles.)

PERFORMANCE RATINGS

Points		Total
4	Excellent	17-20
3	Good	13-16
2	Fair	10-12
1	Adequate	5-9

Is there such a thing as a perfect player? The answer is yes and he performs in the National Basketball Association. He's not Wilt Chamberlain or Bill Russell, the two highest paid stars of the NBA. He can do more things with a basketball than either of them and when you total it all up, shooting, rebounding, passing, foul shooting, defense, it comes out Oscar Robertson.

If there is anyone else who is a picture of fluid perfection we haven't found him. This best describes Robertson. Out of a possible 20 points, the brilliant Cincinnati guard scored 20. It is a rare achievement, yet that is what Robertson is, one in a million.

The ratings were based on individual performance which was scored under normal game conditions throughout the course of last season. Bear in mind that the point system reflects individual play only and is not influenced by a respective player's contribution on a team level. It still comes out Robertson.

1966-67 ALL AMERICANS

LEW ALCINDOR

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
7-1½	Soph	UCLA	33.1

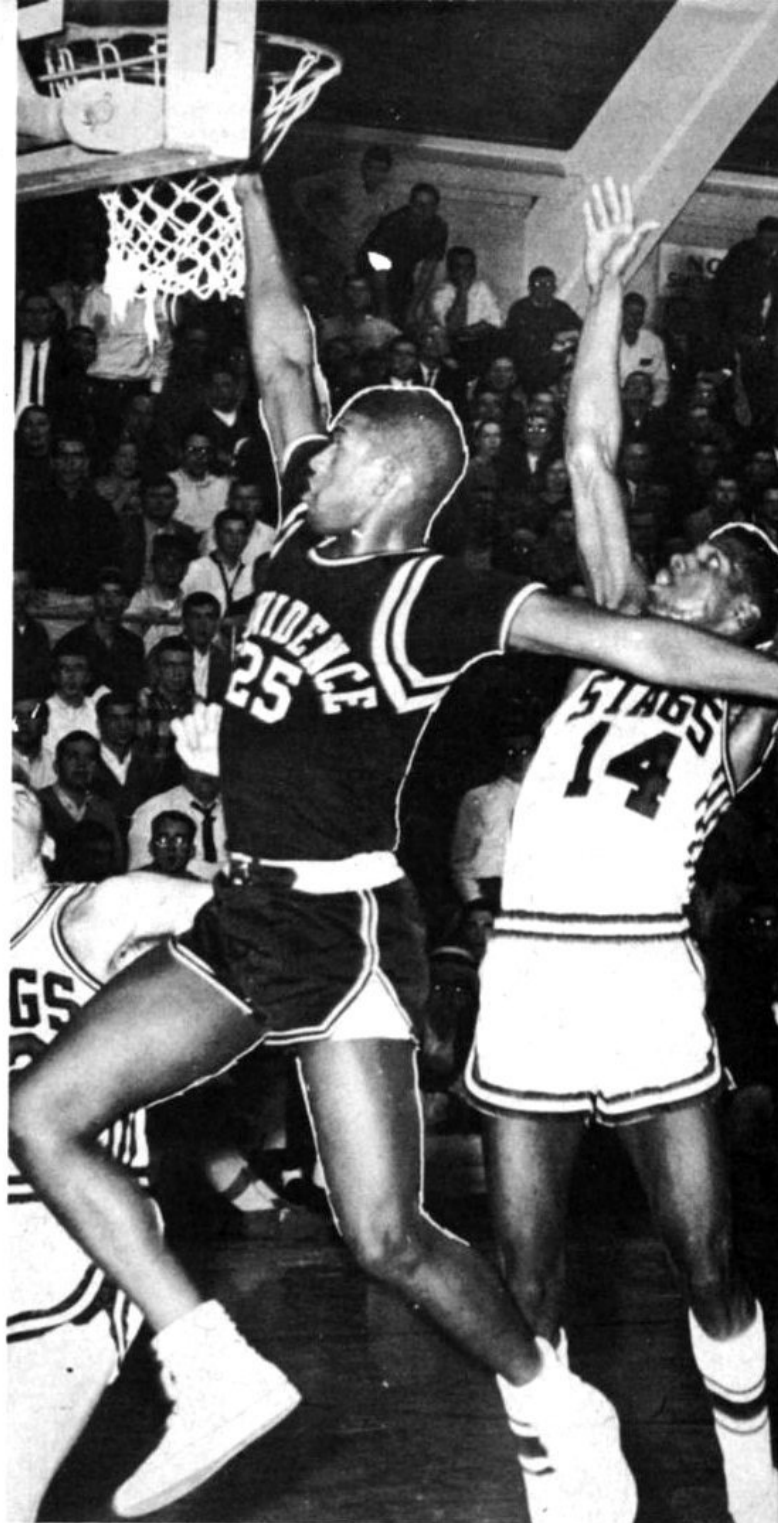

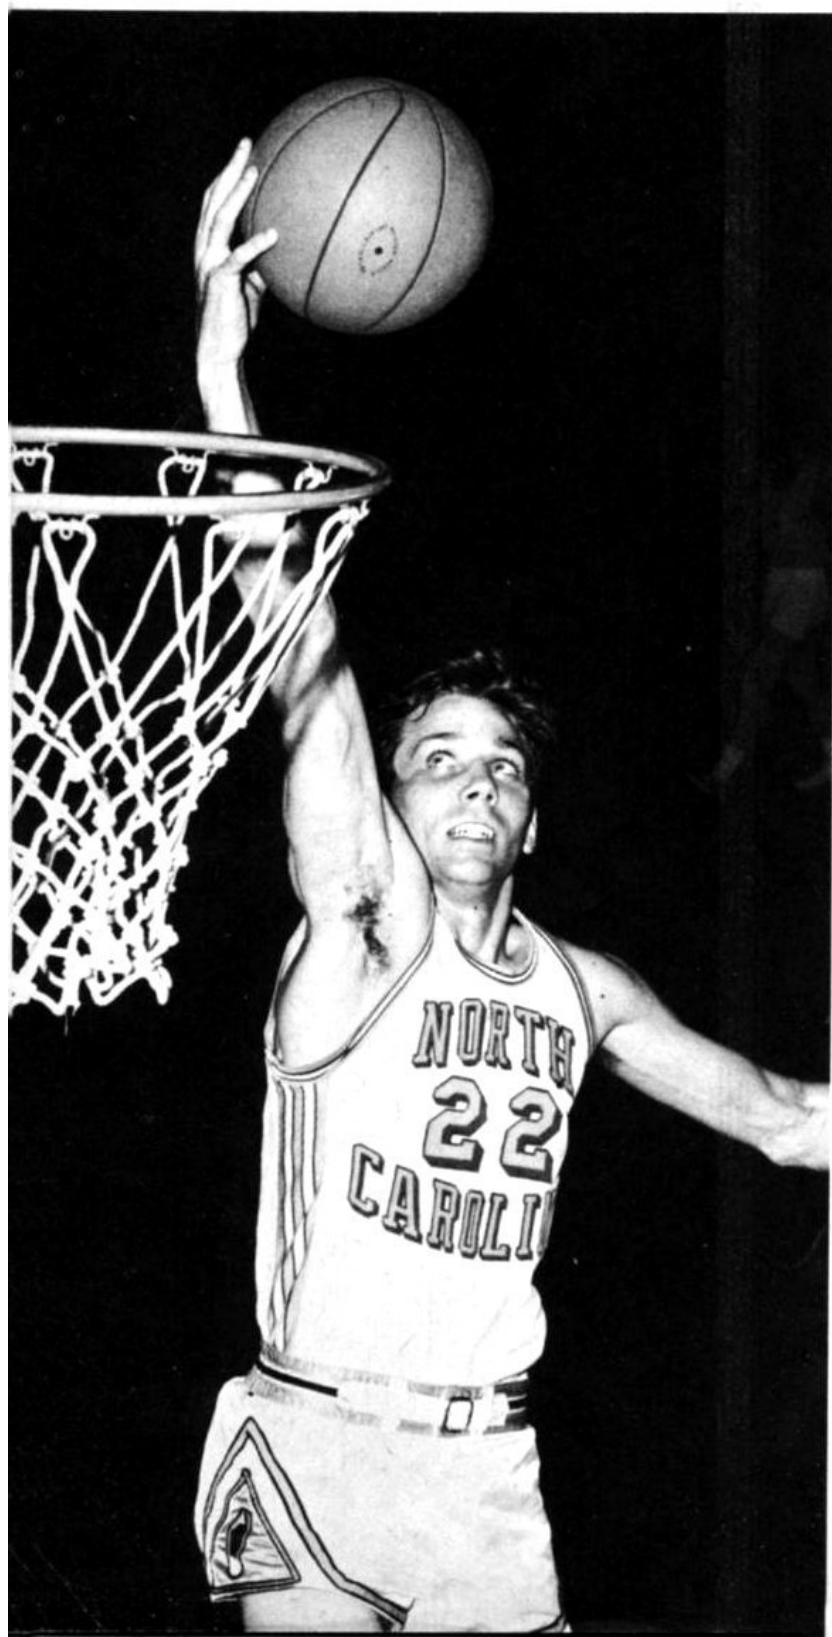

Here may be the most successful basketball player of all time. And he's yet to play a varsity game. Towering Lew, out of New York City, has been compared to Philadelphia giant Wilt Chamberlain, the most prolific scorer in pro basketball history. Alcindor led a formidable UCLA freshman team to an undefeated record last season and easily dominated play with his scoring and his rebounding. The big guy is a good shooter and he moves well for his size. UCLA coaches have taught him how to get their famed fast break underway and they've started to polish his offensive and defensive moves. No wonder rival coaches are conceding the NCAA title to UCLA for the next three years.

JIMMY WALKER

Hgt, 6-3	Class Senior	School Providence	Avg. 24.5
-------------	-----------------	----------------------	--------------

Walker controls the pace of an offense the way Oscar Robertson does. He brings the ball up and has no trouble picking his way upcourt through heavy traffic. Then, dribbling purposefully, he makes the plays for the Friars. He has an uncanny gift for spotting the open man—and threading a pass through to him. And Walker can shoot accurately from outside and from in close. He's especially valuable in the last few minutes of close ballgames because of the pressure he puts on the defenders. He averaged 20.5 points a game as a sophomore and did even better last season. When this year is over, he might well be the top pick by the pros.

BOB LEWIS

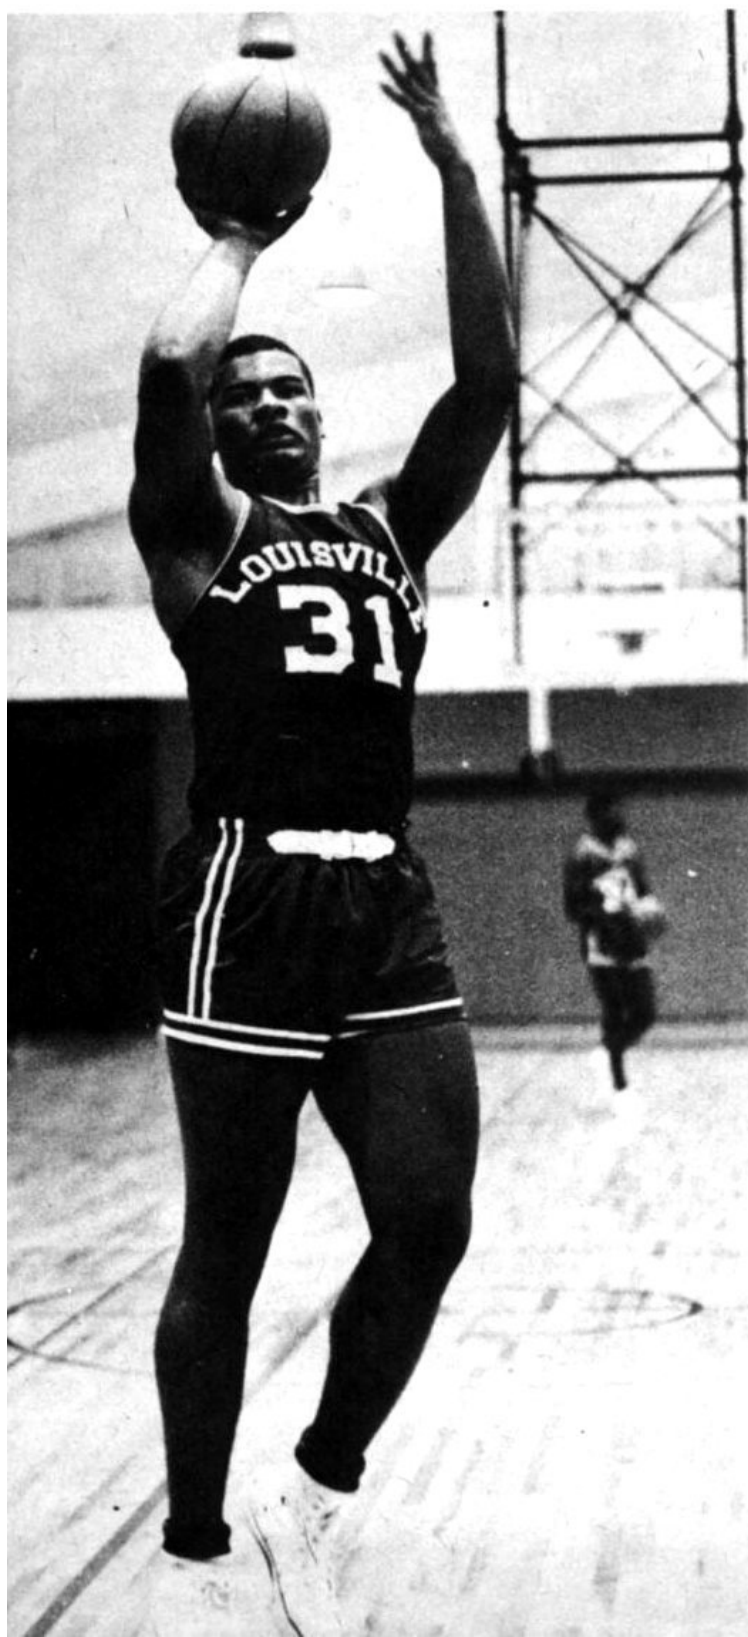

Hgt, 6-3	Class Senior	School North Carolina	Avg. 27.4
-------------	-----------------	--------------------------	--------------

A fluid performer—and an obvious superstar from his first varsity ballgame—Bob stepped in as a sophomore and averaged 21 points a game for the Tarheels even though he had to play in the shadow of All-America Billy Cunningham. Last year, with Cunningham gone, Lewis got all the attention he deserves. He increased his scoring average considerably and impressed observers with his smooth play at both ends of the court. Lewis is endowed with exceptional jumping ability and is so versatile he can play up front or in backcourt. He's a deadly shooter and will key a Tarheel offense that should be one of the strongest in the nation this season.

Hgt, 6-3	Class Senior	School Kentucky	Avg. 21.9
-------------	-----------------	--------------------	--------------

Pat's a splendid athlete (an excellent quarterback) who has the knack of producing the clutch play whenever the Wildcats need it. Riley makes the plays all over the court. Though only 6-3, he has extraordinary spring and is a strong boardman for Kentucky. Not only will he get the rebounds, but he will also use his fine speed and basketball sense to lead the Wildcats' break up the floor. He has a deft touch on a medium-range jump shot and is tough to stop when he drives for the basket. Riley has improved with each season of play under coach Adolph Rupp and he has done so against the consistently high-caliber opponents Kentucky plays.

WES UNSELD

Hgt, 6-8	Class Junior	School Louisville	Avg. 19.9
-------------	-----------------	----------------------	--------------

Big Wes impresses basketball observers right away with his muscular build and his agility. They could hardly wait to see what he'd do in varsity competition after averaging 35.8 points a game as a freshman two years ago. Unseld showed them—and he did so in the Missouri Valley Conference, annually one of the toughest leagues in the nation. He scored nearly 20 points per game, and he was ferocious under the boards. He was named the MVC's Sophomore of the Year and he played so well in the National Invitational Tournament that he was picked for the All-Tourney team. He has two seasons ahead of him and should develop into a hot pro prospect.

ALL SECTIC

EAST

CLIFF ANDERSON

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-4	Senior	St. Joseph's	17.9

Though lacking real size, Cliff pulled down 409 rebounds last year. He scores well from in close and does a fine job on defense.

SONNY DOVE

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-7	Senior	St. John's	21.2

He's swift, is an exceptional leaper (14.5 rebounds per game last year), and has a delicate shooting touch. He's aggressive and seems to produce best when the challenge is greatest.

DAVE NEWMARK

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
7-0 1/4	Junior	Columbia	22.9

The Lions' big center came back from a serious off-season hand injury to excel last year as a sophomore. Though unpolished, he still demonstrated he could score consistently.

MAL GRAHAM

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-1	Senior	NYU	24.3

Graham flowered last season as a backcourt player who can control a ballgame. He passes and shoots well and is hard to stop one-on-one.

HUBIE MARSHALL

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-0	Senior	LaSalle	26.9

Hubie is a flashy guard who can break a game wide open with his sharpshooting and his speed. He's one of the East's most prolific backcourt scorers.

SOUTH

LARRY MILLER

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-3	Junior	North Carolina	20.9

Miller, smooth and poised, won designation last year as the Atlantic Coast Conference's Sophomore of the Year. He seems at ease whether playing at guard or at forward.

MIKE LEWIS

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-7	Junior	Duke	13.9

Mike's girth—he's 230 pounds—and his determination make him a strong rebounder. He has some good moves underneath and should step up his scoring pace in '66-67.

ROD KNOWLES

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-9	Junior	Davidson	19.4

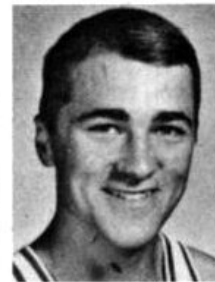

Though teamed up front last year with All-America Dick Snyder, Knowles still had a successful sophomore campaign. He scored, rebounded, and made the All-Southern Conference second team.

LOU DAMPIER

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-0	Senior	Kentucky	21.1

Lou's one of the best guards in the nation. He's an accurate long-distance shooter, and he's got the quickness to break free underneath.

BOB VERGA

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-0	Senior	Duke	18.5

He's an extraordinary outside shooter and can hit while covered or while off-balance. Bob improved his defense and was honored last year as the AAC's MVP.

NAL TEAMS

MIDWEST

RICHIE JONES

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-3	Junior	Illinois	21.2

Jones, though a bit short at 6-3, does his job off the backboards and gives the Illinois consistent point production. Richie was honorable mention All-Conference last year.

DON MAY

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-4	Junior	Dayton	20.3

May scored well on the same front-line last season with All-America Henry Finkel, the 6-11 center. Don should do better now that Finkel's gone.

BILL HOSKET

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-7	Junior	Ohio State	18.5

Bill's the hub of a young Buckeye club that will need his steady hand. He's got sound moves to the basket and is a reliable scorer.

JIM BURNS

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-4	Senior	Northwestern	20.2

A classy guard, Burns directs the Northwestern attack and furnished sharp outside shooting. He was fifth-leading scorer in the Big Ten.

VERN PAYNE

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
5-10	Junior	Indiana	14.2

Vern's a solid performer all over the court. Third-team All-Big Ten a year ago, the veteran guard should get more notice in '66-67 for his versatility and leadership.

SOUTHWEST

DARRELL HARDY

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-7	Senior	Baylor	20.7

Twice All-Conference, talented Darrell has given Baylor yeoman service as a shooter and rebounder. Finally, this year there's promise of more support.

RANDY MATSON

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-6½	Junior	Texas A&M	8.2

World-renowned as a shotputter, Matson is also a horse under the basket for the Aggies. League's Soph of the Year, he could lead '66-67 team to title—if he plays.

ELVIN HAYES

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-9	Junior	Houston	27.2

He's one of the nation's top centers. Hayes averaged 16.9 rebounds per game in addition to his hot scoring pace. He's got size, speed, and agility.

BOBBY JOE HILL

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
5-10	Senior	Texas Western	15.0

The "quarterback" for the NCAA champions, Hill was also the team's high scorer. He has good jump shot, blazing speed, and a stunning assortment of driving shots.

CHARLEY BEASLEY

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-4	Senior	SMU	18.7

He was All-Southwest Conference last season—and with good reason. He plays backcourt with savvy and gives the Mustangs' long-range scoring threat.

MIDLANDS

JAMIE THOMPSON

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-4	Senior	Wichita State	22.4

Thompson's a great leaper and is tough to defense in close to the basket. He was the leading scorer in the formidable Missouri Valley Conference.

JOE ALLEN

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-6½	Junior	Bradley	18.5

Joe gets his way in backcourt scrambles because of his muscle. He's an aggressive player who can be depended upon to get his points and rebounds night after night.

MEL DANIELS

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-9	Senior	New Mexico	21.2

Mel's a graceful ballplayer. He dominates a game with his sweeping rebounds off both boards and his effective maneuvers underneath.

GARY GRAY

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-1	Senior	Oklahoma City	21.1

Gary's a deadly outside shooter. Even more will be expected of him this year since the Chiefs lost several key veterans from last year's strong ballclub.

ROLAND WEST

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-4	Senior	Cincinnati	15.5

He gives Cincy size and experience in the backcourt. He directs the Bearcat attack and is a steady scorer. His eligibility runs out a month before end of season.

FAR WEST

TOM WORKMAN

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-7	Senior	Seattle	22.1

He is a strong rebounder and an improving scorer. Tom averaged 15.5 points a game as a sophomore and raised his mark nearly six points as a junior.

MIKE LYNN

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-7	Senior	UCLA	16.8

An All-Conference performer, Mike's good off the boards and helps ignite UCLA fast break with his running and shooting. He's quick on defense, too.

RUSS CRITCHFIELD

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
5-10	Junior	California	15.0

Second-team All-AAWU a year ago, Russ is handy man to have around. He's a clever ballhandler and was the top scorer for California in '65-66.

JIM MCKEAN

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
6-9	Junior	Washington State	16.9

Big Jim was just a sophomore last year, but still finished first in the AAWU in rebounding. He's still learning and will be the rallying point for a promising Cougar squad.

MIKE WARREN

Hgt.	Class	School	Avg.
5-11	Junior	UCLA	16.6

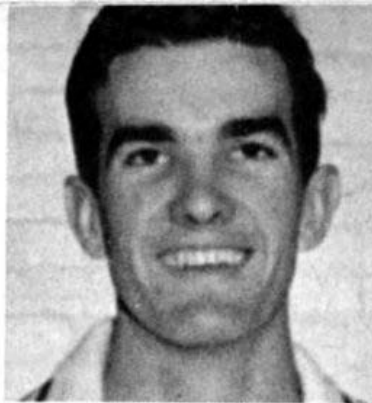

Warren's the seasoned backcourtman who'll set things up for Alcindor and Co. He's well-schooled, quick, and a good scorer. He was second-team All-AAWU last season.

ABILENE CHRISTIAN (Southland) — The Wildcats are weaker than last year when they produced a 21-7 record to win the conference championship and the NCAA's Southwest regional crown. Gone, is the front line of 6-8 Charlie Cleek (17.3), 6-4 Terry Priest (11.4) and 6-7 Jerry Morgan (11.5). The playmakers, Larry Adams (7.8) and John Ray Godfrey (12.1), an all-conference selection, are back. So is 6-7 Dave Wray (11.4), who will operate in the pivot. He set a school field goal percentage record with .631. A couple of 6-6 sophs, Marion Lewis and Allen Norman, are going against 6-7 Wendell Stewart (2.9) and 6-5 Jerry Burk, who failed to score at all, for the forward spots.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY (Independent)—Stronger in ball-handling, shooting and rebounding but a little weaker on experience. That is how Bob Spear eyes the Falcons who posted a 14-12 record last winter. Gone from the squad are 6-5 Sam Peshut (16.1), 6-4 Ed Sullivan (14.0), 5-9 Tom Markham (12.0) and 6-5 Marty Andrade (7.3). Three holdovers are going to start—6-4 Fred Budinger (12.5) and Eli Bebout (3.3) up front and Pete Hugdahl (6.3) as a guard. Height is something that the Air Force never enjoyed but all that will be changed this time with 6-9 soph Cliff Parsons, who had a 22-point average with last year's freshman team that posted a 12-1 record, best ever in the school's history, in the pivot. Larry Wiseburn (14.4) is the other newcomer who will play alongside Hugdahl. For a bench, and added height, Spear has 6-7 holdover Walt Edgerly (2.5) and 6-6 soph Mike Thiessen (9.7).

ALABAMA (Southeastern) The Crimson Tide could be the dark horse in the conference race if the big sophomores come through. Hayden Riley is counting on three newcomers to better last season's 16-10 record. They are Jerry Elliott, a 6-3½ guard who averaged over 27 points in one year of junior college ball, and two sophs, 6-7 Richie Deppe (16.4 with the frosh) at center and 6-8 Burt Caldwell (14.3). Guy Turner (18.3) returns at forward and Mike Nordholz (18.3) is the playmaker. Both are juniors. Reserves up front are 6-6 Joe McDaniel (4.3) and 6-5 Tom Jones (8.8).

AMERICAN U. (Middle Atlantic) — The Eagles join the conference for the first time with seven lettermen returning from last year's squad which went 8-14. Three sophomores—Terry Hill (21.2 with the frosh), Will Jiorle (11.8) and Bert Coppack (8.9)—give coach Alan Kyber some added strength in the backcourt. They are battling holdovers Ray Ruhling (13.9) and Bob Veldran (6.8) for the starting berths. Kyber is well set up front with 7-1 Art Beatty (15.0), 6-7 Gary Horkey (9.0) and 6-5 Wilfred Lucas (15.5), the team's leading scorer. Beatty, who pulled down 278 rebounds, also had a good eye from the floor with a .591 average. The Eagle coach feels that the young junior could easily develop into one of the best big men in the East.

ARIZONA (Western A.C.) — The Wildcats do not figure to claw much this winter. Mike Aboud (8.5), a 6-5 senior, is the only starter returning from last season's 15-11 squad. The four players who have graduated all wound up in double figures with 6-5 Ted Pickett (16.5) being tops. The only other player with experience of any kind is 6-5 Dick Root (5.2) and he will be with Aboud at forward. Mike Kordik, who is 6-8, and Gerry Jacobs, two inches shorter, are in contention at center but neither scored anything worthwhile. A couple of sophs are moving up from the freshman club to take over as playmakers. They are Bradley Greene (21.2) and Mike Welton (21.1). Help up front should come from four transfers—6-7 Bill Davis, Wayne McDonald and Roger Brautigan, both 6-3, and 6-4 Ralph Miller. While not a contender, the Wildcats, says coach Bruce Larson, should be "interesting."

ARIZONA STATE, Tempe (WAC)—The Sun Devils won the conference championship twice, shared the title on two other occasions and finished second once in six seasons under Ned Wulk. Little wonder then that last year's overall 12-14 record and 3-7 mark in the league are being considered as "one of those things." Lack of experience is going to be the big drawback for Arizona State, which only has two starters back—6-1 guard Frank Bailey (5.8) and 6-6 Mike Lange (7.3), a forward. Jim Altengarten, who served as manager last year, is a 6-5 transfer from Wake Forest and 6-5 Willie Hearnton is eligible after switching from Valley (Calif.) College. They could complete the front line. Another man in the pivot picture is 6-11 soph Bob Edwards who was 11.9 with the freshmen. Up front from the same frosh team that went 18-3, best in the school for five years, is Willie Harris (16.0).

ARMY (Independent)—Can Bobby Knight match that 18-8 record and excellent showing he produced for the Cadets in the NIT as a first-year coach? The assignment is going to be pretty rough when you consider that Bill Helkie (14.6), Mike Silliman (22.2) and Dick Murray (10.6) have graduated. Army gains some height in 6-6 sophomore Steve Hunt who is moving into the starting lineup up front with 6-2 Bill Schutsky (13.9), but it also is playing a very rough schedule that includes Purdue and Ohio State of the Big Ten and the Charlotte Invitation Tournament. Knight has 6-5 Mike Noonan (10.6), who did a great job in place of the injured Silliman in the closing stages of the season, in the middle, and as playmakers he has a soph, Mike Krzyewski to go with Ed Jordan (5.4). Dave Groff, who is 6-5, and Rick Simmons and Gary Eiber, both an inch taller, are some big sophs who should make this the tallest Cadet team in history. Now for some experience and scoring.

BALDWIN WALLACE (Ohio) — Hugh Thompson has eight veterans returning from a squad that was 12-13 overall and 10-7 in the strong Ohio Conference. As a result of the year's experience, the Yellow-Jackets' coach expects to be in the thick of things in the league. Dick Scott (18.3) leads four double-figure scorers on the squad. Terry Allerton, a 6-7 junior (14.2), will be at center although Ted Johnson (12.7), a 6-5 soph who played on the varsity last winter, is right in the picture, too. Harvey Hopson (11.6), a 6-4 soph who also was on the varsity as a frosh, and two 6-4 juniors, Don Brown (7.6) and Ray Hereford (6.7), will fight it out for the assignments up front. Joining Scott in backcourt is Dave Dudik (3.5), and 6-3 Tom Morris, a junior college product. To bolster the attack at forward, Thompson has two graduates from the freshman team, 6-5 Bourbon Zeigler (12.7), and 6-4 Bob Harriger (15.1).

BATES (Maine Intercollegiate) — Bill Beisswanger (20.3), all-time scoring leader for the Bobcats, has graduated and that leaves the team considerably weaker than the squad which finished 11-10 last year. Five veterans are going to start but only one, 6-5 center Ken Lynch (1.7), is over six feet. Howie Alexander (20.0) and Jim Alden (5.3), 5-10 and 5-11, respectively, are up front so it is easy to realize the height problem. Ira Mahakian (1.8) and Marc Schulkin (13.3) are the guards.

BAYLOR (Southwest) — Help has arrived for 6-7 forward Darrell Hardy (20.7), who no longer will have to carry the burden by himself. Ed Thorpe (14.0), a 6-5 transfer from San Joaquin (Calif.) J.C., is going to join the two-time All-Conference selection up front while 6-6 soph Steve Bartels (25.3 as a frosh) takes over in the middle. Jimmy Turner (13.9) and Bob Porter (5.2) return in backcourt from last season's 8-16 squad. Randy Thompson (12.8), who was "red shirted" last season, is another soph who could help.

BOSTON COLLEGE (Independent) — All-American John Austin (25.4) and playmaker Ed Hockenbury (7.0) have graduated from Bob Cousy's club that went 21-5 while enroute to winning the Beanpot Tournament and gaining a berth in the NIT. Despite these setbacks, The Cooz thinks the upcoming squad will be of the best balanced since he left the Boston Celtics to take charge of the Eagles. Steve Adelman (20.1) and 6-8 Jim Kissane (6.5), now out of the dog house, are up front. Willie Wolters (14.0), who grabbed 431 rebounds for a school one-year standard, returns at center. The 6-8 senior has been a starter there ever since joining the varsity. Doug Hice (8.6), Steve Kelleher (5.0) and Jack Kvancz (4.2) are in the scramble for the backcourt. So is soph Billy Evans (17.0) while 6-7 Terry Driscoll (26.0), another standout with the freshmen, figures to give plenty of help to the forward line.

BOWDOIN (Maine Intercollegiate) — The Polar Bears were quite cold last winter when they went a poor 5-16 but they should be a lot warmer this winter thanks to a bright crop of sophomores. Right now only one of them, 6-5 John McKenzie (13.1 with the frosh) is going to start and he will be at center. However, the other three—guards Andy Neher (19.5) and Ed McFarland (17.9) and forward Mike Princi (17.4) — give the little school in Maine a bench, something that it has not enjoyed in a while. Frank Eighme, a transfer, and Bruce Locke (9.7) are up front, while Larry Reid (9.5), the captain, and Bob Patterson (18.1), All-State, are the playmakers.

BOWLING GREEN (Mid-American) — The Falcons are going to be big and slow and able to score. That should mean a good improvement over last year's 9-15. The front line has 6-8 Walt Piatkowski (18.4), All-Conference selection, 6-3 Sam Mims (7.3) and 6-9 Al Dixon (7.1). Backing them up are 6-9 Phil Benedict, a transfer from Duke, and 6-5 veteran Dan Rinicella (3.7). Sophomore Dick Rudgers (19.5) is breaking in at backcourt along with Richie Hendrix (10.5).

BRADLEY (Missouri Valley) — "Less rebounding, less experience, less speed, less bench strength, less everything. This could be the year the opponents have been waiting for." That is the way Joe Stowell describes the outlook for the Braves, who went 21-6 last season. L.C. Bowen (23.8), up from the frosh team, a 6-4 forward, is moving into the starting lineup with four holdovers. Joe Allen, a 6-6½ junior, scored at an 18.5 clip in the pivot last year while Walt Slater (3.5) is the other man up front. Alex McNutt (8.6) and Bob Swigris (1.7) are the playmakers. It is evident that there is not much scoring punch among the starting group and it will be a while before the sophs—6-9 John Buch, 6-5 Rick Anheuser, 6-0 Al Smith and 5-10 Dave Lundstrom develop.

BRANDEIS (Independent)—The picture was so bad last year that the Judges went with freshmen and gained nothing but experience as evidenced by the 3-16 record. K.C. Jones of the Boston Celtics, who is quitting the NBA after this year to take over as coach, is going to work on the squad's defense in pre-season drills with the interim man, Hubie LeBlanc. Two of the freshmen who started last year, 6-9 center Tom Haggerty (9.4) and playmaker Steve Katzman (17.8), who set a school record with an average of 6.3 assists, are going to start again. The rest of the lineup has 6-3 Jack Rovner (9.8) and 6-6 Dave Jacobson (10.0) up front and Barry Zimmerman (20.0) and a senior, as guard. A good bench is the biggest need.

BRIGHAM YOUNG (Western) — Stan Watts has lost three standouts from the team that won the NIT and posted a final record of 20-5. And the three are going to be tough to replace. Dick Nemelka (24.0) and Jeff Congdon (16.0) were the playmakers on the team that walloped NYU in the NIT finals, while 6-5 Steve Kramer (18.3) played up front and was regarded as one of the best rebounders in the country for his size. While the coach moans the loss of the trio, he is not exactly going to get much sympathy from his confreres since the three 6-11 centers, Craig Raymond (7.5), Jim Eakins (6.0) and Orville Fisher (2.0) are back and joined by 6-10 Paul Loveday, who is a transfer from Bakersfield JC and 6-9 LeRoy Maughan, a "red shirt" who was hampered by a bad knee. Neil Roberts (10.8), who is being counted on up front, is a question mark. He underwent knee surgery and the medics say he may not play again. Watts is hoping they are wrong. The other forward will be 6-7 Kari Liimo (24.4 with the frosh), who is from Finland. Gary Hill (7.7) is being switched from forward to backcourt with holdover Jim Jimas (5.3), who saw plenty of spot action last winter.

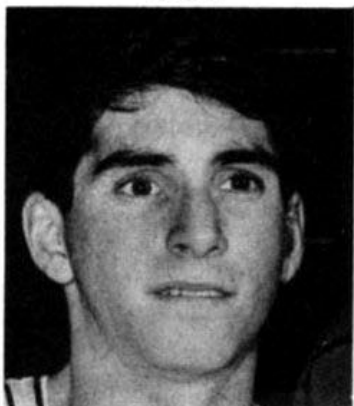

BROWN (Ivy) — The Bruins are going to be tougher than last season's 9-17 but so is the schedule. As a matter of fact the slate is one of the toughest in recent years. Don Tarr (8.2), the 6-5 center, is the only key loss and Steve Sigur (5.7), who is the same height, figures to be the replacement. At forward there are three candidates—6-5 soph Bob Purvis (11.9), who only played nine games with the frosh because of injuries, and holdovers Greg Donaldson (9.0), who is 6-3, and 6-7 senior Dave Gale (10.5 and 161 rebounds), who was hampered by a severe ankle injury. The backcourt is the best lately with Al Fishman (11.4), the squad's leading scorer, and either of two juniors, Bill Reynolds (11.3) and Rick Landau (6.7) starting.

BUCKNELL (Middle Atlantic)—The Bisons could have one of their best teams in recent years. There is plenty of experience remaining from a team that was 15-10 last year, and in addition, Don Smith boasts better-than-average height. John Rodgers, a 6-6 senior (17.0), who was ECAC All-East, All-Palestra and All-Conference, is going to be in the pivot. Soph Graig Greenwood, a 6-6 soph who averaged 17.4 with the frosh, Matty McMonigle (14.7) and also 6-6, are up front, while another newcomer, 6-3 Tom Schneider (18.8 with the freshmen), and veteran John Murphy (8.9) are the playmakers. The big weakness lies in the fact that there are no real replacements for the three 6-6 starters.

BUFFALO (Independent) — The Bulls are faced with the prospect of turning out their poorest team in the last 11 seasons as the leading scorers and rebounders of last year's 14-8 squad have graduated. On top of that, no one on the coming edition is a senior so there is plenty of inexperience. Gone are 6-1 Harvey Poe (15.5), 6-4 Bill Barth (14.3), 6-1 Howie Goodwin (12.0) and 5-11 Paul Goldstein (9.5). Holdovers who are going to start are 6-2 Doug Bernard (5.5) up front, 6-4 Art Walker (8.0) in the middle and 5-9 Bob Thomas (8.8) at guard. The other two spots belong to sophs. John Jerilek (12.7) is at forward and Ed Eberle (14.4) joins Thomas. There are three transfers—6-2 Joe Peeler, 5-11 Ron Bator and 5-7 John Catalano. Only Peeler, who comes from Erie Tech, figures to help right away.

BUTLER (Indiana Collegiate) — Veteran coach Tony Hinkle could have one of the best squads he has ever turned out. And that is really saying something. Back from last year's 16-10 squad is 6-6 center Ed Schilling (20.7), who was All-Conference and who looks to be one of the best pivot men in the Midwest. A pair of 6-3ers, Ron Salatch (7.6) and Bill Brown (8.1), are returning up front. With them is Jon Spadercia, who is 6-4½ and who is a transfer from Tulane where he was one of the best freshman scorers in the Green Wave's history. Gary Cox, who sat out last campaign after lettering as a soph, and Gene Milner (13.1) are in backcourt. The only position that does not seem to be well stocked with reserves is the pivot and 6-4 Clarence Harper (17.0 with the frosh) could take care of that.

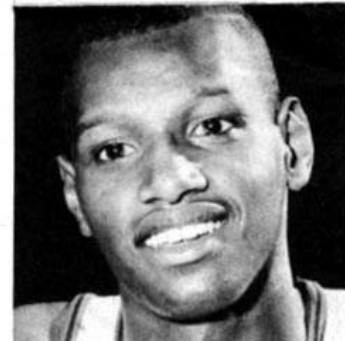

CALIFORNIA (AAWU) — The strongest freshman team in the school's history has just started at Cal so the Bears probably are a year away from getting back into the real thick of things. If experience means anything, last year's 9-16 record has to be improved on since very little was lost from that team. Stu Watterson, a 6-7 transfer from Menlo JC where he averaged 20 points, is with 6-5 Bob Wolfe (10.0) up front. Myron Erickson (9.2), who is 6-5, has the spot in the middle although 6-7 soph Wayne Stewart looks like a good bet to beat him out. Russ Critchfield (15.0), the team's leading scorer and a second-team All-Conference pick, and Steve Smith (10.3) are the playmakers.

CANISIUS (Independent) — Bob McKinnon can not wait until the season starts. Coming off a 7-15 record, the Griffins' coach finds himself with everybody returning except Jim Hessinger (4.9) and some outstanding sophmores. Heading the list is 6-1 John Morrison (24.9), who broke the school scoring record. McKinnon expects Morrison to be a strong candidate for All-America honors. Bart Carr (6.6) will be playing alongside John while 6-6 Warren Plant (7.2) is in the pivot. Tony Masiello, one of the sophs, is going to start up front. The 6-4 standout averaged 22.2 with the yearlings. Andy Anderson (15.9) is the other forward. For reserves in the backcourt, sophs Tony Leonardo and Tom Hardiman, who were 17.9 and 15.8 with the frosh, are available, while another graduate of the first-year team, 6-7 Tom Pasternak (10.1) is going to spell Plant.

CINCINNATI (Missouri Valley) — The Bearcats surprised themselves last year by winning the conference championship with a 10-4 record and landing in the NCAA tournament only to lose to Texas Western, the eventual champ, by two points. Now that the surprises are over, Taylor Baker's boys expect to do even better this time even though the leading scorer, Don Rolfes (16.2) has graduated. Roland West (15.5), a 6-4 guard, is back for most of the campaign

Mike Rolf

John Howard

(he misses one month corresponding to the period of his academic ineligibility last winter.) The other playmaker will be holdover Dean Foster (7.2). John Howard (11.2) is going to be up front once again while 6-6 Mike Rolf (9.2) returns in the pivot although he will get a tough battle from 6-9 soph Ricky Roberson. Ken Calloway (4.1), a 6-6 senior, has the edge alongside Rolf although Dick Haucke, also 6-6 and the leading scorer on last year's frosh team, is very much in the picture. The addition of Roberson has Taylor thinking that this season's squad will be better defensively.

THE CITADEL (Southern) — The Bulldogs lost their floor leader, 6-2 Herwig Baumann (18.5) from the squad that went 7-16 but Mel Thompson expects a great deal of improvement. John DeBrosse (10.8), a 5-10 junior, is being counted on to take over for Baumann, and if he comes through, the coach's expectations should be reached. Jimmy Halpin (4.8) is DeBrosse's partner in backcourt. The Bulldogs feel they have one of the best pivot men in the conference in 6-6 Danny Mohr (15.7) while Doug Bridges (12.6) is up front along with soph Bill Zinsky, who was 22.8 with the frosh. Two other newcomers should help up front, too. They are 6-3 Tee Hooper (15.1) and Allan Kroboth (10.8).

CITY COLLEGE OF NEW YORK (Tri-State) — The Beavers were 12-6 last year, one of the best records since the school rebounded from the troubles of the early 1950s. Coach Dave Polansky will be very happy to match that again but there are doubts in his mind because 6-4 Bob Kissman (13.0) and 5-10 Alan Zuckerman have graduated. The other three starters are back—6-6 Barry Eisemann (8.8) at center, guard Mike Pearl (15.9) and forward Pat Vallance (6.6), who is being shifted to backcourt. And that is being done because of soph Jeff Keizer, who is 6-4 and broke the school's freshman records for a single game and a season. John Clifton (4.0) figures to be the other man up front.

CLEMSON (Atlantic Coast) — Bobby Roberts presented the Tigers with a 14-10 record last season, their best in the last 14 years. Replacements for leading scorer Garry Helms (19.2) and playmaker Buddy Benedict (6.3) are the big problems. The front line seems pretty well set with veterans. Jim Sutherland (16.7) and Ken Gardner (12.2), both 6-5, are going to be up front. The center is 6-7 Randy Mahaffey (14.2). Three redshirts, held out because of the heavy junior-senior flavor on last year's team, are going to fight it out for the backcourt berths. Curt Eckard (20.6 as a frosh) and Dave Dempsey (13.5) have the edge over Denny Danke (5.6). All are 6-3 or better and could move up front. If that happens, 6-0 Joe Ayoob (2.4) could be moved into a guard spot.

COLBY (Maine Intercollegiate) — The White Mules went 12-11 last year but have lost their big kick, 6-6 Pete Swartz (22.8), who owns just about every school record there is. However, Verne Ullon feels that speed and a pressure defense can make up for the loss in height and experience and he looks for an outright title instead of sharing it with Bates. Two sophs are moving into the back court as starters—Joe Jabar (8.2 with frosh) and Alex Palmer (13.1), who is 6-4 and who also can go up front. Walt Young (5.4), an inch taller, is in the middle while the forwards are Pete Haigis (9.9), the 6-4 captain, and John Bubar (2.1).

COLGATE (Independent) — There may not be much height among the Red Raiders but Bob Duffy still feels that last year's 8-14 record should improve to at least .500. The coach has practically everybody returning, including All-ECAC guard George Dalzell (23.9), who will be teamed up with Gary Blongiewicz (11.5). The tallest men on the squad are 6-3 and they are forward John Reid, a soph who was 26.6 with the yearlings, and center Al Brown (8.9). Tim Vigrass (12.3) is the other man up front.

COLORADO (Big Eight) — The Buffaloes should be improved over last year's 12-13 if only because injuries won't be as damaging when both regular guards, Pat Frink and Lynn Baker, were lost for the year after getting hurt in November. They are healthy now and will start. On top of their loss, coach Russ Walseth lost his center, Chuck Gardner, with a broken bone in January. However, he has graduated and 6-8 Ted Erfert (2.8) looks like the replacement over 6-7 Kermit McMurray and 6-10 soph Bruce Hyink, who lacks experience. Frink, the team's top scorer two seasons ago when he was all-conference as a soph, and Baker, an excellent playmaker, have the backcourt under control.

COLORADO STATE (Independent) — The Rams were 14-8 last year and made it to the first round of the NCAA tournament, marking the fifth time in the last six seasons that they competed in post-season classics. And Jim Williams expects to add another notch to the string even though he lost his backcourt starters, Lonnie Wright (20.9), who was All-District, and Tom Vidakovich (16.1). The front line is big and can score as evidenced by 6-8 Bob Rule (16.1) as one forward and 6-7 Sonny Bustion (17.4 two years ago), who missed last season, or 6-9 Dale Schlueter (9.2) in the pivot. Sophs are fighting it out for the spot alongside Rule. Cliff Shegogg, a 6-5er who went 20.5 with the frosh, is battling 6-10 Mike Davis, who was 13.7. Shegogg also fits into the picture in backcourt along with the Kerr twins, Lloyd (14.5) and Floyd (17.7).

COLUMBIA (Ivy) — The Lions will have to roar in the backcourt to come anywhere close to last year's 18-6 record, which included a tie for second in the conference. The big man is back. He is 7-0¼ Dave Newmark (22.9) and also returning are three solid forwards—Joel Hoffman (6.9), Tony Ganzenmuller (4.2) and Jack Dema (6.3). The loss of captain Ken Benoit (7.8) and All-Ivy League Stan Felsing (20.8) leaves the backcourt depleted. Artie Sprengle (2.1) and Bill Ames (1.1), both used sparingly last year, and Jim Robinson, who only played five games after being a starter with the varsity, are the leading contenders. Battling them will be two sophs, 5-11 George Thomas, who plays much like Benoit, and 6-3 Roger Walaszek, who also can go up front. However, Ames and Sprengle have the edge since the Lions will need experience to carry them through a stepped-up schedule.

CONNECTICUT (Yankee) — Fred Shabel would like nothing better than to continue where the Huskies left off last season when they won 10 of the final 11 games. And there are indications that it could happen since Dan Hesford (6.9) is the only big loss from the squad that ended up 16-8. Bob Steinberg (6.4) and Bill Holowaty (6.5) are up front, while 6-7 Bill Corley (14.8), who was All-Conference and All-New England as a soph, is the pivot man. Wes Bialosuknia (21.3), who received the same honors as Corley, and Tommy Penders (9.2) are the playmakers.

CORNELL (Ivy) — Steve MacNeil has to consider this a rebuilding year since he lost 6-7 center Steve Cram (18.4), playmaker Bob DeLuca (17.3) and forward Gary Munson (13.9) from a squad that was 15-9. Gabe Durkac (4.2), only 6-3, is going to return as a forward, while team captain Gregg Morris (10.8) and Blaine Aston (7.0) are going to be in back court. MacNeil looks forward to working with a good crop of sophomores, particularly 6-3 Hank South, who was 25.3 with the freshman and who will start up front, and 6-5 Walt Esdaile (18.5), who is going to get the nod in the middle. Two other sophs look like the big helpers up front. They are 6-3 Wendell Reynolds (13.2) and 6-4 Gregg Otto (9.5).

CREIGHTON (Independent) — The Bluejays are singing quite a song for themselves this time as they attempt to top last year's so-so 14-12 record. And well they might. Red McManus has the talent that could turn into one of the best frontlines in the country despite the fact that 6-7 Neil Johnson (16.7) passed up his final year of eligibility to sign with the Baltimore Bullets of the NBA. Tim Powers (21.5 and holder of the single-game scoring record with 45 points against Idaho State), a 6-7 senior; 6-7 Wally Anderzonas (14.7 as a soph); 6-7 Steve Jansa, a transfer from South Dakota State; 6-6 Paul Michael (4.2 as sixth man last winter), and 6-5 Bob Portman (28.6), an outstanding soph prospect who also can play backcourt, will lead the way. McManus is not sure which ones he will pick as starters although Powers seems set in the middle. Smallest man of the starters is 5-11 Dave Hickey (21.8), who did a great job directing the freshmen.

DARTMOUTH (Ivy) — Veteran coach Doggie Julian begins his last season on the Hanover, N.H. campus. Greeting him are 10 lettermen with 6-7 senior Gunnar Malm one of the league's best players leading the group. Providing the Indians with solid experience are seniors 6-5 Pete Dunlop; 6-3 Lyndon Waugh; 6-3 Dave Benedict; 6-2 Steve Shaffer and 6-1 Bill Engster. Juniors include 6-5 Pete Fahey; 6-3 Bill Joe Colgan and 5-10 Bill Stahl. Julian will also look over a crop of eight sophomores for additional help.

DAVIDSON (Southern) — The Wildcats won the conference title last year with a 21-7 record and Lefty Driesell expects better mark this time even though 6-5 forward Dick Snyder (26.9) has graduated. Rod Knowles (19.4), a 6-9 junior is back in the pivot after making All-Conference second team and All-Conference tournament team as a soph. Vets are up front, too, in Tom Youngdale (10.2), who is 6-10, and 6-4 George Leight (3.7). The guards are soph Dave Moser (16.2) and Bobby Lane (10.2). Both Lane and Youngdale also were second team All-Conference tourney selections.

DAYTON (Independent) — The Flyers have been high for the last two years, finishing with a neat 23-6 last season, but things figure to change now that 6-11 All-America center Henry Finkel (22.7) has graduated. Don Donohue moves inexperienced soph Dan Obrovac (18.4 with the frosh) or 6-6 holdover Glinder Torain (9.6) into the spot. As a result, the coach is going to change his strategy. Don May (20.3) and Rudy Waterman (6.0) are back as forwards although 6-7 Ned Sharpenter (16.3) and 6-6 Dan Sadlier (17.2), both sophs, want the jobs, too. Gene Klaus (8.7) and Bobby Hooper (9.5) remain as playmakers and they must stay sharp to hold off 6-1 sophomore Tom Heckman (18.4) who proved to be a scorer as well as a "quarterback" with the frosh.

DELAWARE (Middle Atlantic) — Dan Peterson takes over as coach of the Blue Hens, who were 9-15 last season, minus the top scorer, John Himes (15.5) and leading rebounder, Mike Osowski (8.6), who have graduated. On top of that, there seems to be little help from the sophomores. Two transfers figure in the plans right now. Steve Ward, only 6-4, of Bowling Green is fighting 6-7 Harry Griesbach (5.0) for the center spot. The other transfer, 6-5 Bill Beatty of Wesley Junior College, seems ready up front with vet Bill Morley (11.3). Ricky Wright (11.0) and Vic Orth (8.5), who holds the school record for assists, are the guards. Help for them could come from 5-11 soph Bruce Dowd, who was 17.5 with the frosh.

DENISON (Ohio) — The Big Red lost four starters from a team that went 1-7 last season, but coach Dick Scott still has some good material returning. Inexperience figures to be the biggest drawback. Bill Druckemiller (9.2), the best rebounder (11.3 average) and rated the most improved player on the squad, is in the pivot. He is 6-7 and will be flanked by 6-2 Wayne Johnson (1.2) and Karl Bolstad (9.0), also 6-2. Tom Demo (2.4) is one guard and his partner should come from among newcomers Ray Gellein or Jacques Rhoades. There also is a chance that Bob Johnson (12.5), who has one semester of eligibility remaining, will play through mid-year.

DE PAUL (Independent) — They say Ray Meyer will have to be a magician this season. Only 6-5 Errol Palmer (12.6) returns from the Blue Demon squad that went 18-8 last year. Meyer is going with holdovers in most of the other spots but they are going to get opposition from sophomores and transfers. As a matter of fact, one of the new men, 6-4 soph Al Zetzche, has an edge up front with Richie Shealey (3.7). Palmer goes in the middle and Mike Norris (5.9) and Pete Ortolano are the playmakers. The transfers are 6-7 center Bob Zoretich, 6-6 Ken Johnson, 6-3 Bob Mattingly and 5-11 Greg Beach. Other sophs are 6-4 Gessel Berry and 6-3 Dan Pierce. If Zoretich works out in the pivot, Palmer moves up front. That would be the first piece of magic attempted by Meyer, who needs a dozen victories to reach the 400 mark.

DENVER (Independent) — Troy Bledsoe believes that the Pioneers will be the best independent team in the Rocky Mountain area after the experienced gained last year in posting a 14-11 record. Two players of little importance have departed from that squad so that there will be veteran starters in all spots. George Roderick (11.6), a 6-7 junior,

Harry Hollines
Denver

Errol Palmer

and Rick Callahan (6.3) are up front, while 6-8 Byron Beck (16.8) moves around the pivot. Gerry Grover (13.1) and the team's best scorer, Harry Hollines (25.4), handle the playmaking. If Ken Robinson, a 6-6 soph who was 15.3 with the frosh, develops quickly, Callahan, only 6-3, will move to backcourt.

DETROIT (Independent) Bob Calihan looks for a big season from 6-5 sophomore Jerry Swartzfager, who set a school freshman scoring record with 392 points. The Titans will need all the help they can get from the newcomer since 6-8 center Dorie Murrey (22.2), 6-3 guard Lou Hyatt (16.4) and 6-5 forward Jim Boyce (15.5) have graduated from last year's squad that wound up 17-8. Height is going to be a problem, too, since Swartzfager's partner up front, Bruce Rodwan (13.1) is only 6-5. Joe Moore (3.5), the man at center, is an inch taller. Larry Salci (11.7) and Charley Bellock (2.1) are the playmakers. Sophomores who are being counted on are 6-5 Vyto Abramvicious, 6-4 Jeff Belasko and 5-10 Mike Geraty.

DRAKE (Missouri Valley) — Maury John is known as an optimistic coach and this season he has reason to feel that way even though the Bulldogs (13-12 last year) will be minus the two defensive stars, Herman Watson (9.8) and Hal Aldridge (8.9). One of the big reasons for John's outlook is the fact that 6-9 Bob Netolicy (16.8), who only played half of last season because of eligibility problems, is back for a full campaign. The big man has been the best performer under the boards, something the team has lacked. Gary Lovemark (8.2), a 6-7 junior, is going to return at forward and he will work with 6-4 soph Dolph Pulliam (17.9). Erwin Cox (9.0), a holdover, and two new men, sophomore Willie McCarter (17.5), and 6-4 Milan Vorkapich, a transfer from Burlington (Ia.) Junior College, are battling for the playmaking assignments.

DUKE (Atlantic Coast) — The Blue Devils went 26-4 last year in winding up third in the NCAA tournament. Things could be just as good this time even though 6-6 Jack Marin (18.9), the top scorer, and playmaker Steve Vacendak (13.3) have graduated. Mike Lewis, a 6-7, 230-pounder is rated as a sure bet to make All-America. He averaged 13.9 points and 11 rebounds. Bob Reidy (9.4) and Joe Reidy (3.1), both 6-6 figure to be the forwards but two freshman are in the picture, also — Fred Lind (10.0) and Steve Vandenberg (15.6), both 6-7. Bob Verga (18.5), the conference MVP, and Ron Wendelin (2.7), who was a valuable sixth man, are the guards. Again, there is a promising soph in Dave Golden (15.6).

DUQUESNE (Independent) — The Dukes, 14-9 last season, face the toughest schedule in the school's history. And they face it with a young squad since there is not a single senior. Graduated are a pair of 6-4 performers, Frank Miniotas (16.7) and Jim Smith (17.9). John (Red) Manning has four holdovers to go with 6-9 soph Gary Major (13.0 with the frosh) in the pivot. Up front are 6-8 Phil Washington (8.4) and 6-6 Ron Guziak (12.2). The playmakers are Richie Carlberg (9.9) and 5-11 John Kennedy (3.9). There are good reserves backcourt in veteran Bill Reilly (7.8) and soph Tom Barr (18.2). Larry Abraham, a 6-6 newcomer (13.4) can step in at forward.

EASTERN KENTUCKY (Ohio Valley) — The Maroons were 16-9 last year and even though 6-7 Ed Bodkin (25.2), 6-8 Jerry Bisbey (8.6) and 6-9 John Carr (8.6) have graduated, Jim Baechtold looks for better rebounding. He feels that the current crop has better jumpers. Dick Clark (7.3), who is 6-3, and one of two sophs, 6-4 Clenatt Arnold (19.0), who is 6-4, and Gary Paul (17.0), an inch taller, are up front. In the middle is 6-7 junior Garfield Smith (8.2), while soph Bob Washington (24.0) is moving into the backcourt with either Fred Johnson (6.9) or Doug Clemmons (5.9). Baechtold rates Washington as a good outside shooter and the best passer he has seen in college.

EVANSVILLE (Indiana Collegiate) — "Should be improved." Quite a statement by coach Arad McCutchan when you consider that his Purple Aces were 18-9 last year. On top of that, Larry Humes (31.0) and Sam Watkins (19.2), the top pointmakers, have graduated. However, eight lettermen are back and a pair of 6-4 sophs, Dave Harvey and David Weeks, join the club as key reserves up front. As things stand, Howie Pratt (9.2) and Darrell Adams (5.8) will handle the forward assignments. Herb Williams (11.1) is in the pivot even though he is 6-3 while Rick Kingston (7.1) and Hal Gordon (3.9) are the playmakers.

FAIRFIELD (Independent) — The Red Stags made quite a name for themselves last season in posting a 19-5 record and barely missing a bid to the NIT. Trying to remain that high this time is going to be pretty rough for George Bisacca and Co., which was beset by tragedy when 6-4 guard Pat Burke (15.0) was killed in an accident during the final stages of last year. Mike Branch (16.5), who was the 10th leading rebounder in the country, has graduated and during the summer, 6-3 Jim Brown (17.4), the squad's top scorer for the last two campaigns, quit school because of academic problems. That leaves Bisacca with 6-4 Bill Jones (12.2) up front with sophomore Richie Sanabria (25.3), while 6-8 Art Kenney (7.2) goes into the pivot. Bill Pritz (7.5) is one man in backcourt and filling Brown's spot could be soph Jim Dennis (15.4) or junior Larry Cirina (3.5) or senior Charlie Phillips (9.0).

FAIRLEIGH DICKINSON (Metropolitan) — Jack Devine succeeds Dick Holub, who bowed out with a winner, 15-10. And the new man should have four of Holub's starters doing the same thing for him. Bob Rennie (13.0) and Charlie Zolot (9.3) are the forwards and the latter, at 6-4, is two inches taller than Rennie. Reg Foster (13.6), a 6-5 center, and Al Patierno (12.1) at guard complete the holdovers. Finding another backcourt man to match the graduated Danny Rosen (16.2) is going to be a problem. Bill McDonnell, only 6-2, played front with the freshman and averaged 9.5 so he could be converted. The only other likely performer is 5-11 holdover Tom Schaffner (2.1), who saw limited action. Devine inherits two good sophs for front-line reserves in Ken Wangler (15.4) and Bill McKenna (19.3), both 6-5.

FLORIDA (Southeastern) — The Fighin' Gators have more height, speed and experience than in recent seasons so it is little wonder than coach Norm Sloan expects to improve on the 16-10 record (9-7 in the sec) of last year. Veterans will be up front in 6-7 Dave Miller (8.8) and 6-6 Gary Keller (15.9) or 6-6 Garm McElroy (6.1). Holdovers also are in backcourt—Skip Higley (7.3) and Harry Winkler (8.3). Miller and Winkler made the conference's All-Soph team last winter. Elevated from the frosh squad is the big center, 6-10½ Neal Walk, who was 23.8 as a scorer. Sophs who figure as front-line reserves are 6-6 Andy Ownes (19.1) and 6-4 Kurt Feazel (18.7) and 6-3 guard Harry Dunn, who was 19.5 with Chipola Junior College.

FLORIDA SOUTHERN (Florida Intercollegiate) — The Moccasins lost 30 points when Mike Huber, a 6-5 forward, and 6-6 center Dan Doherty graduated, but what hurts coach Tom Greene more than the scoring is the loss of their combined average of 20 rebounds. Reserves from last year now are getting the nod to become starters. Scott Fitzgerald (13.7) and Tom Conner (3.2) will be up front while 6-6 Ellis Shaw (2.3) is in the pivot. Bobby Bourman lost last year because of ineligibility, is going to be a playmaker . . . and a good one at that according to Greene. As a matter of fact, Bobby is being counted on to make up for some of the lost scoring punch. Dave Spiro (9.5) returns to play alongside the newcomer. There is good height on the bench, also, in 6-7 Mike Sullivan, and 6-6 Gary Bowker, both up from the junior varsity. Again, experience is the problem.

FLORIDA STATE (Independent) — A rebuilding job is in order for the Seminoles since seven lettermen were lost from last season's 15-11 squad. However, things are not as bleak as might be expected. Gary Schull, who was 6-7, graduated after a 19.0 scoring and a 12.7 rebounding average. Available for his berth are 6-10 Dick Danford (2.4) and Ken Doyle (2.8) and 6-6 Jeff Curchin, up from the frosh. Up front are 6-4 holdover Bill Glenn (5.5), 6-5 Lenny Hall, a transfer from St. Petersburg Junior College where he earned All-America laurels, and 6-5 Russ Forkey, who was hold out as a "red shirt." Backcourt finds another transfer, Ian Morrison from North Carolina, to go with veterans Brian Murphy (2.6) and Darrell Stewart (8.8).

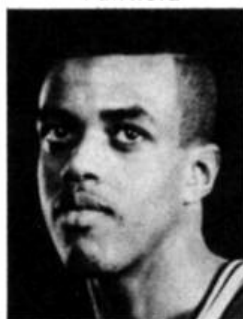

FORDHAM (Independent) — Johnny Bach figures his Rams will be better than last year's 10-15 record but just how much better remains a question. The two big men, 6-6 Len Zandy (17.3) and 6-5 Joe Frangipane (14.6) and playmaker Bruce Brodbeck (7.8) have graduated. Four lettermen return but only Bill Langheld, 6-5 center (16.0), did much playing last year. Brian Sheeran (6.3) and Ken Parker (4.4) are back as guards while 6-4 Richie Goggin (0.3) and Phil Tama (1.2), only 6-1, are the forwards. Speed is going to play a key role for Bach and Co. to offset the inexperience and lack of height.

FURMAN (Southern) — Can the Paladins better last season's 9-17 record? Coach J. Lyles Alley thinks they can if some better defense is played and if there is some decent rebounding. There is more speed this time and better scoring even though Bane Sarrett (18.1) and Dan Goolsby (14.9) have graduated. They played forward and guard, respectively, and are being replaced by two sophs — Jeff Melish (21.9 with the freshmen) and Dick Esleeck (17.5). The other man up front is 6-5 Don Webster (18-5), second-team All-Conference, and 6-6 Steve Lawrence (10.7) is in the middle. Alongside Esleeck will be Dave Barkdale (2.6).

GANNON (Independent) — Denny Bayer takes over as head man of the Golden Knights minus five lettermen from the team that went 20-3 last year. In addition, some of the intended newcomers were lost through scholastic ineligibility. Ben Wiley (11.3), a 5-9 guard, and 6-5 Don Ruminski (6.5), who plays front or back court, are the only holdovers. Freshmen are allowed to play varsity ball at the little school in Erie, Pa., so Bayer will have to bank on them to complete a squad that must play the likes of Tennessee State twice, Bellarmine, Cheyney State and Buffalo.

GEORGIA (Southeastern) — Three field-goal records were shattered last year when the Bulldogs went 10-15 but Ken Rosemond lost two of those players, 6-7 center Jerry Waller (14.9) and playmaker Lee Martin (7.6). The coach figures the year of experience will help improve the record. Jim Youngblood (7.5) and Frank Harscher (9.3) are up front and 6-5 Ray Jeffords (13.8) is going to jump center.

Dick McIntosh (11.5), who hit on 55 per cent of his shots from the floor for a school record, and soph Mickey Wiles (17.6) are the playmakers. Also available for the backcourt are Ken Brewer (17.3), a soph, and vet Dwayne Powell (6.5).

GEORGIA TECH (Independent) — The Yellow Jackets set all sorts of field goal records for the school last year in going 13-13 yet John Hyler expects an even higher scoring outfit this time. Very little was lost from last season so that leaves Pres Judy (12.3) and Dave Clark (8.8) up front although the latter must beat out two sophs, Ted Tomasovich (11.1) and Dick Wright (21.1). Pete Thorne (12.4), a 6-4 junior, has to contend with 6-9 John White, a junior college transfer, for the pivot job. Phil Wagner (14.9), the squad's leading scorer last year when he was picked to the All-Hurricane Classic tourney team, and Charlie Kenney (7.9 two seasons ago), who is back after injuries, or Stan Guth (5.7) are going to move the ball.

GEORGETOWN (Independent) — Jack Magee is the new coach of the Hoyas after being Bob Cousy's assistant at Boston College for the last five years. And he will have to try and match his predecessor, Tom O'Keefe, who never had a loser in his six-year tenure. The task should not be too difficult this winter since a veteran team is on hand following a 16-8 record last campaign. The big problem is to come up with a ballhandler and playmaker like the graduated Jim Brown (11.8). Dennis Cesar (10.2) is getting first crack at the task and he will go with 6-2 Bruce Stinebrickner (8.7), who also plays up front. The pivot is in the hands of 6-11 Frank Hollendonner (11.3), while the forwards are 6-8 Steve Sullivan (15.1), the Hoyas' top scorer, and 6-7 Bob Ward (12.3). Backing up that duo are two 6-4 sophs, Rick Cannon (23.3) and Jim Supple (24.6), who proved they are scorers with the freshmen.

GETTYBURG (Middle Atlantic) — The Bullets are going to be rebuilding after four players graduated from last year's 9-15 squad. Only veterans being counted on are 6-2 Craig Guers (6.8) up front and 6-5 Ray Faczan (7.3) at center. The other new man at forward is Paul Trojak, who went 12.5 with the frosh. Two other sophs — John Scott (12.6) and Tom Houser (15.7) are going to handle the backcourt for Bob Hulton. Faczan is the biggest man on the squad so the Bullets could run into a lot of trouble when it comes to rebounding.

GONZAGA (Big Sky) — Hank Anderson is a coach who thinks his club can repeat as conference champ. Last year the Bulldogs went 19-7 but lost three guards, Bill Suter, John Brodsky and Mike McChesney. Filling their shoes is not going to be too tough since junior college transfers Terry O'Brien and Paz Rocha and sophs Mike McGinley and Dennis Bly, who were 15 and 12 in point production average with the freshmen, are available. The other three berths are in the hands of holdovers. Gary Lechman, a 6-3 senior who was 21.3 in scoring and an unanimous All-Conference selection, is the center. Larry Brown (8.3) and John Dougherty (8.8) are up front.

HARDIN-SIMMONS (Independent) — All first-year coaches should be as lucky as Paul Lambert. He inherits a veteran squad that figures to improve on last season's 20-6 record which saw nine school records shattered and two more tied. With the graduation of playmaker Charlie Dishman, H-S lost 8.8 points but now have acquired soph Max Brownlee, who was 29.7 with the frosh. Mike Forman (7.5) is the other guard while 6-6 Sylvester Neal (14.2) is the center. Up front are 6-5 Dick Nagy (10.7) and 6-4 Clarence McHenry (15.7). Reserves are 6-7 Mickey Wise (16.8), 6-3 playmaker Terry Treadwell (17.5), both sophs, and Fred Jackson, a 6-4 red shirt.

HARVARD (Ivy) — The Crimson may not be as bright as last year's 10-14 record and fifth-place finish in the league. However, there is an air of optimism on the part of Floyd Wilson, who is getting a good crop of sophomores to go with his four returning lettermen. The big standout among the newcomers is 6-5 Chris Gallagher, who probably will start up front. He registered a 15.6 average with the frosh, as did 6-6 Barth Royer, who must beat out veteran Jeff Grate (6.9), who only is 6-1, for the other forward spot. Jim Griswold (1.6), a holdover, and 6-9 Paul Waicowski and 6-6 Jim Bailey, regarded as a real "sleeper," are the center candidates. Back at guard are Gene Dressler (13.5) and Bob Beller (5.7). Grate also can play the position if he does not make it up front.

HIGHLANDS (Independent) — The Cowboys went 6-12 last year and John Givens is worried more about grades than rebounds right now since he only lost playmaker Bill Cochran (22.1) and has gained one sophs and three transfers. Larry Jackson (22.3 in junior college play) is going to be up front with Marc Drinkhahn (18.3), a 6-5 junior who was All-District in the NAIA. Joe Pignatiello, a 6-6 center transfer from George Washington U. where he averaged 18 points, is the center. Mike Nava (19.4) and Phil Schroer (16.4) are the veteran ball handlers.

HOFSTRA (Middle Atlantic, Metropolitan) — Paul Lynner has seven sophomores joining the team and he it not quite sure what to expect because of their inexperience. However, one thing is certain and that is the rebounding will be better. The Flying Dutchmen compiled a 16-10 record last year with 6-2 Mike Pollack (14.5) in the pivot. He has graduated and now 6-8 soph Dan Silver (12.0), is the man. Also gone is 6-2 forward Mike Tilley (24.5) and he is being replaced by 6-3 Abe Aikens, who was 16.0 with the frosh. Ron Miles (14.1) is the other forward while veterans Fred Grasso (12.4) and Dennis DeFeo (7.3) are the ballhandlers. However, two other newcomers, Walter Beebe (10.1) and Sherry Campbell (15.4) must be considered. Barry White (13.0), who is 6-5, and Ken Singleton (12.6), an inch shorter, are two other top soph prospects.

HOLY CROSS (Independent) — The next to last game last winter saw the Crusaders upset St. John's, which later played in the NIT. Such a victory was a long time coming, and even though the final record was 10-13, it was an indication of the things to come. Richie Murphy (17.3) and Greg Hochstein (5.7) are gone from the club but the top returnees are 6-4 Keith Hochstein (17.4), playmaker Al Stazinski (8.2) and 5-11 Tom Greeley (6.7), who came on strong in the closing stages of the season. In 6-9 soph Ron Teixeira (20.2) who led the freshmen to a 19-1 record, the Crusaders have the first real big man in their history. Ed Siudut (20.7), another soph, is being thought of along the terms of Tom Heinsohn and Jackie Foley, two of the greatest scorers ever to wear a Holy Cross uniform. Chuck Mullane (12.5) and Jimmy Moore (12.1) are two fine prospects in back court.

HOUSTON (Independent) — Guy Lewis is not hard to please. He wants the Cougars to match last year's 23-6 record, which was the best in the school's history. The potential to duplicate the feat is there since only guard Joe Hamood (20.0), All District for two successive seasons, and Wayne Ballard (11.7), a 6-2 forward, have departed. Leary Lentz (9.1), who is 6-6, and either 6-8 sophomore Melvin Bell (24.7 with the fresh) or 6-8 veteran Don Kruse (7.1) are going to be the front men. All-America Elvin Hayes (27.2 in points and 16.9 in rebounds) will handle the pivot once again. He is being backed up by 6-9 soph Ken Spain (20.0). The playmakers are going to be veterans — Gary Grider (5.7) and Don Chaney (8.8). Another key reserve is going to be soph Theodis Lee (18.5), who is 6-7 and can play up front or guard.

IDAHO (By Sky) — Can 6-8 Dave Schlotthauer (13.3) do the job at center this season or will 6-11 soph Larry Kaschmitter develop and take over? In '65 it was felt that the failure of Schlotthauer was a big reason for the poor 12-14 record. Jerry Smith, a 6-8 transfer from Chaffee Junior College where he averaged 17 points, and 6-3 hold-over Bob Pipkin (16.9) are going to be up front. The Vandals have plenty of backcourt men. Rod Bohnan (11.6), who cracked the starting lineup last season, and Mike Wicks (5.8) are headliners although Rick Day (3.2) and Craig Johnson (1.1) figure to make a show after getting some needed experience. There will not be much speed because of the height . . . but height is more important right now. It is all up to Schlotthauer or Kaschmitter.

IDAHO STATE (Big Sky) — The Bulldogs have to improve on last winter's 7-19 what with the acquisition of three outstanding junior college performers who are moving into starting assignments up front. Curtis Cooper, a 6-8er who averaged 14 points at Riverside (Calif.) is going to handle the pivot, while 6-3 Jim McBridge, who had a 37-point average at Porterville to take national junior college scoring honors, and 6-4 Charlie Parks, 21.2 at San Francisco JC, are up front. Veterans Ron Boone (11.2) and Jerry Mosser (5.3) are the ballhandlers and playmakers. There are four sophs who should help, too. The biggest, 6-7 Charlie Barber, tallied 6 points an outing with the frosh, while the smallest, 6-0 Wilson Terrell, was a point higher.

ILLINOIS (Big Ten) — The big problem for Harry Combes is getting his club to get some experience in a hurry. Three sophs are being counted on to improve last year's 12-12 record. The best of the trio is 6-7 Steve Kuberski (21.0), who should make up for the lose of forward Don Freeman (27.8). At center is another new man, 6-7 Dave Scholz (17.2), while the third soph is playmaker Steve Spanich (17.5). The holdovers are 6-3 Richie Jones (21.2) up front and Jim Dawson (15.3) backcourt. Both made honorable mention in the conference last year.

INDIANA (Big Ten) — "I'm sure we'll be stronger." Coach Lou Watson was enthusiastic in his appraisal of the Hoosiers, who were 8-16 last year. "We started last season with the most inexperienced team in the school's history," continued the coach. "Returnees had scored only 121 points of the 2,200 registered the previous season. Only two of them have gone and we gain a great deal from a solid freshman team." Max Walker (16.5) and Gary Greiger (11.0) have graduated. Butch Joyner (12.4), who is 6-4 and the team's top rebounder, is one of the forwards. Earl Schneider, the same height, is up from the frosh squad to fill the other spot. Another player from the same club, 6-8 Bill DeHeer, is going to be in the pivot. Vern Payne (14.2), All-Conference third team, and Bill Russell (6.2) are the guards. John Muirhead and Bill Sternberg, both 6-7, and 6-4 Earl Schneider, are the other sophs who should help. Holdovers who will comprise Watson's bench are 6-6 John Johnson (8.7) and 6-9 Rich Schrupf (5.1).

INDIANA STATE (Indiana Collegiate) — Too much material, if there is such a thing, is the nice problem that confronts Duane Klueh, who expects to better last year's 22-6 record. Every starter is back and there are some excellent newcomers for the bench. State has Butch Wade (20.7) at forward and 6-6 Jerry Newsom (26.6) at center, both NCAA College Division All-American. Mike Phillips (8.5) is the other man up front. Backcourt are Jim Crone (12.4) and Richie Edgerton (9.0). Richie Mason, a 6-8 transfer from Northwestern, could move Newsom out before long. Ted Sweatt, a 6-6 forward who dropped out of school last year just two nights before the season opened, is back. Jon Arnold, a 6-3 playmaker, has transferred from Georgia Tech. Sophs are guard Mike Cooper (25.4) and 6-4 front man Fred Harman (12.5). And there are more . . . holdovers John Ryden (4.5) and Curt Crittendon (6.7), who can play forward or backcourt.

IONA (Metropolitan, Middle Eastern) — The Gaels went 5-15 in what was a rebuilding year and it seems that Jim McDermott will have to settle for another campaign of 'waiting until next year.' The two playmakers from last season's team—Tom Qualter (16.4), who also was the top scorer, and Jim Ahrens—have graduated. Bob McMahon, a 5-11 speedster is up from the freshman teams and should have little trouble cracking the starting lineup. Joe Mitchell, used sparingly last year, seems the likely man for the other spot. Height is going to be a big problem once again for the rugged schedule played by the Gaels and 6-3 Tom Burke looks like the pivot man at this stage. Kurt Dorfi, a 6-5 soph, also fits into the picture. Bob LaRusso and Kevin McCulloch are two steady returnees up front as both were in double figures. Earl Headley and Joe Domitrovits, both 6-3 and both up from the frosh, give McDermott little to worry about in the way of reserves. Another holdover who can go front or back, and most likely at the latter, is Ken LaPolla.

IOWA (Big Ten) — Talented but untested. That best describes the host of veterans who remain from a team that was 17-7 last winter. Ralph Miller has experience at all starting berths even though he lost three double-figure scorers, including Chris Pervall (19.1), his playmaker, and the 6-7 center George Peebles (17.8). Gerry Jones (15.8 two seasons ago), back after one year, and Dick Agnes (2.5), are up front. They are 6-4 and 6-5, respectively. In the pivot is 6-6 Huston Breedlove (1.9) while backcourt are Ben McGilmer (10.8) and Dave White (2.2). Newcomers who very well might force their way into the starting lineup are 6-8 Vic Rogers (13.8 with the frosh), and a pair of 6-3 guards, Chris Phillips (16.1) and Ron Norman (13.9). Should either of the later two make it, McGilmer, who is 6-6½, can go up front.

IOWA STATE (Big Eight) — The emergence of 6-8 center Don Smith (17.9), who was All-Conference, soph of the year in the league and All-District, should more than compensate for the loss of two double-figure scorers, 6-3 forward Al Koch (14.0) and 6-3 playmaker Bob Ziegler (12.9). Jim Hamberlain, a transfer from Fort Dodge Community College where he was 18.9, and holdover John McGonigle (8.8) will form the new backcourt. Up front are two vets from last year's 11-14 squad, 6-9 Raul Duarte (9.9) and 6-5 Dave Fleming (5.9).

JACKSONVILLE (Independent) — The Dolphins move into the major college class this season and play the likes of St. Joseph's, Oklahoma State, George Tech and Memphis State. Coming off a 12-11 record, Joe Williams does not think there is much chance of becoming a winner with such a tough slate in front of him especially when he must break in four sophs to form the bench. The sophomores saw very little action with last year's varsity. There will be holdovers at every starting berth with four of them being seniors. Dan Lee (10.6) and Gene Martineau (13.2), both 6-6, are up front, while 6-9 Dick Pruet (19.4), who was named to the NCAA College Division All-America squad, is the pivot man. Wayne Kruer (12.), the lone junior, and Tony Mumbico (3.9) play backcourt. The sophs range from 5-11 Mike Kellan (only 2.8 as a frosh) to 6-7 Kent Stewart (2.7).

JOHN CARROLL (Presidents' Athletic Conference)—The Blue Streaks lost the entire front line—Sherm Katz (16.8), Dale Masino (12.3) and Dan Ruminski (11.7)—from a team that went 9-9. Now coach John Keshock is going to concentrate on the backcourt for points. And he believes he has the duo in Don Caravona (8.6) and Greg Hojnacki (7.8). Sophomores Bill DeLong (7.4) and 6-5 Dave Slosar will team with Roy Berger (5.3) to form the 'up front' group.

KANSAS (Big Eight)—The Jayhawks went 23-4 last winter and lost to Texas Western, the NCAA champ, by a single point in the second round of the post-season classic. No question that Ted Owens will miss 6-11 center Walt Wesley (20.7), 6-5 Al Lopes (12.4) and playmaker Del Lewis (10.9) but the coach is optimistic over the talent he will get from the undefeated freshman team that was rated the best in KU's history. Jo Jo White, who went 11.3 while playing the final half of the 1965-66 schedule, and Phil Harmon, 9.5 with the frosh, are going to be the playmakers. Jayhawkers feel that White could become an All-America this season even with his limited experience. Ron Franz (9.6) and Bob Wilson (6.6), who are 6-7 and 6-6, respectively, are the front men while 6-6 Roger Bohnenstiehl (6.5) is in the pivot. However, he is going to get a fight from 6-7 Vernon Vandy, who was 7.0 with the frosh. Howie Arndt (9.1), a 6-7 soph, looks like the best newcomer to fill in at forward. Bruce Sloan, who is 6-5, and Richie Thomas, three inches shorter, are the new playmakers.

KANSAS STATE (Big Eight) — The Wildcats were 14-11 last year and have four of the top scorers returning. This fact plus the added fact that there will be several junior college transfers on hand is making Tex Winter toss about in his mind the idea of "red shirting" 6-11 sophomore Mike Barber, who was 14.5 with the frosh. Only Sam Robinson (9.0) is missing from the top five pointmakers. Earl Seyfert (8.8), who shot 52 per cent from the floor, and Galen Frick (5.0), who, at 6-4, is three inches shorter than Seyfert, are going to be the forwards. Roy Smith (6.5), a 6-10 senior, is the center, while Dennis Berkholtz (7.9) and Bob George (2.5) are the guards. Nick Pino (10.9), the 'Cats 7-1 junior, looks like the reserve to Smith although Winter may start him and move Smith up front if the junior college performers do not come through.

KENTUCKY (Southeastern) — The Wildcats surprised everybody last season by going 27-2 and finishing second to Texas Western in the NCAA finals. This year there should be no surprises even though two starters, forward Larry Conley (11.5) and guard Tom Kron (10.2) have graduated. Adolph (The Baron) Rupp expects to be right in the thick of things once again largely because of 6-3 forward Pat Riley (21.9) and 6-0 playmaker Lou Dampier (21.1), both All-America selections last season. Thad Jaracz (13.2), a 6-5 junior who was the conference's "soph of the year" is going to be with Riley up front and 6-8 Cliff Berger (3.4) should be tougher both as a scorer and a rebounder. Bob Tallent (3.0), Steve Clevenger (2.1) and sophomore Phil Argento (30.7 with the frosh) are fighting to play backcourt with Dampier. Argento has the edge and another soph who could come off the bench before long is Bobby Hiles, who had a 15.7 scoring mark.

LAFAYETTE (Middle Atlantic) — The Leopards are going to have a great many spots to fill considering that three double-figure scorers—Dave Brown (25.3), Lou Day (12.7) and Walt Manuel (11.8)—have graduated from a team that only had a 9-11 record last season. The pleasant thing for the future, as far as Davidson is concerned, is the sophomore backcourt duo of Vic Caola (13.6 with the frosh), who seems definite as a starter, and George Lafkowski (11.4), who figures to battle holdover Nick Azzolina (8.6) all the way for the other assignment. Bob Cole, a 6-5 soph who averaged 15.9 with the frosh, is going to start at center, while holdover Mike Goetz (10.2) and Bob Clements (4.7) are at forward.

LA SALLE (Middle Atlantic)—Joe Heyer seems to have solved the two major problems—lack of height and inexperience that caused last year's 10-15 record. With only 6-5 Jerry Marano (2.9), a reserve, departed, the Explorers should improve against an extremely tough schedule. George Paull (14.5), a 6-4 senior who is the club's top rebounder, and 6-3 Dave Ervin (14.6) or soph Larry Cannon (20.9 with the frosh), who is 6-5, are the front men. Another sophomore, 6-5 Stan Wlodarczyk (8.4) is in the pivot while All-America candidate Hubie Marshall (26.9) and Bernie Williams, another man up from the frosh where he was 21.8, are the playmakers. There is good height on the bench in 6-8 soph Fran Scott (6.4), 6-6 Bill Ring (6.1) and 6-4 Dave Bednarik (4.4), while the key sub in the backcourt is Eddie Burke (5.8).

LEHIGH (MAC)—Pete Carril replaces Tony Packer as coach and he inherits only five lettermen from a team that went 4-17. And the biggest of the quintet is 6-5 center Bob Lowman, who averaged 10.5 points and set a school rebounding record with 273. Pat Howlett (13.0), only 5-11, and 6-3 Bob Mallinson (10.3) are the forwards. In the backcourt are Frank Miller (7.9) and Bill Washchyn (6.9). Both are 6-2.

LIU (Metropolitan, Tri-State) — The Blackbirds soared to a 22-4 record last year and landed among the eight finalists in the NCAA College Division tournament. Albie Grant (20.1), All-Met, and Joe Martini (11.3) are gone from the club but Roy Rubin thinks this club can improve on last season's. The reasons are two, both newcomers. Luther Green (24.8), who is 6-8, is going to start at center as a sophomore. And another frosh standout, Cliff Culuko (24.1) will be at forward with veteran George Barbezat (9.3). The 'Birds own one of the best backcourts in the East in Barry Liebowitz (11.3) and Larry Newbold (16.6). Both were All-Met and All-Tri-State last campaign.

LOUISIANA STATE (Southeastern) — Press Maravich takes over the Fighting Tigers, who did not live up to their nickname last year as evidenced by a 6-20 record. Gone from that club is 6-6 Harry Heroman (17.6). The new skipper inherits three double-figure performers in 6-0 Ken Drost (12.3), who set a school foul shooting record with a .902 percentage; 6-5 Tom Thigpen (11.4) and 5-11 Brad Brian (11.1). Since Press does not know much about the personnel, he is waiting to see some practice before coming up with a lineup. There will be five sophs trying to make an impression on Maravich. The biggest is 6-8 Chuck Legler (7.0), while 6-7 Dave Ramsden (6.3) was the top scorer among the frosh. Ralph Jukkola (14.2), who plays front or back, and playmakers Jim Holland (11.5) and Rusty Bergman (10.8) are the others.

LOUISVILLE (Missouri Valley) — Peck Hickman warns that the Cardinals will be flying higher this season after a good performance last winter with a 17-9 record and a spot in the NIT. Seven veterans are back and they are joined by two promising sophomores—6-4 Butch Beard and 6-5 Jerry King. Either one could beat out 6-5 Bob Gorius (2.7) at one of the forward spots. The other belongs to 6-7 Joe Liedtke (8.2). No one is going to replace 6-8 Westley Unseld at center. The big man, who was 19.9 in the point production, was sophomore of the year in the conference, All-NIT and All-Hurricane Classic. Dave Gilbert (10.5) and Fred Holden (13.8) are the ballhandlers.

LOYOLA OF CHICAGO (Independent) — George Ireland looks forward to the coming season even though he lost five members of last year's team that posted a 22-3 record and played in the NCAA tournament. Three of the graduates, Jim Coleman (16.0), Billy Smith (18.8) and Frank Perez (8.9), were good for 36 points among them. However, three returning starters all were in twin figures. They are playmakers Alan Miller (12.9) and Doug Wardlaw (15.1) and forward Corky Bell (16.6). Jim Tillman (6.3), who is 6-5, will be alongside Bell, while 6-7 newcomer Pat Hogan, who is transferring from Wright J.C., is going to be in the middle. Ireland figures that a lack of height and very little bench strength will make it tough to match last year's mark but he is hopeful that his running offense and pressing defense will make up for some of the deficits. Artie Oakes, a 6-0 guard from Crane J.C., and holdovers Gary Bukovsky, 6-4 forward, and Bob Calihan, a 6-1 playmaker, are the mainstays in the reserve department.

LOYOLA OF LOS ANGELES (West Coast)—John Arndt called the shot almost to a letter last season when the Lions wound up 11-15. The skipper predicted a rough early-going for the club that finally jelled to gain a tie for third in the conference. Now Arndt is calling the shot again—a close battle for top honors in the league. Graduated are 6-5 forward Bob Burns (16.5) and 6-2 playmaker Clete Ademan (10.1). However, there are veterans in every starting position. Up front are Dick Sebek (11.6), who is 6-5, and 6-3 Dick Zembal (8.3), while in the pivot is 6-5 Ken Petersen (10.0). The guards are going to be Rick Adelman (15.9), No. 2 scorer last winter, and Ricky Ragsdale (5.6).

LOYOLA OF NEW ORLEANS (Independent) — The Wolfpack is going to be stronger than its 9-17 of last year since only one player from that squad, 6-4 Kan Kalinowski (18.1) has graduated. True he was the leading scorer but Bill Gardiner feels that playmaker Charlie Powell (the school's first Negro cager), who averaged 28 points with the freshmen, will take charge. In the backcourt with Powell will be another soph, Ronnie Britsch, who had a 26.3 with the yearlings. Veterans are going to hold down the front line. John Erb (9.4), who is 6-4, and 6-5 Barry Geraghty (10.4) are the forwards while 6-8 Lee Freeman (6.7) is the pivot man. Gardiner also has two solid reserves behind Erb and Geraghty in Jim Jacksonski (10.2) and Roger Radecki (10.1) while 6-7 Dan Bell (8.4) can spell Freeman.

MAINE (Yankee)—The Black Bears expect to be stronger, especially in the speed department, than last year when they 9-13. Guy Strang (14.0), the 6-5 center, has graduated but 6-4 newcomer Greg Burns (10.2 with the frosh) has indicated that he will fill the bill. The other new men are going to break into the starting unit. Jim Stevenson (13.2) will be up front with holdover Dave Hale, a 6-5 senior who was 7.8, while Dennis Clark (21.1 and the frosh's leading pointmaker) is going to handle the playmaking with Terry Carr (14.9), a second-team All-Conference selection.

MARQUETTE (Independent) — Al McGuire's two-year rebuilding job with the Warriors could reap dividends this season as he only lost one man, 6-5 Tom Flynn (15.4) from last season's team that wound up 14-12. Paul Carbins, 6-6 center who was 10.5 in points and 11.5 in rebounds, will be at center until mid-winter when he graduates. One of the guards is Bob Wolf (22.2), who made the Milwaukee Classic All-Tourney team. The other will be veteran Blanton Simmons (11.2) or 6-0 Jim Burke, a transfer from Wharton (Tex.) Junior College where he was 10.3. Brian Brunkhorst (10.6), at 6-6, is back as a forward and 6-3 George Thompson, who was 23.7 with the freshmen, is going to be his partner. McGuire is loaded with reserves up front in 6-4 Mike Curran and two 6-5s, Pat Smith and Bob Steber. They are sophs and all of them sat out last year after good performances as freshmen the previous season. The ex-New York Knickerbocker has a good replacement for Carbins in 6-8 soph Jim Bailey, who was 13.2 with the yearlings.

MARSHALL (Mid-American) — The Thundering Herd was a so-so 12-12 last year but things are going to be different this time. Only 6-4 Tom Langfitt (12.8) is the key loss while veterans are going to make up the forward line. Bob Redd (18.0), a 6-3 junior who was second-team All-Conference, and 6-7 George Stone (18.6) are the forwards. The center man is going to be 6-8 Bob Allen (3.5). Jim Davidson, a 6-3 transfer who held a scholastic high jump record, and soph Dan D'Antoni are going to be newcomers as playmakers. Coach Ellis Jackson does not see how Davidson can miss and the skipper also is impressed with another soph in the backcourt, Dallas Blankenship.

MARYLAND (Atlantic Coast) — The Terps are hoping that 6-5 Joe Harrington (10.2) has a strong recovery from a knee injury. Otherwise the season could be a disastrous. Gone from last winter's 14-11 squad are 6-5 Gary Ward (17.2) and 6-4 Neil Brayton (10.3). Bud Millikan is going with 6-7 vet Jay McMillen (15.8) up front along with Bill Jones (2.7), who also play backcourt. His size, only 6-1, hurts underneath. Richie Drescher (1.3), who played very little last year but who is 6-4, might get a crack in place of Jones and then Willie would become a guard along with soph Pete Johnson, who is quick and has good hands to go with his excellent shot from the outside.

MASSACHUSETTS (Yankee)—Taking over as head coach of a team that was 11-13 last season may not be too rough an assignment for Jack Leaman even though the Redmen's all-time scorer, Clarence Hill (24.1) has graduated. Veterans are ready to start in each spot with Frank Stewart (7.8) and Gary Gasperack (5.5), the team's most improved player, up front. Billy Tindall (14.9), a 6-5 junior and second-team All-Conference and All-New England, is in the pivot. Jim Babyak (17.7), who received laurels similar to Tindall, and Bob Murphy (2.3) are in the backcourt. Sophs who should help are 6-9 Pete Gayeska (9.2), 6-4 Frank Nowakowski (15.9) and 6-3 Mike Gemei. Also back is 6-4 Tim Edwards, who missed last year because of academics. Two seasons ago he scored an average of 16.7 points in addition to being the top rebounder.

MEMPHIS STATE (Independent) — The Tigers have nine lettermen, including the top five scorers, from last season's team that went 10-15 so it appears that last season's rebuilding efforts will pay off this year. Jim Hawkins (11.), Jack Romp (10.9), both 6-5, and Mackie Don Smith (6.8), who is four inches taller, are fighting for the assignments up front. In the middle will be one of two juniors, 6-7 Chuck Neal (8.8) or 6-8 Mike O'Dell (5.8). Mike Butler, who led all pointmakers last campaign with a 19.2 average, and either Mike Stewart (3.8) or Alan Mirrieless (2.0) are going to operate as playmakers. Wyane Carby, a 6-6 soph who was 18.7 with the frosh, 6-7 Jim Smith (19.1) and Dave Loos (13.5), a 6-2 guard, are the best-looking newcomers. The defense, which allowed 82.3 points per outing, must improve if the Tigers are going to go anywhere.

MIAMI, FLA. (Independent) — The Hurricanes have four starters returning who averaged from 13.2 to 21.8 in compiling a 15-11 record last year. Little wonder then that the offense is set. Rusty Parker (13.2) and Mike Wittman (21.8), who was selected All-State, are back as forwards. Both are 6-6. Junior Gee (17.0), another All-State pick, and Rick Jones (17.5) are veterans playmakers. Center was weak last winter so the graduation of 6-6 Charlie Grob (2.4) and 6-7 Don Patrican (3.4) causes no problem. Matter of fact the middle should be stronger with the addition of 6-8 transfer Bill Soens and 6-9 Pete Mitchell, who needs some experience. The schedule is stronger, but like Bruce Hale says, the name of the game is points. And he has shooters.

MIAMI OF OHIO (Mid-American) — If Tate Locke can do for the Redskins what he did for Army, the team is "home free." Locke, who produced All-America Mike Silliman and an NIT team at West Point, takes over an 18-7 team that lost 6-6 Jim Patterson (15.6) at center and 6-5 Jerry Pierson (12.8) up front. Taking over in the middle will be soph Tom Slater, who is 6-6, or 6-7 holdover Joe Ellison (1.0). Phil Snow (13.8), a Little All-America pick, and Jerry Fisher (6.8) are the guards. Fred Foster (3.4) and Frank Lucaca (7.8) will be up front. Miami figures it will be tough to retain the title with such inexperience but Locke has that way about him.

MICHIGAN (Big Ten) — Cazzie Russell has graduated. So have the four other players who started with the All-America guard who averaged 30.8 last season in leading the Wolverines to the conference championship and a spot in the NCAA tournament. Some of the top men on the bench have received their sheepskins, too. Little wonder then that Dave Strack has to start three sophomores—Dennis Stewart and Clarence Adams, both 6-6, up front, and 5-9 Ken Maxey in the back. That leaves Dennis Bankey (3.9) as Maxey's partner and 6-10 Craig Dill (6.0) as the center. Strack, however, feels his squad will be tough by mid-season so the rebuilding job could be a quick one.

MICHIGAN STATE (Big Ten) — The Spartans are starting to believe that John Benington is some sort of a miracle man after leading them to a 17-7 record and second place in the conference. Quite an achievement for a first year when you consider that he inherited a team that finished in the cellar in the conference with 1-13 and 5-18 overall. Coming up with a forward line to take the place of 6-3 Stan Washington (18.0) and 6-4 Bill Curtis (16.4) is the big problem. Right now 6-6 sophomore Lee Lafayette appears ready to move right in to one of the spots with Art Baylor (4.5). Matty Aitch (13.8), a 6-7 senior, returns in the middle while Steve Rymal (8.3) and John Bailey (8.1) are the playmakers. John Holmes, who is 6-4, 5-7 Richie Jordan and 6-10 Tom Lick, all sophs, look like the best among the newcomers for bench strength.

MIDDLEBURY (Independent) — The Panthers lacked a real scoring punch last year, and as a result, finished 4-18. That could change quite a bit if 6-5 sophomore Dick Minton (21.5) takes up where he left off with the freshmen. He is being counted on up front with 6-3 holdover Pete Roby (11.8). The backcourt is strong with Dave Vanier (14.6) and Dave Nicholson (7.4) while 6-4 John Hoben (1.1) must come through in the pivot.

MINNESOTA (Big Ten) — The Gophers have lost four double-figure scorers from last year's 14-10 squad—forwards Archie Clark (24.5) and Dennis Dvoracek (10.7) and playmakers Lou Hudson (19.8) and Wes Martins (10.3). Still Johnny Kundla expects to have a strong squad. Tom Kondla (10.9), a 6-7 pivot man, and 6-5 Paul Presthus (11.2) are the best holdovers. Soph Leroy Gardner will be with Presthus up front while reserves Wayne Barry (0.4) and Dean Lopata (1.4) are taking over in backcourt, which figures to be the weak area.

MISSISSIPPI (Southeastern) — Ole Miss was a miserable 5-18 last winter. Little wonder then that Eddie Crawford is not looking for any miracles overnight. Starting his fifth year, the coach will be satisfied with vast improvement. To achieve that goal, he will have two starters back—6-5 center Chuck Burhorn (11.8) and 6-0 guard Larry Martindale (8.2). Jerry Brawner, a 6-8 soph who had a 10.4 average as a frosh, and 6-6 Dale Stevens (9.7), another sophomore, are leading candidates at forward. However, Brawner could go to the pivot and Burhorn would switch to the front. Two other sophs are getting the nod in the backcourt, 6-5 Ken Turner (16.5) and 6-1½ Ed Miller (18.5). Both are good shooters and they move the ball well.

MISSISSIPPI STATE (Southeastern) — Joe Dan Gold is starting his second season with the Bulldogs and he thinks his squad is ready to challenge Adolph Rupp and his Kentucky boys for the conference title. Only guard Paul Smith (8.0) is missing from the club that went 14-11 and placed third last winter. All-Conference Dave Williams (19.7), who is 6-7, and 6-4 John Sapen (9.4) will handle the forward spots. Herb Biggs (8.0), who is 6-9, is in the pivot, and Gary Washington (12.0) and Buddy Walden (7.2) are the guards. There also are five sophs who look good. The smallest are 6-4, Manny Washington (9.4) and Bibba Walker (14.). The tallest are 6-7 Glenn Hartley (15.7) and Jim Martin (13.8), who is the same height. In between there is 6-5 Chuck Wade (15.6). The height, speed and scoring ability are there. Progress is what Gold wants and he has achieved it thus far.

MISSOURI (Big Eight) — The Tigers have four starters back from a team that was 3-21, but coach Bob Vanatta knows he has a long road to travel to get back into the thick of things in the conference. Bob Dinsdale (7.1) is up front, Dick Milling (6.0), who is 6-8, is in the pivot and Ron Coleman (21.3), the third highest scorer in the school's history, and Rob Vanatta (6.5), the coach's son, are the playmakers. The other forward spot will go to either 6-6 John Weston, a soph who was 14.1 with the freshman team, or 6-5 holdover Gary Frazier (3.7). More help should come from another pair of sophs, 6-11 Booker Brown (15.9) and 6-2 John Duft (19.0).

MONTANA STATE (Big Sky) — The way Roger Craft sees it, the Bobcats are going to surprise a lot of people and rebound strongly from a 7-17 record that followed three good seasons prior to that. The graduation losses were very little. 6-5 Tom Storm (23.6), All-Conference pick, is returning up front, while veterans also will be in backcourt. They are Bill Gillespie (11.6) and Jim Moffit (16.0), both 6-3. Jack Gillespie, a 6-9 soph who scored at a 19.8 clip with the yearlings, will be in the pivot, while 6-6 Greg Harris (18.1), another soph, is going to be Storm's partner.

MOREHEAD STATE (Ohio Valley) — It is not often that the Eagles wind up with a 12-12 record. The way Bob Wright sees it, the boys from Kentucky will be way above that mark for the next few seasons since only one holdover, 6-5 center Bruce King (11.3), seems a certain starter. Willie Jackson and Lamar Green, a pair of 6-7 sophomores who averaged 43 points between them with the frosh, seem to have the edge over 6-5 holdover Charlie Adams (15.8) up front. The same situation holds true with the guards where veteran Jim Sandfoss (15.9) is fighting off two newcomers, Jerry Conley (18.0) and Randy Williams (15.6).

MUHLENBERG (Middle Atlantic) — The Mules will be kicking this year following a 4-18 performance since 6-3 Maano Milles (7.4) is the only man lost from that squad. Tom Barlow (18.5) and Al Wise (12.2) are up front, Bill Dunkel (9.7) is at center even though he only is 6-1, and the guards are Bob Wertz (8.6) and John Heck (5.0). Height will be the biggest drawback for coach Ken Moyer as Barlow is the tallest man at 6-3.

NAVY (Independent) — Ben Carnevale has left as the Middies' coach to take over as athletic director of his alma mater, NYU. Dave Smalley, the new man in charge of the future ensigns, finds very little left from a team that was a big disappointment in finishing 7-12. The top two scorers from that club, Chris Reddington (15.8) and Bill Radcliffe (16.6) have graduated. Smalley does not have a proven 'big man' and none of the returnees has proven that he can be a consistent scorer. Hugh Gilmartin looms at the best player. A 6-3 forward, he averaged 8.3 and will start up front with soph John Tolmie, who was the best pointmaker with the freshmen at 20.4. Charlie Brewer, only 6-6 and with a 3.2 average, is the center, while the guards are going to be Tim Cohane (4.1) and Tom Martin (5.9) or Norbie Ryan (3.0).

NEBRASKA (Big Eight) — The Cornhuskers were 20-5 overall last winter and 12-2 in the conference for the best performance in 45 years. This season Joe Cipriano expects his boys to battle Kansas all the way for the championship. Grant Simmons (15.2), All-Conference and All-District guard, is the only loss through graduation. Veterans will be in every position starting with 6-5 junior Tom Bacck (15.4), who broke the school's sophomore scoring record, and 6-4 Nate Branch (13.5) up front. Willie Campbell (8.8), another 6-6 performer, is in the pivot, while the playmakers are Stu Lantz (12.2) and Jim Damm (2.8). Three sophs have given every indication that they will give Nebraska a strong bench. Roger Leitner (19.1) is a 6-6 forward while Don Shaver (9.8) and Bob Wagner (12.0) are guards.

NEW MEXICO (Western A.C.) — Bob Kings looks for good improvement on last year's 16-8 because of the return of All-America center Mel Daniels (21.2), who set a school scoring average record enroute to receiving all kinds of honors. With him is 6-3 forward Ben Monroe, a defensive standout. Bill Morgan (12.9), a 6-7 senior, is Monroe's partner. Ron Nelson, a transfer from New Mexico Military College where he went 25.6, and Don Hoover (7.3) are the playmakers. Another transfer is 6-8 Ken Barnett from Trinidad (Colo.) JC while promising sophs are 6-3 Scott Lund (10.8), 6-5 Howie Grimes (12.8), 6-2 Keith Griffith (7.7) and 6-5 Steve Shropshire (7.2).

NEW MEXICO STATE (Independent) — The Aggies may be stronger than last winter's 4-22 record but it may not show up in the won-lost records since the schedule is the toughest ever in the school's history. Junior college transfers are being counted on to start and also to strengthen the bench. There are five of them and four could very well break into the first five. Up front there is 6-6 Dick Collins (17.0 with Coahoma JC) while 6-11 Craig Leggett is in the middle. Backcourt there are Willie Ford (20.0 as a teammate of Collins), Paul Landis (23.4 with Grossmont JC) and Bob Evans (28.0 with Lubbock CC). Holdovers are 6-6 Wes Morehead (5.2), 6-3 Cliff Noble (5.6), 6-5 Larry Mason (12.5) and 6-2 John Gambill (12.3).

NEW YORK INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY (Independent) — Hank Jacobsohn has everybody back from a team that went 13-8 last year, the first real big season for the Bears. However, even with veterans and some strong newcomers the skipper isn't climbing out on a limb and predicting all sorts of victories because the schedule calls for only a handful of home games. Bob Holzman (20.2), All-Met New York small college selection, Tony Martin (16.8), the captain and top rebounder, and 6-6 soph Rudy Bennett (25.6) are the three men up front. Ed Gilfeather, a 6-4 transfer from Belmont Abbey where he averaged 15.7, might force Holzman backcourt with Carl Watler (20.8). Top reserves will be 6-8 Larry Brett (7.7), 6-5 Roger McMillan (2.4) and 6-3 Alex Langel (5.9).

NYU (Metropolitan) — Height has been the problem for the Violets for the past few seasons and the story will be no different this time. Lou Rossini's team went 18-10 last winter and reached the finals of the NIT against Brigham Young. Gone from that squad are two key men, 6-5 Stan McKenzie (21.2), who did most of the rebounding, and playmaker Richie Dyer (10.9). The big returnee is 6-1 guard Mal Graham (24.3), an All-Met selection. Jim Miller, who had a 24-point average with the freshmen, figures to work with him. Another possibility is Steve Fiske, a transfer from CCNY's Evening School. Another transfer, 6-7 Paul Wallahora from Rhode Island, is very much in the picture at center against 6-5 holdover Gary Witrock (2.7). Bruce Kaplan (14.8), the captain, is going to be up front with Charlie Silen (6.6). Sophs who figure to give Lou a strong bench are 6-7 Steve Rennekamp and Dave Basile and George Rubin, both 6-5.

NORTH CAROLINA (Atlantic Coast) — The Tar Heels really expect to kick up a storm this season since there were no appreciable losses from last year's 16-11 squad and since there will be a good crop of sophomores available. Dean Smith feels he has two solid All-America candidates in Bob Lewis (27.4), top vote-getter in the conference all-star voting, and Larry Miller (20.9), sophomore of the year in the league. Both are 6-3 and can play front or back. Right now the coach is planning on using Miller as a forward and Lewis in the backcourt. Tom Gauntlett (9.8), a 6-5 senior, is going to be with Miller while a pair of sophs hold down the other two berths. Rusty Clark, a 6-11 performer who averaged 20 points as a frosh, will be at center and 6-5 Dick Grubar (15.1) is going to be alongside Lewis. The other newcomers who have Smith in a good mood are 6-8 Bill Bunting (15.9), 6-5 Joe Brown (11.0) and playmaker Gerry Tuttle (10.1).

NORTH CAROLINA STATE (Atlantic Coast) — Six of the top eight scorers have graduated from last season's 18-9 club. The Wolfpack also made the finals of the conference tournament for the past two campaigns but things figure to be different this time. Norman Sloan, the new coach, must rebuild since playmaker Eddie Biedenbach (16.2), last season's best scorer, is the only returning starter. Four others are battling to play alongside Eddie, who was All-Conference. Reserve Sam Gealy (2.3), Dick Braucher and Nick Trifunovich, both up from the freshman team, and Jack Douglass, a "red shirt," make up the quartet. Jerry Moore (2.6) and Bill Kretzer (2.4), both 6-7 subs last winter, are top contenders for the front line, while 6-11 Paul Hudson (2.0) should step in and take over at center.

NORTH DAKOTA (North Central) — Vern Praus, a 6-5 forward, and Hal Bates, a 6-2 guard, both sophomores, hold the key to success for the Sioux, who were quite successful last winter with a 24-5 record. That included a No. 2 ranking among the small colleges in the country and a fourth-place finish in the NCAA College Division tournament. Nine members of that team have graduated so little wonder that Bill Fitch will find plenty of inexperience. Praus (14.7 with the frosh) is going to battle 6-4 Jim Hester (13.5) for one job up front. No question that the other belongs to 6-8 Phil Jackson (21.8), MVP in the conference, AP and UPI small college All-America and holder of 11 school records in addition to being named to the NCAA All-Tourney squad. Sid Wingfield (1.0), who is 6-6, can expect plenty of competition from 6-9 sophomore Dave Godfreed (8.3) for the nod in the pivot.

NORTHEASTERN (Independent) — The Huskies expect to better last year's 18-8 record, which was the best in the school's history. Only 6-2 center Gerry Knight (9.3) graduated. Coach R. Dukeshire expects to use 12 men since he has a strong front court, an experienced back court and a bench. Art Christopher (8.9) and Harry Barnes (12.6) are up front, 6-5 Mike Wallent (6.4) is in the pivot and Dick Weitzman (14.3) and Jim McNaught (12.0) are the guards. Carl Chandler, a 6-6 soph who averaged 15 points with the frosh, and 5-10 John Modest (12.0) are the promising newcomers. Another is Leo Osgood, a 5-10 transfer from Chamberlain College where he had a 23-point average.

NORTH TEXAS STATE (Missouri Valley) — Dan Spira is counting on three junior college transfers—Richie Brown and Frank Novak (both 6-3) and playmaker Doug Willoughby to get the Eagles flying again after last year's 5-20 record. In the conference, the club went winless in 14 starts. Spira is not sure if the trio is going to start but he does plan on them as top reserves. The forwards could be a pair of sophs, 6-6 Bill Cutter (25.4) and 6-5 Matt Huff (10.8), while 6-8 Willie Davis (17.4), All-Conference selection, is the center. Rubin Russell, another All-Conference pick who tallied 18.3 points per outing, and Ron Miller (8.5) are down for the backcourt.

NORTHWESTERN (Big Ten) — The conference's leading center, 6-10 Jim Pitts (12.4 and 321 rebounds) has graduated and while Larry Glass will miss him, the prospects are for an improvement on last season's 12-12 record. The five remaining lettermen figure to take over the starting berths. That means Mike Weaver (12.0 overall and 15.6 in the conference) and Jim Cummins (5.2) are up front, 6-6 Ron Kozlicki (14.2), a converted forward, is in the middle and Jim Burns (20.2) fifth leading point maker in the conference, and Walt Tiberi (8.1) are backcourt. Three sophs are looking to crack the lineup, too. Sterling Burke, who is 6-6, can go in the pivot or up front, 6-4 Dan Davis is a forward and 6-0 Terry Gamber a playmaker.

NOTRE DAME (Independent) — The Fighting Irish have a long way to bounce back from a 5-21 record to live up to their nickname. Johnny Dee, however, looks for quite a bit of improvement because of three sophs—6-6 Bob Arnzen up front, 6-8 Bob Whitmore in the middle and Dwight Murphy in back court. Jim Monahan, the captain who was 15.1 last season, is going to be alongside Murphy while a pair of 6-5 vets, Brian Keller (11.4) and Tom Caldwell (11.6) fight to become Arnzen's partner.

OHIO (Mid-American) — Jim Snyder never really had a starting unit last year when the Bobcats went 13-10. And he is not sure of a first five right now even though he has an experienced team. The way it stands, 6-4 Ken Fowlkes (16.1), 6-7 Fred Cluff (8.3) and 6-7 Don Spires (5.2) are fighting up front. Spires might be used in the middle if 6-9 John Schroeder (12.4) should falter while Jerry McKee (23.0 with the frosh) goes after a backcourt job against holdovers Dave Brown (12.0) and Mike Hammond (10.7).

OHIO STATE (Big Ten) — Three sophomores are going to be in the starting lineup for Fred Taylor as he tries to get the Buckeyes back on the winning track after last winter's disappointing 11-13 record. The newcomers are 6-4 Jeff Miller and Steve Howell, an inch taller, both forwards, and 6-1 Bruce Schnabel as one of the playmakers. The other will be holdover Ron Sepic (15.4) while 6-7 Bill Hosket, the team's leading scorer at 18.5, is in the middle. Two double-figure scorers from last year, Al Peters (10.3) and Bob Dove (17.2), have graduated and that leaves Taylor with little scoring power on the bench. The best holdover among the reserves is Al Rowley, a 6-0 guard whose average was 6.5. Dennis Meadors, another small man, looks like another soph who will develop quickly.

OKLAHOMA (Big Eight) — Bob Stevens is shooting to get the Sooners over the .500 mark. And the goal should not be too tough to reach since the five departing lettermen only accounted for a combined average of 20 points. Willie Gaines, a 6-3 transfer from Henderson Junior College who registered 49 and 52 points, respectively, against Kilgore JC, is breaking into the lineup at guard. Terry Due (3.9), a 6-3 junior, will his partner. Don Sidle (17.6), a 6-8 junior who made second-team All-Conference, is in the pivot and Willie Rogers (16.0), who duplicated Sidle's honors, and Jim Johnson (10.1), a 6-4 senior who has cleared seven feet as a high jumper, will be at forward. Three sophs—5-10 Gary Kizziar, 6-2 Joe Holladay and 6-5 Landy Watson—should come through, also.

OKLAHOMA City (Independent) — The Chiefs turned in a 24-5 record last season, best in the school's history. Gone, however, are 6-7 Jim Ware (16.6), who was the nation's top rebounder with a 20.9 average; playmaker Jerry Lee Wells (27.1) and forward Charlie Hunter (19.6). The big man among the holdovers is guard Gary Gray (21.1). He will be with soph Richie Travis, who had a brilliant 28.8 with the frosh. Houston Thomas, a 6-8 transfer from Cameron (Okla.) J.C., takes over in the middle and up front are Gary Williams, a 6-8½ transfer from Kansas State, and 6-7 Ardell England, a transfer from Murray (Okla.) J.C. The new men must come through to have the Chiefs even come close to last year's mark.

OKLAHOMA STATE (Big Eight) — Ever think that a Hank Iba-coached team would sink to a 4-21 record? That is what happened last year, the worst in Iba's 32 seasons at Oklahoma State, and even though seven lettermen return, sophomores figure to dominate the picture. Jim Feamster (11.8), who is 6-6½, returns as the best scorer and rebounder while the top outside shot, Bill Fisher (8.1), also is back. Ready or not, sophs are going to fill the other spots. Joe Smith, who measures 6-4½, can play up front or guard. 6-9 Charlie Savell, who is very green, and 6-3 Ken O'Neal and 5-9 Gene Hawk are other leading newcomers. Al Winder, a 6-1 transfer from Allen Hancock JC in Santa Maria, Calif., where he averaged 23 points, also should help in the backcourt. Iba has no idea of a starting lineup. "We have problems," he said, "and we have some answers, too."

OREGON (AAWU) — Steve Belko is not quite sure what to expect following the loss of Jim Barnett (19.3), the Ducks' leading scorer as well as playmaker and leader. Nick Jones (11.4), a senior, is going to take over now and he will have either 6-4 junior Ken Smith (3.9) or a 6-2 soph, Rick Abrahamson (15.1 with the frosh), alongside him. Center is in the best shape it has been for the last few seasons with 6-7 junior Jim Pinkstaff (10.2), while up front are 6-7 Bob Craven (6.9), a junior, and 6-6 senior Bill Thomas (5.0). Lack of depth will hurt and a top-notch forward also would make things a little brighter.

OREGON STATE (AAWU) — The Beavers have to be weaker than the 1965-66 squad that went 21-7 overall enroute to the conference title since three starters—guards Charlie White and Scott Eaton and a forward, Rick Whelan—have graduated. They represented 27 points a game. Paul Valenti's squad was No. 1 in the country in defense and that does not figure to happen again because the trio were the leaders in that department, too. Valenti is building the team around 6-5 guard Loy Petersen, only a junior, who was second team All-Conference as a soph. He averaged 12.8. The one big asset in the lineup is height as the front men, Harry Gunner and Karl Weide, and the center, Ed Fredenburg, all are 6-6. The other playmaker is 6-3 Vince Fritz, a soph who was 21.7 with the freshmen. Fredenburg (9.6) is the only holdover who did much scoring.

OSWEGO STATE (State U. of N.Y.) — The Lakers are rebounding from a 5-14 record, the first losing one in 10 years. The top holdovers are 6-0 guard Bud Vredenburg, who threw in a 79-foot field goal to beat Buffalo State at the buzzer, and 6-4 forward Bill Forster. Both averaged 10 points last year. The most promising of the newcomers from a frosh team that went 13-3 are Chuck Jeffrey, who averaged 19 points, and Bob Lilley, a good rebounder.

PAN AMERICAN (Independent) — Sam Williams is putting himself on the spot and predicts that the Broncs are fielding the best team in the school's history. It has everything—size, rebounding, scoring, playmaking. Otto Moore, a 6-11 junior who averaged 20 points in his first year of varsity ball, is in the middle. Up front are 6-5 Alex Gillim (10.2), 6-7 Tony Eatmon (18.5) or 6-5 Dick Masek, a transfer from Dade Junior College of Miami where he averaged 16 points. Three players up from the frosh are fighting for the backcourt berths. They are Lonnie Reynolds, Howie Fuller and Vern Boswell. All are good on defense and better than average in scoring. For some big reserves, Williams has 6-7 Mark Wagaman, a transfer from N.W. Community College in Powell, Wyo., and 6-7 soph Drew Cherner.

PENNSYLVANIA (IVY) — Dick Harter, the new coach, knows the Quakers will be weaker than last year's 19-6 team following the loss of All-League forward Stan Pawlak (23.2) and playmaker Jeff Neuman (18.8). Charlie Snell, a 6-5 soph who was 18.7 as a frosh, is moving into Pawlak's spot while two other newcomers, Pete Andrews (12.6) and Jeff Osowski (15.3) are fighting for Neuman's job alongside holdover Tom Northrup, who did very little scoring. Tom Mallison (9.6), a 6-10 junior who was fourth in Ivy League rebounding, is up front. The league's top man under the boards, 6-8 Frank Burgess (7.5), who also was All-Ivy, is the pivot man.

PENN STATE (Independent) — Things look bad for the Nittany Lions. Matter of fact it has been five years since the picture was as bleak. Last year's team went 18-6 and made the NIT but missing are 6-4 Carver Clinton (18.9), 6-5 Ray Saunders (10.5) and 6-1 Jim Reed (11.9). On top of that, 11 of the first 13 games this winter will be on the road. The backcourt is manned by holdovers in Jeff Persson (13.7), who was on the Gator Bowl All-Tourney team, and Gary Hayes (2.0). In addition, Steve Peters, a transfer from Army, becomes eligible in January and he will be a big help. Paul Mickey, a 6-9 senior who averaged 10 points last year, is in the middle while three sophs fight for the work up front. They are 6-8 Bill Stansfield, 6-6 Bill Young and 6-5 Galen Godbey. The bench also is going to be a problem with seniors Joe McGovern (1.3) and Ralph Guyton (1.1) as the only players on hand who saw any kind of action at all last year.

PEPPERDINE (West Coast A.C.) — The Waves have to splash better than last year's 2-24 edition since all five starters are back. In addition, there are six junior college transfers, four of them from one school. The way things stand, holdovers are getting the nod from Bob Dowell but the newcomers figure to have something to say about that. Steve Ebey (13.1) and Rick Deuel (8.2), 6-4 and 6-5 respectively, are up front, while Tandy Holmes (21.1), second-team All-Conference, is in the pivot. Playmakers are Ron Whitehouse (12.4) and Gary Dinnel (11.0). From Oklahoma JC come 6-9 Hal Grant (13.1), 6-7 Jim Johnson (7.6), 6-2 Junios Simon (20.1) and 6-3 Lou Lillie (21.3). Bill Mozee (12.3) and Tim Flowers (15.4) are the other transfers and they play back court. And 6-4 soph Steve Nrad (23.4) also should help.

PITTSBURGH (Independent) — The Panthers will miss defensive ace Larry Szykowny, who also averaged 15.4 points a game, but they will improve in a large way over last year's dismal 7-15. The three top lettermen are going to start—6-4 Ken Bollens (8.7) up front, 6-5 Jim LaValley (9.6) at center and 6-1 Stan Falenski (12.2) at guard. Two newcomers fill the others spots. Dave Welty will be in the backcourt and 6-4 Lenny Kalata up with Bollens.

PRINCETON (Ivy) — "Relatively optimistic". That is the way Bill van BredaKolff feels about the Tigers for the coming season. The coach, whose team dropped to fourth place in the league and 16-7 overall after gaining the NCAA classic the previous winter, expects to be in the thick of things for the Ivy championship what with the addition of 6-9 Chris Thomforde, who was 25.2 with the frosh, at center. Bob Brown (7.8), who is 6-9, and a pair of 6-6ers, Ed Hummer (12.8) and John Haarlow (11.2) are the key men up front. Speedy Gary Walters (8.0) and Joe Heiser (12.6) are the playmakers and they are supported by Larry Lucchino (2.0) and Dave Lawyer (4.4).

PROVIDENCE (Independent) — Bill Blair (12.8), Jim Benedict (16.5) and two big centers, 6-6 Bill Lasher (4.4) and 6-8 Bob Kovalski (5.2), have graduated. The four were among the top six performers on last year's club that went 22-5 in making the NCAA tourney. No one feels sorry for Joe Mullaney, however, since the Friars' coach has All-America Jimmy Walker (24.5) returning in the backcourt. In addition, he gains 6-8 Tony Koski, a transfer from Leicester Junior College, to play up front with Mike Riordan (10-3). Al Hayes (20.8 with the frosh) is going to fight Steve Sarantopoulos (1.9) for the assignment alongside Walker. And there are three sophs who can play up front — 6-5 Bill Judkins (22.2) and Anderson Clary (19.8) and Stu Marquis (15.6). All proved themselves to be scorers with the freshmen. So things are not as bad as they seem up Providence way.

PURDUE (Big Ten) — The Boilermakers, 8-16 last year, the first for coach George King, have lost the nation's No. 1 scorer, 6-4 Dave Schellhase. Gone also are 7-0 center Dave Garms and the other forward, 6-7 Doug Trudeau. Losing size like that makes it a tough task for King and Co. to climb out of the cellar of one of the top conferences in the country. One of the bright spots is the promotion of Herman Gilliam, a 6-2½ guard-forward, who was 15.4 with the frosh. He figures to be one of the league's top performers and the Purdue coach is going to use him up front with 6-5 holdover Keith Berkey (6.8). Reserve center Hank Suerth (only 2.5), who is 6-6, replaces Garms. Hanery Ebershoff (15.8) and either Denny Brady (10.3) or soph Bill Keller (14.5) are going to be in backcourt.

RHODE ISLAND (Yankee) — Steve Chubin (23.5), the highest scorer in Ram history, has graduated from last year's team that made the NCAA tourney and finished with a 20-8 record. So have three other double-figure performers so Ernie Calverley has his work cut out for him. Larry Johnson (8.4), a 6-0 playmaker, and 6-4 center Art Stephenson (13.8), All-Conference second-team, are the veteran starters. Sophs have to step in and do the job at the other three spots. Tom Hoyle (15.2), is up front with 6-7 Dick Coleman (14.6) although the latter might switch with Stephenson. Leon Mintschenko (8.5), the "quarterback" with the young Rams, will be alongside Johnson.

RICE (Southwest) — The Owls have to hoot this year. After going 1-22 last season, there is no place to go but up. And Rice hopes to do that with a brand new coach, Don Knodel. Gone from last year's team is 6-5 Doug McKendrick, the top scorer at 19.9. Bill Doty (13.4), a 6-6 senior, moves from the pivot to forward along with 6-7 junior Farrar Stockton (6.4). Larry Miller returns in the backcourt where he averaged 7.4. He will have a new partner in 5-9 Greg Williams, a soph who averaged 13.2 with the frosh. Another man moved up from the young Owls, 6-7 Jim Hubenak, who was 19.9, is going to work in the pivot. For a one-two scoring punch on the bench, Knodel inherits two more sophs, 6-6 Mike Frizzell and 6-3 Johnny Coles, who also can operate backcourt. Both averaged 15.8 with the frosh.

RICHMOND (Southern) — The Spiders are going to be improved over last year's fourth-place finish (9-7) in the conference and 12-13 overall. Coach Lewis Mills guarantees that even though he has lost his No. 2 scorer, Spike Welsh (19.5). Mills feels as he does because the other four starters are back. Harvery Roberts (7.6) and Tom Green (15.8) are up front, 6-8 Buster Batts (11.3) is at center and All-Conference Johnny Moates (20.0) is one of the guards. The other is Picot Frazier, a soph who was 17.0 with the freshmen. Larry Patterson (24.0), also up from the frosh, will help at forward since he is 6-4. Overall height is going to hurt the Spiders but Mills thinks the rebounding will get better as the season progresses.

RIDER (Middle Atlantic) — John Carpenter takes over as head coach as successor to Dick Harter, who has gone to Penn. And the new man finds himself in the University Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference (Rider is a newcomer) with very little experience from last year's team that wound up 16-9. Six members of that squad have graduated and Carpenter starts his rebuilding year around 6-4 Greg Cisson (12.2), who will be up front. John Rode, who was 17.2 with the freshmen, could be the other forward. Chuck Higgins (7.8), only 6-4, might move to the pivot. John Goodwin (3.6), Al Milligan (2.0) and Bill Wood (1.9) are the holdover guards and the lone newcomer worth anything is Jose Reed, who was 14.6 with the yearlings.

ROCHESTER (Independent) — Finding a replacement for Dave Deutsch, a Little All-America selection at guard, is the big problem confronting Lyle D. Brown. The Yellow-jackets, 13-6 last year, also are minus their other playmaker, Ron Brown. Bruce Brown and Warren Bennia must step in and take over or the season will be a total loss. Bill Baum (13.2), who is 6-3, 6-5 Jack Hurley and 6-7 Mike Werner comprise the front court. George Park (5.3) could turn out to be a good scorer and move into the starting five. The schedule is one of the toughest attempted in many years by the New York State school.

RUTGERS (Independent) — The Scarlet Knights were 17-7 last year and just missed getting a bid to the NIT. Bill Foster looks for a better record this time and no 'just missed' when the tourney bids go out. Bob Lloyd, a 6-1 guard who is nine points short of the school's all-time scoring record of 1,245 with a full season ahead of him, is one of the reasons for the optimistic attitude. Jim Valvano, the other guard (15.6), is another. Doug Brittelle, a 6-7 soph who was 21.0 with the young Knights, is a third. Foster figures the opposition cannot double-team Lloyd as it has done in the past. Joining Brittelle up front is 6-6 Rick Harley (8.2) and pivot man will be 6-5 Doug Clark (7.5).

SEATTLE (Independent) — Lionel Purcell has every reason to believe that last year's 16-10 record will be bettered. Veterans are ready for every position and the moment they falter sophs and transfers are ready to step in. Tom Workman (22.12), 6-7 All-District second team selection, and 6-6 Jim LaCour (9.85) are up front. The pivot man is 6-7 Malkin Strong (13.9) while Plummer Lott (8.4) and Steve Looney (11.5) are in back court. Gary Foster (26.17 with the frosh), is a soph looking to get a crack at guard. So are two transfers, Dave Pinamonti and Harvey Jackson, brother of Tony Jackson, the former All-America from St. John's. Elzie Johnson (12.5), a 6-5 senior, finds himself as a reserve up front despite his fine scoring last year.

SETON HALL (Metropolitan) — Richie Regan went through a 6-18 record last season and has nine lettermen returning. However, only one of them, 6-4 Terry Morawski (16.6), the team's leading scorer and pivot man, figures to start. A bright crop of sophomores gives Regan something to look forward to a year from now. John Suminski (top scorer with the frosh at 25.1) is going to be at forward with 6-6 Richie Dooley (13.3). Larry Rovelted (16.5) and Kevin Foley (10.7) are the newcomers moving into the backcourt although the latter might get some trouble from veteran Gerry Mackey (5.7). Dooley is the biggest man at 6-6 and that is not very big for the schedule the Pirates tackle.

SAN FRANCISCO (West Coast) — Phil Vukicevich inherits a team that went 22-6 last year and split a pair of games in the NIT. However, the three best scorers, 6-8 center Erwin Mueller (18.4), 6-6 forward Joe Ellis (18.1) and playmaker Russ Gumina (13.9) — have graduated. The way the new man sizes up the situation, it will take a few games to overcome the loss of that scoring punch. Dennis Black (10.1), 6-5 junior, and Don Snyder (4.6), an inch shorter, are the forward men. Tom Brown (2.2), a 6-6 holdover, is in the middle but soph Kim Kellenberg (12.8 with the frosh), is battling him. Larry Blum (9.1) and Tim Hayes, a 6-3 transfer from Springfield (Ill.) Junior College, are going to be the guards. The Don's are very high on Black, who was the highest scoring soph since two-time All America Ollie Johnson. He set a conference field goal record by going 58 of 98 for a 59.2 percentage.

SANTA CLARA (WCAC) — Slight improvement on last year's 16-11 record. That is the prediction of Dick Garibaldi for his club, which had its best mark in three years to finish third in the conference. Eric Paulson, a three-year starter at guard, and center Dick Levitt have graduated. Mike Gervasoni, a 5-10 guard who was the Broncos top scorer for the second season in a row (15.8 average), headlines the returnees. Mike Dooling, a reserve last year, is going to be his partner. Bob Heaney (12.9), a 6-6 junior and No. 2 point man, and 6-5 Larry Dunlap are the front men. The pivot is the problem. Kevin Donahue, who is 6-5 and who spelled Levitt, has the edge over 6-4 Terry Porter. Another problem is depth.

SOUTH CAROLINA (Atlantic Coast) — Once again a Frank McGuire-coached team should be among the cream of the crop in the country. Coming off an 11-13 season where three of the starters were sophomores gives every indication that Frank's rebuilding program is finally going to reap dividends. Only 6-6 John Schroeder (4.4) is gone at center and 6-8 Mike Grosso, a soph who was 22.7 with the frosh, takes over. That is one reason why the Gamecocks are confident. Another is 6-6 Gary Gregor, who was ineligible since posting a 16.7 scoring mark and a 13.1 rebounding average in nine games two years ago. Frank Standard (13.0) and Al Salvadori (13.8), a 6-9 senior, are other forwards. Jack Thompson (10.8), All-State selection, and Skip Harlicka (14.3), the club's leading scorer, are the playmakers.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA (AAWU) — The Trojans will have a new coach, Bob Boyd, and plenty of new faces as they try to better last year's 13-14. Only two starters are back—6-0 guard Harvey Dillon (12.2) and 6-6 Jim Marsh (4.9), who is on the inexperienced side. Two junior college transfers, 6-6 Bill Hewitt and 6-3 Ernie Powell, are up front, while Vince Mannino is up from the frosh team where he averaged 20.6 and scored 38 points in the final game against UCLA. Rebounding is going to be the big problem and should Marsh fail to work out in the middle, two sophs are going to get a shot, 7-0 Ron Taylor and 6-6 Bob Clemo, both double-figure scorers with the frosh.

SOUTHERN METHODIST (Southwest) — The Mustangs lost 6-7 pivotman Carroll Hooser (20.1) from last year's 17-9 club but Doc Hayes' aggregation could easily match or better the record. The reasons why are three—6-7 Lynn Phillips (21.6), 6-3 Bill Voight (29.9) and 6-2 Gary Sibley (19.8). All are sophomores, and while Voight looks like the only one to get a start up front, the other two should help plenty. Veterans are in all other spots, John Higginbotham (7.1), a 6-6 junior, is going to be Voight's partner. Bob Begert (12.8), All-Conference honorable mention, is going to center and Denny Holman (13.5) and All-Conference Charlie Beasley (18.7) are the ballhandlers.

STANFORD (AAWU) — Howie Dallmar is moaning . . . and with reason. The Indians, 13-12 overall and third in the conference last winter, are without solid big men for the first time in five seasons. Gone is 6-9 Ray Kosanke (14.0 and 226 rebounds). Artie Harris (16.0 as a guard), who is 6-4, is being moved up front since he was No. 3 off the boards even though he played backcourt. Mal McElwain (14.1 with the frosh) and Howie Hassen (4.2), who was not much of a scoring threat with the varsity last season, are fighting to play with Harris. Richie Baker, a 6-7 senior who has been inconsistent for two campaigns, is the logical center. He only averaged 4.9. Returnee Gary Petersmeyer (5.2) figures in the backcourt along with Don Griffin, who led the frosh to a 15-2 record with his 15.3 points per game.

ST. BONAVENTURE (Independent) — The Bonnies finally have their own gym on campus, a $3,500,000 complex, and Larry Weise would like nothing better than to come up with a top-notch record to go with the surroundings. And the goal could be realized since there was very little lost through graduation. Bill Butler (17.7), who is 6-3, and 6-5 George Carter (20.3) are solid performers up front. Paul Stappenbeck (11.9), a 6-8 senior, is the middle man, while Jim Satalin (12.5) has a new partner with him in backcourt. He is 6-5 John Hayes, who was 22.1 with the frosh. Hayes might alternate up front, too, because of his toughness off the boards and that would leave another soph, Mike Kull (13.3) or holdovers John McLeod and Frank Satalin for guard.

ST. FRANCIS, N.Y. (Metropolitan, Middle Eastern) — The Terriers have to bark louder than last year's 5-17 record even though two starters—6-4 forward Mark Turenshine (10.8) and 5-10 playmaker Jack Crispi (9.1) have graduated. Smiling Danny Lynch has one soph, 6-4 Granville Stith (20.0 with the frosh) up front with 6-6 John McMahon (10.4), while 6-8 Gil Radday (16.1) is in the pivot. Mike Mahoney (4-0) has to beat out two sophs, Tomm Cummings (15.1) and George Gillen (22.1), to start in the backcourt along with Al Fisher (14.2).

ST. FRANCIS, Pa. (Western Pennsylvania) — The Frankies have a new coach in John Clark and will be trying to rebound from last year's disastrous 9-16 record with two outstanding sophomores. John Penwell, who is 6-3, is going to be up front and he proved to be a scorer off his 25.6 average with the frosh. Norm Uanlier, a 6-1 playmaker, is the other man up from the frosh where he was 15.9. With him in backcourt will be 6-1 Bill Coyle, the only real scorer (12-point average) left from last winter. Jim Kuten and Sam Harris, both 6-7, are going to be at forward and center, respectively.

ST. JOHN'S (Independent) — Lou Carnesecca stepped into the role as successor to Joe Lapchik and played the part quite well, guiding the Redmen to an 18-8 record and a berth in the NIT despite a weak backcourt and one of the toughest schedules in the school's history. The glaring weakness figures to be plugged with the elevation of 6-1 Richie Jackson (17.9) and 6-0 Carmine Calzonetti (17.1) from the freshman team. Back for his final season is All-America Sonny Dove, a 6-7 forward who had a 21.2 scoring average and a 14.5 mark in rebounding. John Warren, 6-3, will play up front with Dove after an outstanding year with the young Redmen. He averaged 20 points. Carnesecca has his two guards from last year—Brian Hill (4.3) and Al Swarts (2-8)—as backup men and for the front court he is counting on 6-9 Dan Cornelius (15.7) from the frosh squad as his top reserve. Everything depends on how fast the sophs develop.

ST. JOSEPH'S (Middle Atlantic) — No question that the Hawks will miss Matt Goukas, who signed with the Philadelphia 76ers even though he had one year of eligibility remaining. However, Jack McKinney still has a good sprinkling of holdovers to go with some top soph prospects. Last year the Philly club was 24-5 in making the NCAA, which is getting to be something of a habit. The team also will miss little Billy Oakes (13.5), Marty Ford (11.0) and Tom Duff (14.8) from that squad but the post-season habit should not be broken. Not with 6-4 Cliff Anderson (17.9 and 409 rebounds) up front. Anderson probably will team up with the best freshman scorer last year, 6-4 Dave Pfahler (18.7). Gerry Dori, a 6-7 newcomer, and 6-5 veteran Al Grundy (2.3) figure to battle for the pivot job, while backcourt there are 6-0 Steve Donches (2.5), 5-11 Billy DeAngelis (1.6) and 6-0 soph Mike Barrett (13.3), who was the second-best scorer with the yearlings.

ST. LOUIS (Missouri Valley) — If 7-0 junior Richie Niemann (2.1 as a reserve) can match the graduated Rich Parks (18.6) in the pivot, the Billikens could have an enjoyable season. More enjoyable than last year's 16-10 as a matter of fact. The two forwards, both All-Conference picks, are back. Senior Bob Cole (14.0), only 6-2, and 6-7 junior Gene Moore (10.0) have the assignments. John Kilo (4.3) and Barry Orms (4.8) seem to have the inside track at guard. Sam Ulrich and Rick Rineberg, last year's starters, have graduated. Sophs Dan Suess and Tom Thomas also are in the picture backcourt.

SYRACUSE (Independent) — Fred Lewis is going to have his troubles this season. Coming off a 22-6 record, the Orange coach finds seven seniors graduated, three of them being starters. The top loss is All-America Dave Bing (28.4). Jim Boenheim (14.6) and Sam Penceal (3.2) are the other departed regulars. As if that were not enough, George Hicker (15.9), second to Bing in point production and the man Lewis wanted to rebuild his team around, broke his leg last spring. There are two pins in the limb and all indications are that Hicker is lost for the entire campaign. That leaves the probable starting lineup as 6-6 Rick Dean (12.1) and 6-4 Vaughn Harper (9.0) as the forwards, 6-9 Val Reid (3.2) in the middle and 5-10 Richie Cornwall (6.7) and 6-3 Steve Ludd (0.4) back. The first three are solid performers, Reid has never come through as expected and Ludd is untested. The only help from an average frosh squad seems to be 6-3 Bob Kouwe.

TAMPA (Florida Intercollegiate) — Dana Kirk is the new coach of the Spartans and he must rebuild a team that was 7-18 under Bob Lavoy. Chuck Sprietsma, a 6-4 soph who was 8.3 as a freshman on the varsity, 6-0 guard Vic Thixton (14.2) and 6-6 center Ron Stone (11.2) are the nucleus of the squad. Kirk figures to form the rest of the team from the incoming freshmen, who will be eligible for the varsity.

TEMPLE (Middle Atlantic) — Harry Litwack has two jobs in front of him—find replacements for 6-8 center Jim Williams (17.8) and 6-6 forward Ken Morgan (14.0), who helped the Owls gain last season's NIT and finish with a 21-7 record. Oddly enough, the cigar-smoking coach feels he can replace the pair of valuable starters. For Williams' berth he has a 6-8 soph in Eddie Mast, who was 14.1 with the young Owls, and Joe Hindelang (4.7), used mainly as a reserve, is going to get a crack at Morgan's position. Clarence Brookins (17.3), the No. 2 pointmaker, is the other man up front. Chris Kefalos (10.8), second-team All-Conference, and Mike Kehoe (7.7) return as playmakers. Two sophs look good and that is why Litwack is confident. Tony Brocchi (14.7), a 5-11 guard, and 6-5 Joe Kromer (14.6) figure to form the best part of the bench that also includes 6-5 Dick Davidson (3.3) and playmakers Jack McEntee (2.9) and Don Cartwright (2.2).

TENNESSEE (Southeastern) — Ron Widby (17.3), a 6-4 forward who was All-Conference, and Tom Hendrix (7.6), an inch taller who was named up front on the league's All-

Soph squad, head a talented group of Volunteers who will try to match last year's 18-8 record. Widby is a true candidate for All-America honors and also for "All-America Boy" laurels in that he punts on the football team, handles first base in baseball and also plays golf. Two youngsters from the frosh team, Bill Hann (13.3) and Bill Justus (14.8), are the playmakers. Tom Boerwinkle, who is 6-7 and who did not see much action last year, and 6-5 Hiwassee JC transfer Bob Ferguson figure to fight it out for the pivot job.

TENNESSEE TECH (Ohio Valley) — The Golden Eagles figured to be better than last year's 17-8 but then again nobody was counting on the broken back 6-9 Bill Carvell suffered in an auto accident. This year the big man is going to be a sophomore, 6-9 Ketchel Strauss, who was 15.2 while scoring from the pivot with the frosh. Two holdovers—6-4 Ron Filipek (17.0), who tied the school's single-game scoring record with 48 points, and 6-3 Henry Jordan (16.1)—are the forwards. Joe Hilson (11.1), the only other vet, and two sophs, 6-5 Frank Bartleson (15.3) and Jim Sutton (11.1), are fighting for the backcourt berths.

TEXAS (Southwest) — "A couple of breaks and we could be right in the thick of the conference race," claims Hal Bradley, whose Longhorns split 24 games last year. Two sophs who were held out last year, 6-6 Scotty Brown and 6-8 Mike Lochner, and veteran Gary Overbeck (4.9), who is 6-7, should form the Longhorn front line. The backcourt has plenty of competition among four vets, Dale Dotson (12.8), Mike Gammon (7.3), Billy Arnold (5.9) and Neel Stout (9.9). Bradley does not think the team will be as inexperienced as it appears and looks for the big men to come through pretty quickly.

TEXAS A. AND M. (Southwestern) — A shot putter can make or break the season for the Aggies. Yes, that's right, a shot putter. In this case he happens to be 6-6½ Randy Matson, holder of the world's record who did a great job off the boards while compiling an 8.2 scoring average to wind up as the conference's "sophomore of the year." If Randy decides to return for basketball, coach Shelby Metcalf feels the Aggies can give the other teams quite a run for the league title. And he has this outlook even though the school's greatest scorer ever, 6-9 John Beasley (27.8), has graduated. His place is being taken by 6-9 sophomore Ronnie Peret (15.7 as a frosh), while joining Matson up front is another veteran Terry Trippet (7.8). If Randy does not come back, then 6-5 Buzz Myatt (2.2) will go to work. Sonny Benefield (17.2) is a newcomer in the backcourt with veteran Dick Rector (9.1).

TEXAS SOUTHERN (South Western) — D. L. Whitney's Tigers figure to be just that in the conference as he has a host of veterans and a good crop of newcomers. The stand-out returnee from last season's 16-11 squad is 5-10 ball-handler Jim Allen (17.6), an All-Conference selection. Soph Ben Franklin is going to be with him. Jesse Thomas, a 6-8 freshman, is going to play center, while 6-7 Cal Martin (12.2) and 6-5 Dave Whatley (11.7) are the front men.

TEXAS WESTERN (Independent) — What can you do after winning the NCAA championship and posting a remarkable 28-1 record? Win again, right? That is the way Don Haskins feels, and while it might sound a bit cocky, there is reason for his attitude. It is true that 6-2 guard Orsten Artis (12.6) and 6-5 forward Harry Flournoy (8.3), who have started for the last three seasons when the Miners went 71-13, have graduated. The addition of 6-10 Phil Harris (23.4) and 5-9 Kenny John (20.1), both standouts with the frosh, could more than atone for the loss of the pair once the newcomers get a little experience. Meanwhile, do not feel sorry for Hoskins, who employed seven "starters" last campaign. The other five are back. That means 6-8 Nevil Shed (10.6) and 6-5 Willie Cager (6.6) as forwards, 6-7 Dave Lattin (14.0) in the pivot and Bobby Joe Hill (15.0), the No. 1 scorer, and Willie Worlsey (8.0) at the guards.

TOLEDO (Mid-American) — The Rockets lost plenty of height and scoring when 6-8 Bob Aston (18.3) and 6-5 Jim Cox (16.3) graduated from last year's team that went 13-11. Little wonder then that Bob Nichols has some doubts about what will happen this season. Sophomore Steve Mix (16.3), who goes 6-5, is stepping into Cox, spot up front while 6-7 holdover Len LaPla (4.0), who saw very little action last winter, takes over at center. The other forward is Bill Backensto (15.0) although soph Jim Hayes (10.0) has a crack at the job. Bill Babione (8.1) is back as a playmaker and his partner will be another newcomer, John Rudley (13.0).

TUFTS (Independent) — The Jumbos went 11-8 last year, the first winning record in 11, and George Grimshaw looks for more of the same since only 6-4 Bill Lewis (10.1) has graduated. Veterans will be handling all of the starting assignments with Art Marquardt (8.1) and Ron McRobbie (18.3) up front, 6-6 Jim Claffee (21.2) in the middle and Ken Nieman (9.2) and Sid Osofsky (5.4) as guards. Reserve strength lies in the back court since veterans John Campbell (5.7) and Pete Scully (4.2) are joined by soph Mal Kiniry, who averaged over 20 points while captaining the frosh squad last winter. Bill Munn, who is 6-3, and Bill Luongo, an inch shorter, are being counted on to spell the front court performers. Both were in double figures with the yearlings.

TULANE (Independent) — Four members of last year's team that went 9-16 have graduated but they will not be missed since their combined scoring average was less than eight points. Little wonder then that Ralph Pedersen is looking forward to six sophomores from a freshman team that went 19-0. Two of them are going to start. Terry Habig (17.8) and Johnny Arthurs (18.8) are going to be at guard and forward, respectively. Dan Moeser (12.3) is the other man up front, while 6-5 Mitch Urbanski (9.8) is going to get the nod over Craig Spitzer (11.3), a seven-footer, in the pivot. However, Spitzer is very close to the starting assignment. Al Andrews (18.9), last year's top scorer, is going to be Habig's partner in backcourt. The other four sophs figure to form what could develop into a strong bench. Bob Spurck (13.0), who is 6-4, Rick Carlson (11.8), an inch taller, are ready to fill in up front while as guards there are Bill Fitzgerald (10.4) and Joel Miller (12.8).

UCLA (AAWU) — The Bruins have Lew Alcindor. Say no more. The 7-1½ New York City product, the most talked about basketball player since Wilt Chamberlain, averaged 33.1 points with the freshmen and now puts John Wooden's varsity in an advantageous spot to win the NCAA championship for the next three years. The coach may not come out as bluntly as all that but everybody feels that way. Sure the backcourt of Kenny Washington (13.1) and Fred Goss (13.1) is gone but Mike Warren (16.6), All-Conference second team, and soph Lucius Allen (22.4) are more than adequate replacements. Edgar Lacey (13.6) and Mike Lynn (16.8), All-Conference, 6-6 and 6-7, respectively, are up front. And backing them up is 6-5 soph Lynn Shackelford (20.9). The Bruins won the conference title four straight years before yielding it to Oregon State last winter. But Big Lew is here and the trophy will return to Los Angeles once again.

U. of the PACIFIC (West Coast AC) — The Tigers make no bones about it — this will be the greatest team in the school's history. Coach Dick Edwards has six of the seven top performers back from a squad that went 22-6 overall and 13-1 in the conference. Bob Krulish (17.8) and Ron Selim (3.6), both 6-6, are up front, while 6-7 Keith Swagerty (21.9), the No. 3 rebounder in the country (18.3), is at center. He was All-Conference and the No. 1 scorer and rebounder in the league. Dave Fox (12.6) and Bruce Parsons (7.0) are going to be the ballhandlers. Talk about a bench, Edwards has it in four sophs—two 6-5 forwards, Pat Foley (13.9) and Bob Jones (20.3), 6-9 center Tom Jones (8.3) and 6-4 guard Bob Dewitt (19.8). Little wonder Pacific is so enthusiastic.

UTAH (Western Athletic) — Jack Gardner is not counting on getting the Utes into the NCAA semi-finals as he did last year when the squad went 23-8. And with reason. Three of them, as a matter of fact, because that is how many starters he lost. Now departed are 6-4 All-America Jerry Chambers (27.8), 6-7 George Fisher (13.8) and Richard Tate (12.0), a 5-11 playmaker. However, Gardner has veterans in most of the spots. Lyndon MacKay (10.0), who is 6-6, and Ron Cunningham (3.0), an inch taller, are going to play up front. Jeff Ockel (9.5), a 6-7 junior who did quite well in his first varsity campaign, is going to fill the center spot, while Mervin Jackson (10.0) and Gene Lake (5.0) or newcomer George Theodore are going to be the quarterbacks. For front-line reserves there are two good sophomore prospects, 6-6 Steve Cotterell and 6-7 Tony Robertson.

UTAH STATE (Independent) — The Aggies think they can bounce back from a 12-14 record to become contenders for national honors. And all because of two junior college transfers, both from Riverside City College. The first is a first at the school. He is seven-foot Larry Bunce (21.0 at Riverside), the tallest player in the Aggies' history. He will be in the pivot while Fred Smith (18.2), his teammate at Riverside, is going to play backcourt with Hal Hale (9.0). Les Powell (10.1) and Tom Stewart (6.4) are the front men although 6-5 soph Fred Hoffman (23.3) is in the picture. To give an idea of how strong LaDell Anderson feels he will be, 6-8 Alan Parrish (10.9), who handled the center spot, is going to be a reserve this time.

VANDERBILT (Southeastern) — All-America Clyde Lee, the 6-9 center who averaged 22.8 last season, is going to be hard to replace, let alone three others who were good for a combined 32 points per outing. So Roy Skinner looks for something less than last year's 22-3. Only two spots are filled—6-4 Bo Wyenandt (12.4) up front and 6-2 Jerry Southwood (7.9) in backcourt. Ron Knox (1.2), a 6-7 senior, and 6-8 soph Bob Bundy (13.6 as a frosh) are battling for the pivot with the newcomer having an edge. A pair of sophs, 6-7 Bill LeFavor (8.8) and 6-5 Hal Bartch (7.9) are after the other job at forward along with vets Ken Gibbs (3.6), who is 6-7, and 6-5 Gene Lockyear (2.0). Almost the same picture can be seen in backcourt as newcomers Jay Popp (10.4) and Tom Hagan (17.4) try to stop holdovers Dave Boswell (1.1) and Bob Warren (2.7).

VERMONT (Yankee) — What does he do for an encore? He, in this case, is Artie Loche, who posted a 12-8 record in his first season with the Catamounts. Trying to come close to that this time will be mighty tough since the top three scorers, Ken Spalter (17.1), Milt Goggans (15.3) and Layne Higgs (14.5) have graduated. Veterans are going to hold down the front line with 6-3 Bill Libera (11.2) and 6-0 Bruce Hanna (5.3) at forward and 6-5 Russ Boardman (7.2) at center. Two sophs, 6-3 Dave Lapointe (22.9 with the frosh) and 5-10 Terry O'Leary (13.3) are being counted on to replace Spalter and Higgs as guards. The inexperience and the fact that 10 of the first 11 games are on the road, are the things that Loche must overcome.

VILLANOVA (Independent) — The Wildcats made it to the NIT and finished with an 18-11 record thanks to the deadly outside shooting of Bill Melchionni (27.6). Even though he has graduated, as has 6-5 forward Bernie Schaffer (10.3), coach Jack Kraft expects to be strong again. One reason is that the Main Liners do not figure to drop seven of their first 11 games once again. Another is a good crop of sophs. Still a third is the fact that guard Pete Coleman (8.3) will be eligible for a full season. Frank Gillen (9.6), up from the frosh, is going to be Coleman's partner. Jim McIntosh (8.5), a 6-7 soph, or 6-9 veteran Frank Gaidjunas (8.9) are the contenders for the pivot slot. Joe Crews (10.7), who finished fast, and another player up from the frosh, 6-3 John Jones (25.3 with the young 'Cats), are going to be up front. The potential is there and Kraft figures he will develop it quickly.

VIRGINIA (Atlantic Coast) — The Cavaliers have set a goal for themselves this winter—first division in the strong conference. Coming off a 7-14 campaign, it might sound like too tough a target. However, Bill Gibson only lost 6-4 Jerry Sanders (9.5) through graduation and gained several outstanding newcomers to go along with his veterans. Two of the new men are going to get starting assignments. John Quinn, a junior college All-America from Ferrum (Va.) J.C. where he averaged 26 points, is one of the guards. Chip Case, who is 6-4 and who had a 20-point mark with the freshman, is going to play alongside Quinn. Jim Connelly (20.5), fifth-leading scorer in the ACC, and Mike Katos (15.2), an inch taller at 6-4, return up front. Center is up for grabs between Buddy Reams (9.6) or 6-9 John Naponick (7.4), although they are being pressed by two sophs, 6-9½ Norm Carmichael (8.9 with the frosh) and 6-7 John Gidding (12.5).

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE (Southern) — Gary McPherson is starting his third year as head man of the Keydets and it looks like it is going to be his toughest. Four starters from last season's 5-18 performance are gone, including Helms All-America Charlie Schmaus, who averaged 26 points an outing. Only playmaker John Kemper (10.2) is back, thus leaving sophomores to battle some of last year's reserves for the other spots. Bob Ayers (6.5), a 6-6 senior, and two sophs, 6-5 Denny Clark and 6-3 Ralph Wright, are in the picture up front. Steve Powers, another 6-6 senior who only was 2.1, and John Gupton (1.5) are fighting for the pivot job. John Mitchell, a 5-11 newcomer who was 24.1 with the frosh, seems to be set alongside Kemper.

VIRGINIA TECH (Independent) — It only took Howie Shannon two seasons to produce a team capable of making the NIT. And now that the Gobblers have a taste of post-season action, they want more. Since John Wetzel, the team's top scorer (18.5) and rebounder (8.8) is the only loss via graduation, the chances are good. Four double-figure scorers are back—6-11 Bob King (14.5), 6-5 Ted Ware (14.6), 6-3 Ron Perry (11.0) and 6-2 Glen Combs (10.9). Up from the freshman squad are 6-4 Chris Ellis (17.0), 6-6 Ron Wagner (17.4) and 6-6 Ken Talley (14.7). The Wetzel tradition, which helped compile a 19-5 record last winter, will be continued since a younger brother, Dan, a 6-8 redshirt who was 15.0 with the yearlings two seasons ago, joins the club. Shannon feels the early going will be rough, especially under the boards.

WAGNER (Metropolitan, Middle Atlantic, Tri-State) — The Seahawks lost some scoring punch with the graduation of George Blois (12.2) but they have gained some height and should top last year's 14-12. Bill Wolfe is the only one of the promising crop of sophs who will break into the starting five. He is going to be back court with Arnold Obey (13.6) while 6-5 Dick Fiege (15.2) is in the pivot. Tom Billis (6.2) and Russ Selger (17.4), both 6-4, are up front. Joe Hannon and Fred Hoogland are good-looking newcomers at forward and 6-5 Oliver Featherston can back up Fiege.

WAKE FOREST (Atlantic Coast) — Jack McCloskey has his work cut out for him in his first year at the helm of the Deacons. Bob Leonard, high-scoring guard (23.2) who graduated from last season's 8-18 squad, is going to be replaced by soph Jerry Montgomery (21.1). Vets fill the other spots but the bench is going to be too weak to make the Deacons a contender. Jim Boshart (12.6) and Paul Crinkley (3.7) are up front, while 6-6 Dave Stroupe (6.9) is in the pivot. Paul Long, No. 2 scorer in the conference last season with a 24-point average, is the other backcourt man.

WASHINGTON (AAWU) — Only one starter, playmaker Steve Olsen (10.8) has graduated from last year's 10-15 team so Mac Duckworth has reason to predict a considerably stronger team. And the one vacancy is being filled by a "red shirt," Jim Hermann (6.4 two seasons ago), who was injured last winter. Doug Westlake (8.8) is going to be his partner, while in the middle will be 6-11 Gordy Harris (17.4), second-team All-Conference. Dave Hode (10.4), a 6-6 senior who received the same honor, and 6-3 Dave Carr (7.5) are going to be up front. The backcourt is very strong with holdovers Lance Brigam (2.9) and Bob Fahrenstock (1.9) available in addition to newcomer Gary Ostenson (19.1 as a frosh). Jack Burns, a 6-7 soph (11.6), is available behind Harris.

WASHINGTON AND LEE (College Athletic Conference) — The Generals are on the march again. Two seasons ago they were 2-17, last year they were 10-15 and this campaign should produce a winner. Verne Canfield's recruiting is the big reason. This winter he will have Jody Kline (8.7), a sophomore, at one of the guard positions while John Carrere (9.4) is the other. Earl Edwards (5.3), a 6-5 soph who did well with the varsity as a frosh, is the center, while 6-2 Mel Cartwright, who averaged 16 points in high school, is moving into a starting berth up front right away. Bob Bauer (15.5), second-team All State, and Frank Morrison (12.6) are fighting for the other berth.

WASHINGTON STATE (AAWU) — Second only to UCLA on the Pacific Coast. That is the prediction of Marv Harshman, who has three veterans and two sophs ready to blend together and make him look good. Graduated from last winter's 15-10 squad are forward Dennis Klope (13.8), but the Cougars gain 6-8 soph Ted Wierman (22.8) in his place to go with Randy Stoll (13.9 two seasons ago). Jim McKean (16.9), a 6-9 junior who led the conference in rebounding as a soph, is back in the pivot, while Lenny Allen (14.1), another soph, takes over for the graduated Tom Tømmervik (13.0). He operates with Ray Stein (11.2).

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY OF ST. LOUIS (College Athletic Conference) — The Battling Bears will be just that following last season's 10-12 record. Coach Bob Greenwood only lost one starter, 6-6 center George Kramer (12.9) so he feels that the experience and bench will go a long way this winter. Mark Edwards, a 6-7 sophomore, is moving into Kramer's spot. Jim Markert (9.5) and Denny Lutz (12.5) are back as forwards while the top scorer, George Spencer (17.1), and 6-3 John Herzing (10.7) remain in the backcourt.

WESLEYAN (Little Three) — The Cardinals, 9-9 last year, do not figure to match that this winter since 6-4 John Werle (25.6 scoring average) and 6-1 Dick Stabnick (12.4) have graduated. The scoring punch now lies with two juniors, 6-6 forward Steve Beik and 5-11 guard Bruce Mayer, who were 7.9 and 8.3, respectively, as sophs. Height also is going to be a drawback to coach John Wood, who must go with 6-3 Pete LaPuc (3.4) as the other forward and 6-3 John Rainey (1.6) at center. Bob Ryan (2.4) is going to be the other playmaker. Wood is hoping to come up with some help from the freshman team that was 15-2.

WESTERN KENTUCKY (Ohio Valley) — John Oldham hopes the Hilltoppers do not sit back and relax following last season's 25-3 record, which included a trip to the NCAA tournament. Winners of the conference title, Oldham's boys could be better this time even though the final record might not prove it. Only 6-5 center Steve Cunningham (15.1) has graduated and Greg Smith, an inch taller and an All-Conference forward with a 9.5 scoring average, is being shifted to the pivot. Clem Haskins (20.4), the league's player of the year in addition to several other honors, and Wayne Chapman (13.3), who made the NCAA regional All-Tourney team after being named MVP in the league's own classic, are up front. Playmakers are Dwight Smith (16.1), picked for the Vanderbilt Holiday Tournament All-Star squad in addition to the similar team in the conference's tourney, and Richie Hendrick (26.1 with the frosh), a top-notch soph prospect.

WESTERN MICHIGAN (Mid-American) — There is a new look among the Broncos this year. Sonny Means is in his first season as head coach and he inherits all underclassmen from a team that went 8-14. On top of that . . . and probably the best of the new lookers . . . WMU now has 6-6 center Gene Ford eligible once again. The Crane Tech transfer, who will jump at center, regained his eligibility after missing his sophomore season. Add to this the fact that 6-3 Ron Kidney, a transfer from Grand Rapids Junior College where he won the National Junior College Athletic Association scoring championship two successive seasons, will be in the backcourt with 6-1 Phil White (6.2). A pair of 6-5 juniors, Reggie Lacefield (18.3), All-Conference second team, and Tom Cook (7.7), are up front.

WEST TEXAS STATE (Independent) — The way Jimmy Viaramontes sees it the Buffaloes are a year away from being a winner. Three veterans return from last year's 6-17 squad. Mickey Fitts (16.1), the top scorer, is going to play up front with newcomer Gary Sikes (13.8 with the frosh). Vern Furlow (10.9), a 6-8 junior, moves into the pivot to replace the graduated Cal Taylor (8.3), who was the No. 1 man off the boards. Mike Mitchell (22.3), a good scorer with the frosh, joins Rod Teague (7.9) in handling the ball. Viaramontes hopes to get some help from a pair of transfers, 6-6 John Sharpe, who will not be eligible until mid-season, and 6-5 Darreth Welch.

WEST VIRGINIA (Southern) — The starters are back but the reserves have graduated. And Bucky Walters is singing the blues because he feels the bench had a great deal to do with the 19-9 record. Ron Williams (19.7) who made the NCAA district team and who was MVP in the Milwaukee Classic, is going to start in the backcourt once again with the lone soph to crack the lineup, Wayne Grimm, who was 22.2 with the frosh. Carl Head (13.9) and Dave Reaser (7.0) are up front and 6-8 Bob Benfield (5.9) is in the pivot.

WICHITA STATE (Missouri Valley) — The Shockers lost their backcourt, Kelly Pete (16.5) and John Criss (6.7) from a squad that was 17-10. As a result, coach Gary Thompson figures it will be a while before soph Ron Mendell can become a "take charge guy" and operate with holdover Lillard Harris (9.2). Height is going to be another problem with only 6-5 center Melvin Reed (13.3) as the big man. Warren Armstrong (16.5) proved himself to be more than adequate in his first varsity season and he will be playing with Jamie Thompson (22.04), leading scorer in the tough MVC. Jack Matthews, a 6-5 soph transfer from Oregon, should help once he gets a few games under his belt.

WILLIAM AND MARY (Southern) — The Indians, as predicted, finished third in the conference but the final overall record of 13-12 was a big disappointment to coach Bill Chambers. And things do not figure to be much easier this campaign since three starters from the last three seasons—Walt Wenk (10.5), Tim Walter (9.8) and Larry Paffrath (8.0)—have received their sheepskins. All-Conference forward Ben Pomeroy (17.1 and top rebounder with 12.5) leads the holdovers. Jim Rama (8.9), also 6-6, is the other front man, while in the backcourt will be a pair of 6-2s, Dave Walker (6.7) and Ron Panneton (11.8). However, they will get a lot of fight from soph Jack Downing, who was 19.0 with the frosh. Another sophomore, 6-8 Dave Daugherty (17.1 with the yearlings), is being counted on to fill the pivot. If he comes through against the tough conference teams, Chambers might get a pleasant surprise.

WISCONSIN (Big Ten) — The Badgers have the best crop of sophomores in recent years so it seems apparent that last season's 11-13 record is going to be bettered. Seven newcomers figure in John Erickson's plans. Jim Johnson (23.8), who is 6-6, 6-2 Keith Burington (22.0) and 6-5 Chuck Nagle (22.1) are fighting 6-5 veteran Joe Franklin (11.8) for the front-court assignments. Two other newcomers, 7-1 Eino Hendrickson (14.6) and 6-8½ Ted Voigt (13.5), are battling in the pivot, while Tom Mitchell (14.4) goes after a spot in the backcourt. Holdover Mike Carlin (10.7) returns for the other. The first division, something Wisconsin has not seen in five seasons, is the goal.

WITTENBERG (Ohio) — The Tigers were 12-11 overall and 7-7 in their conference last year but Eldon Miller expects to better that this time. As a matter of fact, the coach feels the team is going to be stronger in every department. There is every reason why he should feel that way since only Bob Logan (10.1) has graduated. Two members of the junior varsity team, Don Corfman (14.4 with the JVs) and Levi Wingard (10.7) are going to be up front. Both also saw limited action with the varsity last winter. Phil Goers (5.2), a 6-6 senior, is in the pivot, while Jim Osborne (6.8) and Jim Appleby (8.4) are back court. Stan Starkey (14.8 with the JV and 5.4 with the varsity) is battling Appleby. Mike Duermit (12.4), who is 6-4, and 6-6 Jack Readey (7.6) are the top reserves up front, while for the guard spot there is Terry Harvey, who was 11.2 with the jayvees.

WYOMING (Western Athletic Conference) — The Cowboys only have four holdovers remaining from a 17-9 squad so Bill Strannigan has resigned himself to a rebuilding program. The loss of 6-6 center Leon Clark (22.4) and 6-4 forward Dick Sherman (21.4) means 43 less points. The way things shape up, four lettermen are going to start—6-5 Tom Asbury (7.0) and 6-3 Cliff Nelson (2.6), a converted guard, up front, 6-6 Ken Collins (5.0) in the center and 6-0 Mike Eberle (13.8) in backcourt. Top soph is Harry Hall, a good pointmaker with the frosh as evidenced by his 24.5 average. Another new man, Bob Wilson (16.1), also should help backcourt.

YALE (Ivy)—The Bulldogs have a veteran squad that should provide somewhat of a bite in Ivy League circles. Seniors 6-4 Rick Johnson and 5-11 Howie Dale are back for their final seasons. Five Juniors, who have played together since their unbeaten freshmen season, provide the squad with a solid nucleus. They are: 6-4 Ed Goldstone; 6-4 Neil Piller; 6-1 Rick Stoner; 6-0 Bob McCallum and 6-0 Frank Wisneski. One sophomore who should help is 6-2 Brian Dowling who led the frosh with a 24.5 average.

YOUNGSTOWN (Independent) — Dom Rosselli expects the Penguins to match last season's 19-7 even though Dave Culliver (19.5), the top pointmaker, has graduated. Veterans have been given the starting assignments although some freshman, who are being used for the last time this season, could knock the guards out of action. Up front will be 6-5 Frank Fitz (9.1) and 6-7 Charlie Rowan (6.8). Joe LaVolpa, also 6-7 who grabbed 247 rebounds in addition to averaging 9.0 points, goes back into the pivot. John McElroy (8.8) and Joe Nigro (15.1), a very smart playmaker, are in the backcourt.

SPY PEN

FOR REAL UNDERCOVER OPERATORS

You can now keep constant check on anything that happens all around you, regardless of walls, floors, or ceilings. SPY-PEN penetrates solid barriers, makes any wall an open door. Yes, it even lets you look DOWN into rooms beneath you. We will let your own imagination trigger all the possible uses SPY-PEN has for you.

A PRECISION INSTRUMENT

SPY-PEN was developed by the German Secret Service during World War II and is being used by Interpol Agents today. Now an even more precise and improved model is being offered the public by the man from U.N.C.L.E. SPY-PEN has three precision ground optical quality lenses, not just two like competitive models, to afford an extreme wide angle field that lets you even see objects standing by the very wall through which you are observing.

PHOTOGRAPH THROUGH WALLS

SPY-PEN lenses have such sharp delineation that you can photograph right through it, sharply recording everything in the viewed area, all four walls, floor, and ceiling. Nothing escapes SPY-PEN.

BUILT-IN SECRET DRILL

Included in the SPY-PEN's case is a secret drill that will attach to half the case and allow you to drill holes un-noticed even by people standing by the wall being penetrated. SPY-PEN needs only the smallest peep hole to put an entire room under surveillance.

CONVERTS TO POWERFUL TELESCOPE

Only SPY-PEN lets you close in telescopically on any item of interest. No other device has both these features, wide angle secret vision and close-up inspection.

CLIPS TO YOUR POCKET

SPY-PEN looks like an ordinary fountain pen in your pocket. Even if seen it will not be suspected as the incredible instrument with such amazing powers of penetration.

BASKETBALL FANS!

NOW - YOU can COACH PRO BASKETBALL AT HOME

ALL NINE PRO TEAMS COME ALIVE ON YOUR TABLETOP
WITH PTG's SENSATIONAL NEW BASKETBALL GAME.

LOOK WHAT PTG offers YOU . . .

The PTG BASKETBALL GAME brings ACTION to YOUR tabletop, not only the stars, but ALL the players perform for YOU with breathtaking realism and exacting statistical accuracy. Imagine coaching YOUR favorite Pro Basketball team into the playoffs... maybe all the way to the top!

EVERY DECISION—EVERY THRILL IS YOURS!

Yes, here is YOUR chance to Coach Pro Basketball at its finest. YOU pick the starting line-ups.... YOU decide when to substitute... YOU make the crucial defensive assignments. AND, on Offense or Defense, every man on YOUR squad responds with TRUE-TO-LIFE performance in every phase of his basketball ability: Shooting, Assists, Rebounding, Defense, and even Personal Fouls!

REALISTIC RESULTS WITH PTG

Each player will perform for YOU like he does for his real life team. Wilt Chamberlain will lead YOUR scorers; Oscar Robertson will pace YOUR playmakers. On defense, K. C. Jones will star, and Bill Russell will top all others in rebounding. But, best of all, YOU coach them all!

BASKETBALL FANS!

NOW - YOU can COACH PRO BASKETBALL AT HOME

ALL NINE PRO TEAMS COME ALIVE ON YOUR TABLETOP
WITH PTG's SENSATIONAL NEW BASKETBALL GAME.

LOOK WHAT PTG offers YOU . . .

The PTG BASKETBALL GAME brings ACTION to YOUR tabletop, not only the stars, but ALL the players perform for YOU with breathtaking realism and exacting statistical accuracy. Imagine coaching YOUR favorite Pro Basketball team into the playoffs... maybe all the way to the top!

EVERY DECISION—EVERY THRILL IS YOURS!

Yes, here is YOUR chance to Coach Pro Basketball at its finest. YOU pick the starting line-ups.... YOU decide when to substitute... YOU make the crucial defensive assignments. AND, on Offense or Defense, every man on YOUR squad responds with TRUE-TO-LIFE performance in every phase of his basketball ability: Shooting, Assists, Rebounding, Defense, and even Personal Fouls!

REALISTIC RESULTS WITH PTG

Each player will perform for YOU like he does for his real life team. Wilt Chamberlain will lead YOUR scorers; Oscar Robertson will pace YOUR playmakers. On defense, K. C. Jones will star, and Bill Russell will top all others in rebounding. But, best of all, YOU coach them all!

In James Bond Tradition:

Super-Spy Lets You 'See Through' Walls, Fences and Locked Doors!

Secret of Private Detectives and Industrial Spies Revealed!

A remarkable optical device about half the size of a cigarette now makes it possible for you to see—without being seen. Your children, for example, can play in the "privacy" of an adjoining room—unaware that you can see everything they do!

Operation of the tiny device is silent, almost impossible to detect. The eye-piece is not much bigger than the head of a pin.

If you drilled an ordinary hole that size through a wall, fence or door, you could see very little. But Super-Spy's unique optical principle, called "X-Pand," multiplies your field of vision over 42½ times, by actual test! With "X-Pand," almost no detail of a room can escape your Super-Spy sight! That gives you some idea of Super-Spy's powers! But the real surprise is the price: three dollars!

Unlimited Uses:

Super-Spy's uses are unlimited. With Super-Spy, you can keep an eye on the kids while they take their naps, even if the door to their room is closed!

With Super-Spy installed you can observe beyond walls in your home, office or factory—while you remain invisible!

Professional Uses:

Private and hotel detectives. Insurance investigators. Undercover agents. Security guards. Photographers.

Store owners—watch shoplifting suspects. Employers—get eye-witness proof of loafing or theft. Hospital staff—watch restless patients without disturbing them. Housewives—see a salesman or stranger at the door—while you stay safely hidden!

You can even take pictures through its low-distortion lens!

Important and Profitable

What will you do with Super-Spy? If it's important, in your home, for you to know what people do when they don't know they're being watched (and there's no invasion of privacy)—get Super-Spy!

Order spares for sudden or unexpected opportunities to observe—without being observed!

Order extras for trusted friends: they might be glad to pay you a handsome profit.

Perfect in Germany

Super-Spy was perfected in Germany. Limited quantities are now available to the public through a special division (Detection Appliances) of a reputable mail order firm. The parent firm's total sales throughout U.S. are over $1,000,000. The owner has been a respected local businessman for 19 years.

5-Year Service Guarantee

Super-Spy is sold with this 5-year guarantee: If it fails to work due to any defect in material or workmanship, you can return it as directed and pay ONLY the postage. Without any charge, D.A. will either repair or replace it—or refund the purchase price.

All Rights Reserved

D.A. specifically reserves the right to refuse orders without explanation or liability, except for prompt return of payment.

Don Bolander says: "Now you can learn to speak and write like a college graduate."

Is Your English Holding You Back?

"Do you avoid the use of certain words even though you know perfectly well what they mean? Have you ever been embarrassed because you pronounced a word incorrectly? Are you sometimes unsure of yourself in a conversation with new acquaintances? Do you have difficulty writing a good letter or putting your true thoughts down on paper?"

"If so, then you're a victim of crippled English," says Don Bolander, Director of Career Institute. "Crippled English is a handicap suffered by countless numbers of intelligent, adult men and women. Quite often they are held back in their jobs and their social lives because of their English. And yet, for one reason or another, it is impossible for these people to go back to school."

Is there any way, without going back to school, to overcome this handicap? Don Bolander says, "Yes!" With degrees from the University of Chicago and Northwestern University, Bolander is an authority on adult education. During the past eight years he has helped thousands of men and women stop making mistakes in English, increase their vocabularies, improve their writing, and become interesting conversationalists right in their own homes.

BOLANDER TELLS HOW IT CAN BE DONE

During a recent interview, Bolander said, "You don't have to go back to school in order to speak and write like a college graduate. You can gain the ability quickly and easily in the privacy of your own home through the Career Institute Method." In his answers to the following questions, Bolander tells how it can be done.

Question: What is so important about a person's ability to speak and write?

Answer: People judge you by the way you speak and write. Poor English weakens your self-confidence—handicaps you in your dealings with other people. Good English is absolutely necessary for getting ahead in business and social life. You can't express your ideas fully or reveal your true personality without a sure command of good English.

Question: What do you mean by a "command of good English"?

Answer: A command of good English means you can express yourself clearly and easily without fear of embarrassment or making mistakes. It means you can write well, carry on a good conversation—also read rapidly and remember what you read. Good English can help you throw off self-doubts that may be holding you back.

Question: Are there other advantages to be gained by acquiring a command of good English?

Answer: Yes! Words are actually "tools of thought." The more you learn about words and how to use them to form and express your ideas, the better your thinking becomes. For this reason a command of good English often pays off in unexpected ways.

Question: Wouldn't I have to go back to school to gain a command of good English?

Answer: No, not anymore. You can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate right in your own home—in only a few minutes each day.

Question: Is this something new?

Answer: Career Institute of Chicago has been helping people for many years. The Career Institute Method quickly shows you how to stop making embarrassing mistakes, enlarge your vocabulary, develop your writing ability, discover the "secrets" of interesting conversation.

Question: How do I know it works?

Answer: There are thousands of letters in my files, testimonials from people in all walks of life who have used the proved Career Institute Method to achieve amazing results. If you send in the coupon below, I will share some of these letters with you.

Question: Who are some of these people?

Answer: The Career Institute Method is used by men and women of all ages. Some have attended college, others high school, and others only grade school. The method has helped business men and women, homemakers, industrial workers, clerks, secretaries... almost anyone you can think of.

Question: How long will it take me to learn to speak and write like a college graduate, using your method?

Answer: Some people take only a few weeks to gain a command of good English. Others take longer. It is up to you to set your own pace. In as little time as 15 minutes a day, you will see quick results.

Question: How can I find out more about the Career Institute Method?

Answer: I will gladly mail you a free 32-page booklet which explains the new easy-to-follow Career Institute Method and tells you how you can gain a command of good English quickly and enjoyably at home.
